INTRODUCTION

WE HAVE but one object in view in publishing CANCER TRUTHS, and that is, that by the recording of the facts we have learned, we may be able to bring the hope of relief and final recovery to many who are now suffering in body and mind.

The mission, therefore, of this book is one of mercy. Its message is directed particularly to those people who are perfectly aware that they have Cancer, as well as to those who fear they have, but are uncertain, and are, as a consequence of this uncertainty, suffering the tortures of mind no one can describe who has not been similarly afflicted.

And so we would say here, at the very beginning, that no matter what you may think about Cancer it can be cured, if taken in time. And we want to devote this book and its message to prove the assertion, so that we may, if possible, persuade the person who knows he has Cancer, and the person who fears, but is uncertain, to take the matter in hand in time.

In time—how we wish we could make these words mean to you what we know they should mean to you. If we could only burn them deep into the mind and conscience of everyone afflicted or threatened with Cancer, how much more good we might be able to do in this world.

In time—two words that might well be the theme of a series of sermons on Cancer. In time—how many people have gone to untimely graves because they delayed until it was too late!

This is the sad side which too often confronts us—but it is not the side that we want to dwell upon exclusively. We want to present the hopeful side, also. For there is hope, established on a firm foundation.

When we first began specializing on cancer, physicians, almost to the man, claimed it to be an incurable disease. From the first, we contended it is curable. We have lived to see this opinion confirmed by practically all well-informed physicians. They now tell you it is a curable disease, if proper treatment and skill are employed in time.

It is now twenty-five years since we decided to devote our entire time and attention to the special study and treatment of Cancer. At first we were compelled to grope in the dark, with but little definite information to guide us, because at that time no one knew very much definitely about Cancer. For that reason we failed to cure many cases that came to us for treatment. The same kind of cases applying to us now yield readily to our treatment, due, in great measure, to the knowledge we have gained in the intervening years and the improved methods we have developed.

CANCER TRUTHS

Therefore, we have confidence in ourselves and in our methods, and we are able to inspire confidence in our patients, by furnishing the evidence that we have cured many cases similar to theirs.

We have gained this knowledge because we have devoted our entire time and energies to the study of Cancer, in all its various phases, and because we have been fortunate in having thousands of patients come to us for treatment, giving us the opportunity of a wide range of study and research.

We attribute our ability to the fact that during all these years we have, as we said before, confined our practice and study entirely to the treatment of this one disease, and have made a careful and searching study of every case treated. So that now when a patient applies to us for examination or treatment, we are able to classify the case in a class with many that we have treated successfully, and can follow a similar line of treatment, varying the treatment, of course, according to the indications, and with improved technique we are able to treat the case from day to day to a successful end.

We have also been asked why, being regular physicians, we happened to select the medicinal or non-surgical treatment of Cancer. We answer that by saying: "When we were students in medical college, and attended the clinics in three of the largest cities in the country, where the clinical facilities at the various city hospitals were equal to any in the world, we were profoundly impressed with the appearance of utter hopelessness of the professors or surgeons in charge of the clinic whenever a Cancer case was presented for treatment. They would appear bewildered for a time, as if lost in deep study, their faces the picture of doubt and perplexity, as they seemed to be groping in space for something that would bring about the desired relief. But invariably they would turn to the class with the remark: 'This is a case of malignancy; I am sorry to say it, but our profession has little to offer. The only thing we can do is to cut it out; maybe that will help. With the consent of the patient we will try; we can promise nothing.' "

Sometimes the consent was obtained, even with no promise of relief. The futility of it all impressed us, and we made a special effort to follow up the result of these operations to see if surgery really offered no hope, for we had at one time entertained ambitions to become great surgeons.

We were greatly disappointed in finding that in many cases the attempt at relief had not only failed to cure, but that the disease returned in a few months in an aggravated form, and that then the patient was in a worse condition, if possible, than if no treatment whatever had been given.

During the years that we have been specializing in Cancer, this experience has been multiplied many, many times over, by the hundreds of cases that have come under our observation, where one, two and three operations have been performed in a vain attempt to cure the malady.

An ideal was shattered, and we then and there decided that when we finished our college course, secured our diplomas and license to practice, we would devote our efforts toward the finding of some treatment that would cure such cases, and not be compelled to advise an operation when cases of Cancer came to us in the course of our practice.

How well we have succeeded is best answered by the hundreds of people who are alive and well today as a result of this firm determination of physicians who were not satisfied with conditions as they found them.

While it is true that we have not been successful in curing all cases that have applied to us for treatment, we are, however, curing a larger per cent. than ever before, and we are gaining new knowledge every day.

Our improved facilities for caring for such cases; the more searching examination made as to the patient's general health; the more scientific selection of the indicated remedies; the special attention given to elimination and to building up the general health; the systematic and periodical examination of the blood, urine, etc., have been the means which have enabled us to cure the more difficult cases, to increase the percentage of cures and to decrease the percentage of failures.

Were it possible for us to bring such evidence as we have in our possession to the attention of all Cancer sufferers, and they would heed the information and advice in time, the percentage of deaths from Cancer would be still further greatly reduced.

Let us, therefore, urge everyone who reads this book, even the doubting Thomases, to find out for himself or herself whether or not what we say regarding the curability of Cancer is true.

For the purpose of assisting you in your investigation, we have published herein names of many men and women who have unquestionably recovered from Cancer without a surgical operation, and who are today among the living as a result of this treatment.

Because they have been cured these good people are eager to assist us in every way possible to spread broadcast the good news. They want you to know that Cancer can be cured, and they have signified a willingness to answer all letters directed to them in regard to the treatment they received.

We encourage thorough investigation because we find the person who investigates most thoroughly by communication with a number of persons who have been cured, is always the one who is most ready to place his case in our care, and come under the treatment. He is the one also who becomes enthusiastic in wanting to help others to the same cure. In this way as our patients are multiplied and cured, each goes out as a missionary in the life-saving service, and the truth and the proof about the cure of Cancer is carried into almost every community of this country. The result is that each year witnesses many valuable lives saved to still further usefulness.

Cause of Cancer

Cancer is, one of those diseases which medical men call a chronic intoxication. This means that it is a disease of slow development, induced by faulty elimination, or by the failure of the body and excretory organs, such as the lungs, kidneys, bowels, and so forth, to throw off the poisonous wastes of the tissues. The Cancerous condition commences when the system is not able to throw off its wastes, yet a person in this condition may never develop Cancer.

From the findings and determinations of our clinical research in hundreds of cases of all kinds, we have found Cancer to be both a local and constitutional disease, and that it is necessary to treat it as such. The sore or tumor is merely a local manifestation of the chronic constitutional condition. The location of the Cancerous growth is determined by irritation; that is, it appears at the location weakened by injury or some form of irritation.

In order for a diseased condition of any kind to be set up in the system, there must first be a deviation from the normal condition. The human body has been likened unto a complex machine with every part working in unison, each part having its particular function to perform, and must be kept in perfect order. Failure of any one part to perform its function, if not immediately discovered and corrected, results disastrously. And so it is with the human body. If there is an abnormal condition of any part or parts, disease is the result.

When a patient comes to us for treatment, the first thing we proceed to do is to ascertain where the abnormal condition exists. In 98 per cent. of all Cancer patients, we find a long standing and obstinate case of constipation. This causes a retention and absorption of gaseous substances that should be eliminated. In other cases, we find insufficient secretion of urine. The kidneys are wonderful purifying organs. Forty-eight per cent. of the waste of the body should be eliminated through the kidneys. If they are not performing their function as they should, the salts in the system are retained, and their retention sets up an irritation or disturbance that is essentially favorable to the growth of Cancer. Quantitative and qualitative analysis of the urine and microscopic examinations show to what extent this condition exists.

Nearly all of our patients attribute the cause of their Cancer to some local irritation, such as frequent cutting of a mole or wart on the face or neck when shaving; the irritation brought about by a hot pipe stem; an irritated scar from a burn or other injury; frost bite, sun burn and numerous other causes that excite local irritation.

While we attribute irritation to be the local exciting cause for the appearance of a Cancerous sore or tumor, which determines the place of development, it is not to be understood that every person who receives such injuries and irritations will develop Cancer. But if there is a run-down condition of the system, if the vitality is below par, if there is chronic constipation, if the kidneys and other excretory organs are not performing their functions properly, or if the patient has gone through what is called the pre-Cancerous condition of defective elimination, Cancer is most likely to result. It is a foregone conclusion, and so recognized by all authorities, that Cancer most frequently develops on regions of the body exposed to irritation. This we term the local exciting cause, but the exciting cause alone will not develop Cancer.

For obvious reasons men more often suffer from Cancer of the exposed surfaces. In men we usually find Cancer on the lip, cheek, nose, eye, ear, neck and hand. Women are more often affected with Cancer of the breast, as the mammary gland is most exposed to traumatism, such as accidental bumping from a child's head when nursing; blows from a broom handle slipping and striking the breast while sweeping; striking the breast on a chair or corner of a table when stooping to pick up something from the floor; caked breast following confinement; abscesses; and numerous other injuries to the delicate tissue structure of the breast which set up irritation and inflammation.

It is an evident fact that the uterus and mammary glands, or breasts, are closely associated and in intimate sympathy. Whatever affects one usually affects the other. This is noticed by women generally at the menstrual period, when the breasts become sensitive and tender. In the majority of cases of Cancer of the breast we find laceration, ulceration or engorgement of the uterus.

Cancer is a disease of middle-aged and elderly people. Certain temperaments seem to be prone to malignancy. The careful records we have kept for years indicate that there is no tendency to heredity.

As a rule patients are deceived in the early development of Cancer. If on the lip they think it a fever blister or a cold sore; if on any other part of the face, they think it some form of eczema. In the beginning Cancer does not cause pain, and one is inclined to look upon it as a trivial matter and neglect proper treatment. A lump in the breast of a woman past the age of 35, which has been present for any length of time, and does not yield to simple ordinary home remedies that she may employ, but gradually grows larger, should be looked upon with suspicion. A sore on the lip or any part of the face or hand, which does not get well in a few days, should receive attention and expert advice should be obtained.

Technical Classification of Cancer

Neoplasms are tumors composed of new-grown tissue of a typical development.

Carcinoma, or Cancer, is an epithelial neoplasm of embryonic type.

A Papilloma is an epithelial neoplasm of adult type.

An Epithelioma is a Carcinoma developed in stratified epithelium.

An Adenoma is a glandular epithelial neoplasm of adult type.

A Fibroma is a connective tissue neoplasm of adult type.

Of the foregoing growths Carcinoma and Epithelioma are the only ones properly called Cancers. The Papilloma and Adenoma may develop into Cancers, and are often to be regarded with suspicion, but they are not Cancers. The Sarcoma is also a very malignant tumor, but it is not a Cancer, although commonly called such.

There are at least two other malignant tumors which do not strictly belong to either of these classes—the Hypernephroma and the Deciduoma. The Hypernephroma is composed of embryonic tissue similar to the suprarenal capsule, and the Deciduoma is composed of a malignant development of placenta. The Deciduoma is one of the most malignant tumors. Fortunately, both of these tumors are comparatively rare.

A much more extensive technical classification might be made of the true Cancers or Carcinomas, but the above statement will suffice.

Johnson's Pathological Laboratory for Cancer Research

For several years past we have maintained a Laboratory for scientific Cancer research and investigation, known as Johnson's Pathological Laboratory for Cancer Research. Since the establishment of this laboratory many hundreds of Cancer cases have been reviewed and this institution is believed to have attained the nation's greatest progress in the diagnosis and prognosis of this disease.

For reasons definitely determined, this Research Laboratory bases its conclusions and investigations upon the proposition that Cancer is a constitutional disease—neither a vegetable nor animal parasite—therefore its researches are exclusively clinical; that is, dealing with cases of human Cancer coming under its examination, of practically all varieties, locations and stages of development. It is proven practice, instead of undemonstrated theory, hence the determinations are actual and practical, instead of being founded upon theoretical research with neoplasms of rats, mice, guinea pigs, rabbits, monkeys, chickens, fishes, etc.

OUR PATHOLOGICAL LABORATORY FOR CANCER RESEARCH

CANCER TRUTHS

A Cancer Research, conforming to the most scientific criteria, and pursued for the past fifteen years, leads to the following fundamental conclusions:

1. Human Cancer is a chronic alkaline auto-intoxication.
2. The essential of this alkaline intoxication is the retention and fixation of carbon dioxid in the tissues.
3. The locus of the Cancerous tumor is determined by chronic irritation, either direct or reflex.
4. Cancer is an affection of persons past middle life.
5. The hyperalkalinity of Cancer can be concentrated in the exposed parts of the body.
6. Epitheliomas, or skin Cancers, are the most numerous.
7. Cancers of the breast are second in number.
8. Epitheliomas predominate below the wrist band and above the collar in blonde men who lead an outdoor life.
9. Epitheliomas are rare in brunettes.
10. Epitheliomas of the exposed surfaces are rare in the dark races.
11. Epitheliomas are rare in persons of indoor life.
12. Cancer patients are the victims of chronic constipation, pass a small amount of urine low in chlorids and alkalies, have high blood pressure, and subnormal temperature.
13. Cancer is not hereditary.
14. Cancer is not contagious.
15. Persons exposed to climatic conditions are more apt to develop Cancer.
16. There is no pain in the early stages.
17. The disease may be slow or rapid in development.
18. Cancer is a constitutional disease.
19. The Cancer tumor is merely a local manifestation.
20. Practically all cases of external Cancer are amenable to medicinal measures promptly and intelligently employed.

Physicians visiting this Research Laboratory who are unacquainted with the work carried on are astonished to see the thoroughness of the methods employed and the advancement that has been made in the control of Cancer. Some of these physicians have visited different widely known Cancer hospitals and research institutions, and are frank to confess that nowhere else have they found anything equal in scientific value to that which has been discovered in Johnson's Pathological Laboratory for Cancer Research.

In consequence of these advanced determinations it follows that this institution is also the farthest advanced in the successful treatment of Cancer.

Scientific Examination of Every Case

Every patient coming under our treatment is systematically examined. Immediately following the physical examination, the patient enters the Pathological Laboratory, where a brief case record is made to correspond in name, sex, age, date, etc., with the physical examination.

The laboratory or clinical examination is most thorough and complete. The blood pressure is first determined, then the blood is tested for hemoglobin, resistance, the amount of the Cancer invasion and the extent of Cancer depletion. A total count is made of the number of red blood corpuscles and the number of white corpuscles. A differential count is also made of the white corpuscles to determine the extent of reaction in ulceration or the amount of involvement or reaction of the lymphatic system in metastasis.

Parallel with this examination of the blood, a quantitative chemical analysis of the urine is made and the sediments, if any, are examined with the microscope. This shows the character of the elimination, the extent of the protective reaction in retaining the chlorids and alkalies to increase the resistance of the blood and the elimination of organic waste with reference to the Cancer intoxication.

To understand the importance of this thorough examination of each patient, you have only to keep in mind our explanation of the cause of Cancer. It is not a parasitic disease or a wholly local condition. It is caused by the retention in the system of poisonous waste materials which ought to be excreted. The retention of the poisons in the system has a marked influence on the red blood cells. These life-giving cells become depleted and less resistant and lose their power to carry hemoglobin. They are less able to nourish the tissues and to carry off waste. This condition of the blood slowly but persistently gets worse through the months and years of Cancer infection.

In all chronic intoxications the resistant forces of the body do all they can by way of protection. As soon as the pre-Cancerous intoxication commences to deplete the blood, the sodium chlorid or common salt in the food, tissues and body fluids is sent to the blood plasma to make it higher in salts and alkalies, so that the hemoglobin will not dissolve out of the red blood corpuscles. This makes the blood high in salts and alkalies in all Cancer cases. This protection is absolutely necessary to prevent the blood from being destroyed in a very short time. But the protection, like nearly all protective measures of the organs of the body, is overdone, or unbalances the mechanism and products of secretion and elimination, and produces an alkalinity which causes the Cancer to grow. The worse the case of defective elimination, the worse the aggravation of the measures of blood protection and the more the Cancer grows.

With these facts in view, you can readily see how very essential it is to know these conditions to an exact certainty and what it means toward the successful treatment of any case of Cancer. All these determinations are precedent to prescribing internal medication. From time to time during treatment the determinations are repeated, or such of them as are indicated, and all results recorded.

CANCER TRUTHS

CORNER IN DRUG AND CHEMICAL ROOM

It is by such thorough methods as this that we are able to successfully treat Cancer in its various stages of development. By knowing the exact conditions by scientific determinations we find where one case differs from another. The treatment of the disease by combined local and constitutional remedies is indicated in each separate case, and the treatment can be intelligently selected and employed.

Cancer of the Breast

Careful compilation and tabulation of our records of the thousands of persons who have consulted us personally and by correspondence, show that the large majority of women having Cancer suffer from Cancer of the Breast.

The variety of Cancer most frequently found in the female breast is Scirrhus, commonly called Stone Cancer and Hard Cancer. This variety of Cancer may also attack the male breast, but it is rare.

Elsewhere in this book we have told you that Cancer develops principally on those parts of the body most exposed and subjected to different forms of irritation. The Breasts, because of their prominence, are subject to repeated injuries, and from certain other causes are subject to irritation. During the middle life of women the Breasts are congested at every menstrual period in reflex sympathy with the uterus and ovaries. They are in the most intimate nervous connection with the uterus and ovaries and respond to all irritation of these organs.

The Breasts are glands and hence are lined with glandular epithelium. They are especially active as a gland during the periods of lactation, and are often caked and inflamed and bruised by the nursing child. Another source of irritation is from abscess in the Breast, and the resultant scar tissue formed by lancing or breaking of the abscess affords a most favorable seat for Cancer to develop.

The glandular epithelium lining the Breast is easier to stimulate to new growth than the epithelium of the uterus. For this reason many women who have suffered a laceration of the uterus at an early childbirth, because of the reflex irritation of many years, develop Cancer of the Breast in later life. This is so true that the physician can safely ask a patient with Cancer of the Breast, who has borne children, at which birth she was lacerated. She can always tell, but she may not know that it was one of the causes of the growth in her Breast.

As intimated above, Cancer of the Breast is more common in women past middle life. A lump appearing in the Breast of a woman past the age of 35 years, whether she has borne children or not, should be looked upon with suspicion, even though there has been no soreness or tenderness. Cancer of the Breast, however, more often makes its appearance between the ages of 40 and 50 years, or during or shortly after the menopause, or change of life.

CANCER TRUTHS

It should be borne in mind that the different forms of injury and irritation as herein enumerated are given and described as some of the local or exciting causes, without reference to the systemic or constitutional predisposing causes.

Cancer of the Breast usually makes its appearance in the form of a lump, which the patient may think to be a simple tumor or merely a swelling of the gland. The lump may have been present for some length of time before it was discovered. Generally there is no pain when the disease first makes its appearance, and we have often had patients tell us that they discovered the lump quite by accident while bathing or massaging the Breasts, while others have observed a very slight discharge from the nipple and upon examining the Breast closely find a lump.

The lump develops in the tissues, but does not appear to be a part of the Breast, as it is usually movable at first and not attached to the skin. It can be moved with the thumb and finger and feels as though, if the skin were opened, it could be easily lifted out. The lump may begin developing immediately adjacent to the nipple, but more frequently it is found between the nipple and upper border of the Breast; in some instances below the nipple, and less frequently between the nipple and armpit. The latter location is the most serious, from the fact that it is so near the lymphatic glands under the arm. While any abnormal lump, enlargement or hardness in the Breast should receive proper treatment, prompt attention especially should be given to a growth in the location just described, because of the two-fold danger.

Cancer of the Breast is responsible for and causes the lumps under the arm, which are almost certain to appear in every case at a certain period of development.

The lump in the Breast is not attached to the skin at first, but as it gradually increases in size and becomes nearer the surface, it will eventually adhere to the skin. Up to this time the skin overlying the lump has been in a normal condition, but it will now be noticed to have changed color, taking on a dark appearance, almost a purplish hue, and the skin seems to be stretched and becomes thinner. In a short time there will be noticed small pimples or nodules making their appearance on the surface, and it will look to one not acquainted with the symptoms of the disease that to open these little pimples would allow the contents to escape and then get well; but, unfortunately, this is not true. Frequently several of these pimples or nodules make their appearance and gradually grow larger until they unite and form one large sore. This marks the second stage of Cancer of the Breast, and it is at this time that the destructive stage is said to begin.

The early symptoms of Cancer of the Breast are rather obscure, particularly to one whose experience with the disease has been limited and who is not familiar with the symptoms and peculiarities of Cancer. As the lump in the Breast increases in size and causes pressure on the blood vessels surrounding the tissues, nerves, etc., there is soreness and tenderness on pressure, and the least manipulation will cause an aching sensation extending up toward the neck and shoulder, and, if handled too roughly, the shock will be felt under the arm and frequently down the arm as far as the elbow.

Sometimes a patient developing Cancer of the Breast will experience a little pain at intervals under the arm and in the shoulder even before the lump makes its appearance, or before it is discovered, and she is inclined to favor that side, using the hand as little as possible. This symptom is often mistaken for rheumatic pains. At about the time the third stage is reached, the pain has increased very materially and will take on sharp, shooting or lancinating pains, associated with a burning, smarting and itching sensation, with indications of the nipple becoming retracted or drawn in.

When the third stage has fairly developed there will be more or less discharge thrown off with a disagreeable odor, which increases as the disease progresses. The wound has a very unhealthy appearance, is irregular and nodular and becomes larger and larger, with increasing pain and suffering. As the disease continues to spread and get worse, so also does the pain and suffering increase, and all other symptoms, local and general, become more intensified.

The foregoing description is characteristic of the average case of Cancer of the Breast. Some cases, of course, will present symptoms and characteristics that are not present in others. Each case is a case unto itself. The age of the patient, the state of her general health and vitality previous to the development of the Cancer, the extent of the physical power of resistance to disease, and numerous other conditions, all govern to a greater or lesser degree the growth of the Cancer.

Our observation has been that the majority of cases of Cancer of the Breast operated upon surgically, return, and when a recurrence does take place, the development of the disease is generally more rapid. The lymphatic glands usually become involved, and the disease, uninterrupted, soon runs its course.

Post-operative recurrent cases of Cancer, whether of the Breast or other location, are considered the most difficult to govern. We have, however, successfully treated a very fair percentage of cases that failed of results under the knife.

Our conclusions are that there is no need for a woman to suffer amputation of the Breast in an effort to cure a Cancerous growth when there are other safer means offering equally as favorable chance for recovery. In fact, we claim that medicinal measures promptly, intelligently and efficiently employed are superior to the scalpel or surgeon's knife, and that the percentage of actual recoveries (patients that really get well, enjoy good health and remain free from Cancer) are greater under the former treatment. In our opinion the knife should never be used, except, possibly, in the last extremity.

STERILIZING ROOM

Cancer of the Face

Cancer of the Face is an Epithelioma, or Skin Cancer. It occurs more frequently in men than in women, because men are more exposed to injuries and irritation that excite local Cancer growth. It generally develops on the upper portion of the face, forehead or temple, and rarely appears before the age of 35.

While no person is exempt, those of fair complexion who have thin skin are most susceptible to Cancer of the Face. The local exciting causes are numerous. Exposure to extreme cold of winter, hot sun of summer and different forms of injury all have their influences. Cancer may appear on the Face in a wart, mole, blackheads, sore or hard excrescence of the skin, especially when cut, injured or irritated.

Cancer of the Face often appears as a small, dry, bran-like scale, which comes off and is not noticed again for a time. Another dry scab or scale forms at the same place and comes off in the same way. This condition may be repeated many times, and there is always a progressive increase in the size of these dry scales. Finally there is a sticky secretion at the place where the scale comes off, and the new scale assumes more the character of a scab. There is no pain, nothing but the persistence of the scab to attract attention.

In time there is a thickening and hardening of the tissue around the edge of the scab, and the patient may then feel a drawing or creeping sensation in the location, as though a fly were walking across the face. The involuntary touching or rubbing of the parts to relieve this sensation acts as an irritant, and, no doubt, hastens the growth of the Cancer. The slight hardening or little tumor continues to grow larger; the scab becomes thicker, the secretion under it of greater amount, and the edges thicker and more inclined to inflammation. Finally an open sore forms, with hard, elevated edges and more or less discharge of a watery nature. At this stage there is a stinging or lancinating pain, which becomes more severe as the Cancer gets larger.

When these Cancers of the Face are shallow and do not invade the deeper tissues for some length of time, they are called "rodent ulcers." When they grow more rapidly and invade the deeper tissues more readily, they are called "carcinoma cutis." Both forms ultimately become large and painful, invade all tissues and cause great suffering and mutilation before destroying the patient's life.

Cancer of the Cheek and upper part of the Face are among the easiest to cure as they are not close to the glands or other deep structures. If all persons would seek competent advice and procure proper medical treatment in time, there would be no need of anyone dying from Cancer of the Face.

Cancer of the Lip

Cancer of the Lip is generally of the Epithelioma type, but may differ from other skin Cancers in several respects. The lower lip is by far the most frequently attacked. Indeed, in our experience, we have seen Cancer of the upper lip, which started on the mucous surface, but few times in many thousands of cases.

Cancer of the lower lip almost invariably commences on, or at the junction of, the tender, pink mucous membrane of the lip. This mucous membrane has many small glands which dip into the tissue beneath and facilitate the Cancerous invasion of deeper tissues.

It is seldom that Cancer makes its appearance in the center of the lip. It more often starts at one side, and may begin with what the patient may think is a common cold sore, fever blister or cracked lip. It is frequently found in persons who are inveterate smokers, especially those who smoke a pipe while working. From our investigations, we are of the opinion that the nicotine in tobacco has no predominance nor is it a direct agency in the cause of Cancer of the Lip, Mouth or Tongue. It is the continued irritation brought about by pressure of the hard, hot pipe-stem, that is responsible for Cancer of the Lip. The irritation from the end of the stem, together with the hot smoke drawn into the mouth, is the exciting cause for Cancer of the tongue and mouth.

Cancer of the Lower Lip may be occasioned by any irritation like the drying or cracking of the lip due to exposure to the wind and hot sun, injury from a tooth, etc. It very often begins as a scale or scab that repeatedly forms and comes off, finally resulting in a sore. There is no pain at first, but when the little tumor or hardness begins to form, there will be a twinge of pain occasionally. Upon pressure with the finger, there may be a sticking pain similar to a thorn in the flesh. Sometimes there is a crawling, itching, burning sensation about the time the ulcer begins to form. As the sore gets larger, the pain becomes more severe and constant.

There is a very ready connection between the structures of the lower lip and the glands of the neck. For this reason, Cancer of the Lower Lip generally grows faster and more rapidly spreads over the chin to the deeper part of the lower jaw and the front of the neck. The lymphatic glands under the chin and jaw become involved. This is a danger signal that should be regarded with the greatest concern. If the patient has not been under treatment up to this time or has been using a slow-acting or ineffective remedy, it now behooves him to secure the best possible treatment and services, for his life is in danger.

Sometimes, Cancer of the Lip takes the form of a growth. The edges are indurated and roll out like a rose. The growth becomes large and heavy and the patient is compelled to wear a bandage to support the lip.

Any sore on the lip or any other part of the face which refuses to heal, which tends to recur after it is apparently healed, should be given the vigorous treatment that all Cancers demand.

Cancer of the Nose

Cancer of the Nose is a very common occurrence. It most frequently develops on the side of the Nose, although it is sometimes found on the end, and occasionally on the lower part where the Nose joins the upper Lip.

Cancer may be located on the Nose for the same reasons as on other portions of the Face, and for the additional reasons which determine irritation of parts of the Nose.

One of the early symptoms of Cancer of the Nose most frequently met with is a scale, the formation of which the patient may have observed at intervals for some time. It also develops from warts or moles, as well as from other sources of irritation. Because of the prominence of the Nose, it is subject to frequent injury. It also becomes irritated from colds, freezing and sunburn. We have had some patients tell us that they attributed the local exciting cause to the irritation from wearing glasses, which rubbed the top or pinched the sides of the Nose.

Regardless of the cause or manner in which Cancer of the Nose appears, its progress is certain if not arrested by proper treatment. Like Cancer of any other location, the local affection is small at first. When the sore forms, it will be surrounded by hard, elevated edges or rim, gradually spreading out, becoming larger and more deeply seated. In some cases the Cancer is set on a base or pedestal, the growth or abnormal tissue bulging out similar to a puff-ball. In this case, it is generally of rapid development and becomes quite large.

There is little, if any, pain at first. There may be itching and burning or a sensation similar to a brier in the flesh, and passing the finger over the parts will relieve the sensation temporarily. As the Cancer gets larger, the pain increases and becomes constant.

Cancer of the Nose is nearly always Epithelioma, or Skin Cancer. It may grow slowly at first, but in advanced stages involves the bone and eventually becomes incurable.

Any sore on the Nose or Face which refuses to heal under ordinary treatment should be regarded with suspicion. Do not be deceived by the advice to "let it alone," or, "if it gets worse, come in and I'll cut it out."

Virtually all cases of Cancer of the Nose can be cured if treated in time by the proper method. We have treated scores of cases and never fail to cure when we have the patient under our treatment in time.

Cancer of the Eyelid

Cancer does not often begin developing on the Eyelid proper, but is frequently found at the outer or inner corner of the Eye, especially the latter location. They are Epithelioma, or Skin Cancers, and are found at these locations because of the peculiar irritation common to the Eyes.

The Eyes are lined with a very delicate mucous membrane that is easily injured and inflamed and subject to irritation by the accumulation of dust. Tears run down the inner corner, and frequent wiping of the Eye finally adds to the irritation.

Cancer of the Eyelid often develops from a small lump, pimple or sore, and from continued irritation and inflamed condition of the mucous membrane lining the lid. It sometimes begins in the form of a scale, as do other Skin Cancers of the face, and its course of development is very much the same. This is especially true of Cancer found at the inner corner of the Eye and just against the bridge of the nose.

The local manifestation of Cancer of the Eyelid, like Cancer of other locations, is slight at the beginning. It makes no difference in what form it first appears, the ultimate or final result is the same if the course of the disease is not arrested and overcome by proper medical treatment. From the first slight manifestation the Cancer continues to grow, gradually spreading out over the nose and down over the cheek, destroying the tissues in a frightful manner.

Cancers which invade the Eye are more painful, because of the tender nature of the Eye, and are more inclined to swell, because of the open, loose tissue of the Eyelids. They are also more difficult to treat, because of the pain incident to irritation to the Eye.

Any person having Cancer of the Eyelid, or a suspicious condition near or on the lid, should by all means procure competent medical advice and treatment. The time to treat Cancer is when it is young.

Cancer of the Ear

The External Ear is a very common location for Cancer to make its appearance. At this location it is always Epithelioma, or Skin Cancer. It usually commences on the edge or back of the Ear, the location being determined by the seat of irritation.

Among the many local exciting causes for Cancer of the Ear might be enumerated: Freezing, sunburn, moles, warts, scratches and other injuries.

Many times it commences in the form of a scale and proceeds to develop in the same manner, with similar symptoms and peculiarities as in Epithelioma of the Face. We must allow, however, for variance in all cases of Cancer, even when of the same type and same location. The reason for this is the physical condition of the patient, condition of the blood, the character and extent of local irritation, as referred to under "Cause of Cancer."

When the Cancer develops on the upper part of the Ear, if allowed to develop, it gradually spreads to the side of the head. When it attacks the middle of the Ear, it spreads to the head behind the Ear and often toward the front over the external auditory canal and out on the face. When the lower portion of the ear is attacked, the Cancer spreads downward under the Ear to the neck and inferior maxillary, or jaw. At this point the lymphatic glands become involved, and lumps form under the jaw.

Cancer of the Neck

Cancer of the Neck is due to the same causes as on the upper part of the Face. Generally it is not so frequently found on the Neck, because of the difference in the character of the skin and the degree of protection of the parts from exposure.

Cancer on the back of the Neck can often be traced to irritation by collar buttons and ill-fitting, stiff, heavy collars of the clothing, frequent cutting of a mole, etc. Cancer of the front and sides of the Neck are the more dangerous, because of the proximity of other organs, and because of the danger of early involvement of the glands of the Neck.

A Cancer on the Neck situated just back and below the angle of the Jaw is liable to involve the great vessels and the parotid gland, and, if neglected, its cure is a serious matter.

The earlier symptoms of Cancer of the Neck are very much the same as in other Skin Cancers. If not overcome by proper treatment, the tendency, as in all cases of Cancer, is gradually to get worse. From a small spot it develops into a large, ugly ulcer, with rolled or hard, elevated edges, and a foul smelling discharge that is generally characteristic of Cancer wounds. In this stage, pain is constant and severe, extending down into the shoulders and up into the head. The patient cannot get into a comfortable position, sitting or reclining, day or night.

Do not allow your Cancer to develop into this stage. If it has already done so, by all means come to us without the loss of a moment's time.

Cancer of the Hand

Cancer of the Hand is quite common in men, and is usually Epithelioma, or Skin Cancer.

The contributing causes of Cancer in this location are many. It generally starts from a long standing wart or mole so situated that it is constantly irritated by repeated injuries. It may also start from a scaly condition on the back of the hand, a scar from a burn, an infected cut or bruise, and many times from a barb wire tear.

The early symptoms and general course of the disease is similar to Epithelioma, or Skin Cancer, located elsewhere. From a small beginning it opens into a discharging wound, and because of the proximity of the ligaments and bones, its growth, after becoming well defined, is generally quite rapid. The wound is ragged and irregular, with edges elevated above the surrounding parts. There is considerable inflammation, and the hand and fingers become swollen and stiff.

There is no pain at the first appearance of Cancer on the Hand, but later on comes the itching, burning, darting and aching pains. Finally the pain extends to the elbow and shoulder, the glands under the arm become involved and the arm swollen. The longer the Cancer develops, the more exaggerated becomes the symptoms. We have known patients to submit to amputation of the Hand in a vain effort to escape the disease, but only to suffer a recurrence of the Cancer in a worse form.

Cancer of Other Locations

Cancer of other locations present symptoms virtually analogous to those described in the preceding chapters. There is scarcely a location or part of the human body that Cancer does not attack. It is true, of course, that certain locations are more often attacked than others. Those parts of the body most subject to irritation are more often the seat of the Cancer.

As a rule, inaccessible Cancer, those not upon the outer surface of the body, are more difficult of diagnosis and are frequently quite far advanced before the true condition is discovered. In consequence of late diagnosis, cases of this character are difficult to deal with, and the percentage of recoveries is not as great as it probably would be under early diagnosis and treatment.

The all-important thing in the treatment of Cancer, regardless of its location, is early and correct diagnosis, immediately followed by the best curative measures possible to procure.

Lupus Vulgaris

Lupus is a chronic tubercular skin disease, resembling in some respects Epithelioma. Although it cannot be called Cancer, yet it is a species of that disease and is often commonly called "Wolf Cancer." Its most frequent location is some part of the face—either the nose, cheek, eyelid or ear—although it may make its appearance on any part of the body and spread over a considerable surface. It usually attacks the skin only, but in rare instances cases have been found where it had extended to the more deeply seated tissues.

It is difficult for one who is not familiar with the symptoms and characteristics of this disease to make a differential diagnosis, and frequently we have had patients apply to us for treatment, supposing they were suffering from Skin Cancer; in fact, they had been treated for that disease, but on examination we found the disease to be Lupus.

Diseases of Women

The treatment of Diseases of Women and of the female organs is conjoint with that of Cancer.

The majority of women who have Cancer suffer from Cancer of the Uterus or Cancer of the Breast. The reproductive organs are in close, intimate sympathy with the mammary glands or breasts. This is clearly shown at the menstrual function by the breasts becoming slightly firmer, sensitive and tender. This condition is more pronounced in some women than others, but is present to a more or less degree in all.

Many cases of Cancer of the Breast have their origin from laceration, ulceration, misplacement, or some abnormal condition of the Uterus or Womb. Such abnormalities must be corrected, when present, and careful treatment of the proper kind is essential.

We venture to say that by timely treatment of many Uterine derangements a Cancerous development at this location and of the breasts could be avoided. There are so many conditions of the Uterus that may exist, that a thorough discussion of the varied conditions is not practical herein. Suffice it to say that any unnatural or abnormal condition of the Uterus should be given proper treatment promptly. It may save a serious surgical operation or prevent Cancer.

We have given special attention to the treatment of all forms of Uterine diseases, and are prepared to successfully treat such conditions without surgical interference.

CANCER TRUTHS

Microscopic Examination of the Blood

These illustrations of red blood corpuscles are magnified about five hundred times. They show in striking contrast the condition of the blood of a healthy person as compared with that of one who has Cancer. This is conclusive evidence that Cancer is a blood disease—constitutional—as well as local.

Figure 1 shows the appearance of the normal red blood corpuscles in a 1 per cent. solution of common salt. The natural condition of the liquid part of the blood is .85 per cent. common salt. This is the condition under which the red blood corpuscles live and carry oxygen to the tissues. In a stronger salt solution they wrinkle up as shown in the picture.

Figure 2 shows the blood of a Cancer patient in a 1 per cent. salt solution. Many of the corpuscles have become depleted in their resistance and will no longer wrinkle up in the 1 per cent. solution of salt. This is the common condition in persons whose Cancer is not very far advanced.

CANCER TRUTHS

It is by scientific examinations of this kind that the extent of constitutional invasion of Cancer is determined. It makes possible the proper selection of important internal medication in conjunction with local treatment.

Figure 3 shows the blood of a Cancer patient in which all the red corpuscles have become weakened and depleted so that they will not wrinkle up in a 1 per cent. salt solution. This is the condition called the resistance minima, or least resistance. It is quite commonly found in advanced or bad cases of Cancer.

Importance of Internal Medication

Cancer is one of those diseases which medical men call a chronic intoxication—a disease of faulty elimination. It is the local manifestation of a chronic alkaline condition due to the retention of organic waste. Carbon dioxide is the principal offending material retained. The location of the Cancer is determined by chronic irritation either direct or reflex.

We lay no claim to having discovered that Cancer is a constitutional disease. This was known to some investigators long before we took up Cancer treatment and scientific Cancer research. It is doubtful, however, if there is another institution in this country where actual clinical research has been prosecuted so extensively as at this institution and where it has been so definitely determined that Cancer is most assuredly a constitutional disease, as well as a local affection. By these determinations the importance of internal medication—treatment for the blood and general system—has been fully proved.

We are advocating medical treatment for Cancer because we have proved to our own satisfaction that it is the most rational, modern and successful method. Because of the very nature of the disease it does not permit of any argument as to the best means for its successful treatment. And by successful treatment we mean treatment that not only removes the external Cancerous affection, but also eradicates the cause from the system or blood and gives lasting results to the patient.

The Cancer Commission of the American Association of Progressive Medicine, in a special report on Cancer, stated that "Surgery has for years been the generally accepted treatment for Cancer. During the past sixty years the technique of surgery has been improved to a marvelous extent. Notwithstanding this, during the same period of years the mortality of Cancer has increased many fold." What are we to think of such a statement coming from a body of men who have made a special study of the subject. We at once conclude that surgery is not a cure for Cancer, that it fails of results because it removes only the external growth, leaving the original cause in the system to produce another Cancer.

We do not claim to have learned all there is to know about Cancer, but we have learned that in every case there is a pre-cancerous condition, a condition of the system that is favorable to the development of Cancer, and that the longer the Cancer is present, the greater becomes the constitutional invasion.

A disease that has its origin from within the system and later shows itself in the form of a sore or tumor on the surface of the body can hardly be expected to be cured by the mere taking out of such sore or tumor. We have long contended, and our contention has been repeatedly proved by our own work, as well as by other investigators, that to treat Cancer successfully, the disease must be eradicated by both local and internal medication.

CANCER TRUTHS

Because of the peculiar constitutional condition incident to the precancerous and Cancerous state, the Cancer patient is the victim of chronic constipation, passes a small amount of urine low in salts, has a defective blood low in its power to destroy waste, has hardened arteries and a high blood pressure, and a subnormal temperature.

It is therefore necessary to give internal medicine and use electrical and mechanical measures to correct these conditions. As individuals differ, and as the cause of the conditions described differ, the treatment cannot be routine; it cannot be the same for all. A number of well-known medicines are used to break up the constipation and promote elimination by the bowels. It may be that the constipation and torpidity of the bowels is caused by something not amenable to medicine. Then mechanical measures or electricity may be indicated. There can be no set rule for every case. There can be no one medical or mechanical formula. The desired end is free and regular elimination by the bowels.

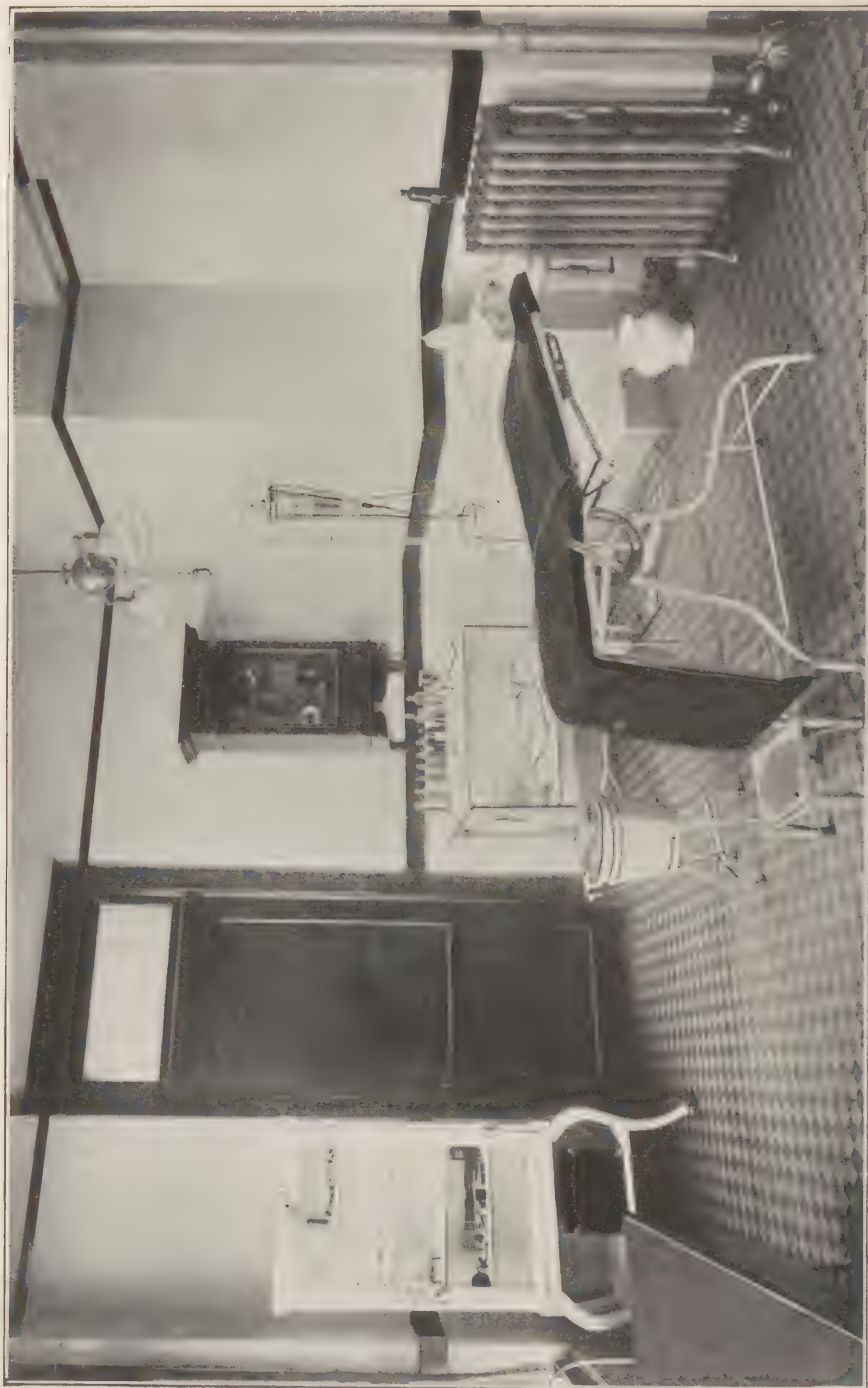

The same is true of the kidneys. They must be brought to a normal, healthy elimination. The means must be individual and selected for each separate case. The cause of the defective elimination must be sought and removed. It must be understood that it is not the Cancer that is the cause of these irregularities, but that it is the condition resulting from these irregularities which is the cause of the Cancer.

The condition of the blood and tissue juices must be corrected by internal medicine. There are a number of well-known remedies which will perform this office. They must be carefully selected according to the condition found in each individual patient. Cancer patients are nearly all old persons or at least past middle age. Their eliminating and glandular organs are not at their best. They must be helped by judicious treatment. All this is within the field of internal medicine.

When all this has been done, there remains only the destruction and removal of the Cancerous tumor. Its hardness, redness and soreness will have been removed by the medical treatment. The removal of the tumor must be radical and complete. There must be no temporizing. The method to be employed is a matter of selection depending upon the location and advancement of the tumor, its rapidity of growth, and the resistance and sensitiveness of the patient. All successful methods of removal depend upon the fact that Cancer cells are not as resistant as normal cells. They are readily killed by the use of escharotics, while normal cells around them are uninjured or only inflamed.

From a diagnostic survey, surgery is not indicated as a curative measure in Cancer. There is an element of danger from X-rays in that there is as yet no method of regulating or controlling them so as to make them safe and effective. The same is true of radium. Medical methods are the methods of choice because they are safer, surer, can be controlled, and produce the desired results; that is, they cure the Cancer so that it does not return. By medical measures, indicated in each individual case, the Cancerous tumor is killed. It comes out, leaving a healthy sore, which is healed by ordinary methods.

TREATMENT ROOM NUMBER ONE

The importance of internal or constitutional medication in the treatment of Cancer cannot be over-estimated. We venture to say that many curable cases of Cancer are not cured because too little importance is attached to the value of treatment for the blood.

The Control of Cancer

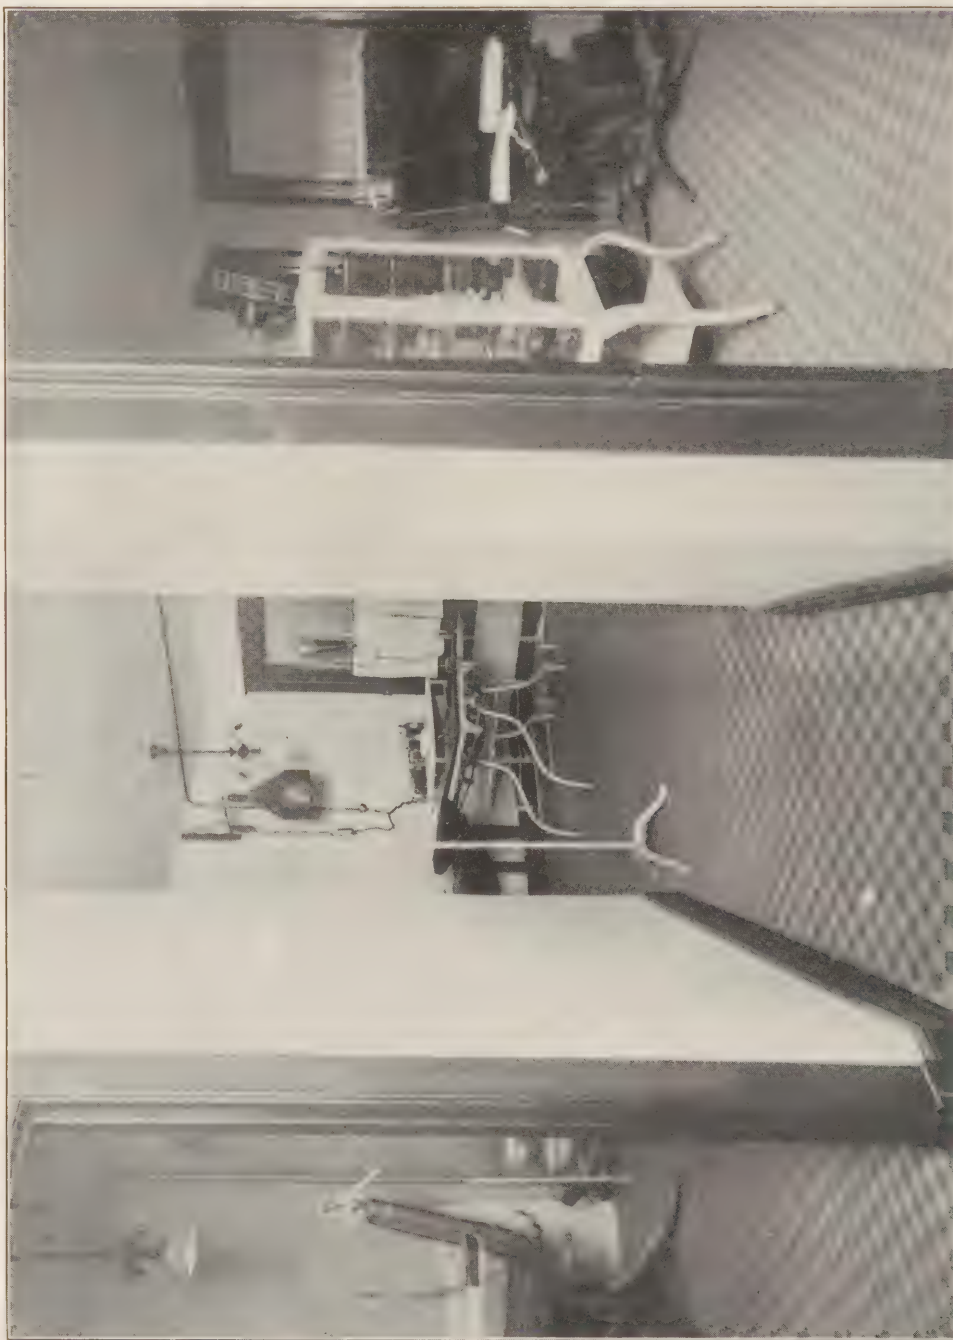

The chief hope of controlling Cancer and reducing the death-rate lies in the early recognition of the disease, followed by efficient medical treatment. Thousands of lives are needlessly sacrificed for no other reason than ignorance and neglect. There is no reason why the Cancer patient should not seek prompt and competent medical services, as do patients who find themselves afflicted with some other malady or acute sickness. The usual cause for neglect is due to the fact that Cancer does not begin with an attack of severe illness or bodily suffering to alarm the patient. For this reason a different attitude toward Cancer prevails and occasions many preventable deaths. The unwillingness on the part of the patient to admit he has Cancer and to seek expert medical advice in time is also a difficult obstacle to surmount in the control of the disease.

Proof of this fatal neglect is found in our daily correspondence. Many times patients have consulted us regarding a small sore or growth which showed every evidence of Cancer in its early stage. Because of absence of severe pain, and the slow development of the disease, the patient refused treatment, either believing in his own mind that he did not have Cancer or preferring to wait until the disease became more manifest. From a few months to a year or more, these patients again consult us and we find them in a most dangerous condition; some past any hope of a cure.

It is indeed extremely rare that Cancer patients seek efficient treatment when the disease first appears. Most of this class of patients could, and certainly all should, come under proper treatment at the first suspicious symptoms, and then the control of Cancer would not be such a difficult problem.

The control of Cancer lies not alone in the discovery of an infallible remedy that will cure every case regardless of location or stage of development, but in the education of the public. Because of the good and sufficient reason that Cancer is a progressive disease—does not get well voluntarily, as do many other diseases, but develops to a fatal end—there will never be discovered an infallible cure for the disease in all its stages of advanced development. When Cancer once appears, its tendency is to continuously get worse, slowly or rapidly as time goes on. If the disease is not promptly and properly treated and cured

PARTIAL VIEW OF THREE OF OUR TREATMENT ROOMS

it invariably kills the patient unless some other disease intervenes and causes death. As surely as time goes on, just so surely does the development of Cancer go on, and one might just as well think of stopping the flight of time as to think of stopping the growth of Cancer after it has reached a certain stage.

Unfortunately, there is no way to determine how soon or how late after the appearance of Cancer before it will result in the death of the victim. This fact, together with the certain knowledge of the terrible fatality of the disease, should be sufficient incentive for anyone to procure proper treatment just as soon as it is known he has Cancer. You ask how you are to know you have Cancer? Not being a physician, you are not expected to know, but you do know when an unnatural lump appears, or a sore that will not heal. You know it is an abnormal condition—shouldn't be there—and, knowing this, you should consult a competent physician, one who knows a case of Cancer when he sees it.

Cancer has its inception, or origin, from within the system, coming about through faulty elimination which results in chronic intoxication—a poisoning of the system by the body waste material that is not properly eliminated or thrown off through the natural waste channels. The local or external Cancerous tumor, or sore, appears at a point made weak by injury or continued irritation. A refractory lump or sore, one that does not subside under the simple remedies usually employed, nearly always, under the above conditions, means the beginning of Cancer. To cut or burn out the affected part does not remove the cause from the system.

Symptoms of Cancer are generally present early and can be readily recognized by one who understands their significance. In many instances, however, the disease is not suspected by the patient until the symptoms are well pronounced or until there is a tumor or sore of considerable size. For this reason, and other reasons before cited, few patients come under treatment earlier than a year or more after the Cancer appears. Under these adverse circumstances the death toll from Cancer is great—needlessly great, because of ignorance or willful neglect. It behooves all of us to acquaint ourselves with the early symptoms of Cancer, for no one is exempt.

To sum it all up, the control of Cancer—meaning its successful treatment—depends upon educating the public to recognize the early symptoms of the disease, to avoid untried, experimental and ineffective treatment that does not remove the cause from the blood and system, and go immediately to a legitimate Cancer specialist, one known to be reliable because of his large practice and record of hundreds of cures.

CORNER OF GENTLEMEN'S RECEPTION ROOM

Cost of Treatment and Services

If all cases of Cancer were exactly alike it would be an easy matter to set a price for treatment and services before seeing a patient. Necessarily, the charge must vary because of the difference in cases.

In every instance the cost of treatment and services is governed by the severity of the case and the length of time the patient is required to be under treatment. When it is necessary for the patient to remain from two to four weeks, we make a weekly charge. In the more severe cases requiring a longer course of treatment, we make a flat rate, or stated price, for a specified length of time. Whether you pay by the week or for a course of treatment covering a specified length of time, the cost of treatment and services includes all medicines, bandages and dressings, appliances, treatments and everything necessary for the proper treatment of the case.

It has always been our policy to make our charges as reasonable as possible, so that no patient is denied the benefit of our treatment and services because of inability to pay a large fee.

X-Ray

The X-ray was discovered during the latter part of the year 1895 by a German scientist, William Conrad Roentgen. Not being certain as to the nature of the rays, he called it X-ray. "X" signifies and means an unknown quantity. Hence, not fully knowing the nature, or quantity, of the rays, they were called X-ray. The X-ray is sometimes referred to as Roentgen rays, in honor of the discoverer.

Shortly after the discovery of the X-ray, it was recommended and employed by many physicians as a cure for Cancer. Its employment in the treatment of this disease for several years by physicians in every part of the country proved that its value as a cure for Cancer was over-estimated. Notwithstanding the fact that the X-ray has proved a disappointment and failure in the treatment of Cancer, some physicians are still advocating its use.

We have had many patients come to us who had been treated by X-ray, and we candidly believe that they were made worse by such treatment. The X-ray has been known to cause Cancer upon the operator using it as a cure and in other experimental work. In the Fifth Report of the Cancer Commission of Harvard University, this is acknowledged, and there are shown photographs of growths on the hand, chest, abdomen and elsewhere of operators using the X-ray, which growths, they say, "microscopically cannot be distinguished from similar carcinomata (Cancer) of ordinary occurrence."

In many cases applying to us for treatment, after having been repeatedly exposed to X-rays, we have found it more difficult to heal the X-ray burn than it would have been to cure the primary Cancer. The rays pass freely through the various tissues and fluids of the body and cannot be confined entirely to the Cancer-affected area. Tissue that has been repeatedly exposed to the X-rays, especially where dermatitis has been set up, is never quite restored to its normal condition.

While we do not use and cannot recommend X-ray in the treatment of Cancer, it is a wonderful aid to the physician in general practice. It is of great value for locating foreign substances in the body, in locating fractures of the bone, and in making diagnosis of internal diseases, but the full physiological effect of the X-rays are not yet clearly understood.

If we are to base our opinion upon past results of experimental work, in the treatment of Cancer by X-ray, we must conclude that the X-ray is not a cure for Cancer.

Radium

Radium was discovered by French scientists in the year 1898. It is a metallic element obtained from pitch-blende, a mineral usually found with silver and lead ores. It is a white, crystalline substance with a strong illuminating power, and its light, or rays, is said to be capable of piercing three feet of iron.

A great deal has been published in daily papers and in magazines regarding Radium as a cure for Cancer. In our opinion, this wide publicity has been very detrimental to the Cancer-afflicted public. It has been the cause of a number of Cancer patients going to distant hospitals owning and using Radium for the treatment of Cancer. Other patients wait to see what the results are in these cases, thereby allowing their own cases to develop and grow worse. Cancer does not remain dormant. It either gets better under proper treatment, or it is gradually growing worse under improper treatment or no treatment at all.

You have perhaps read of the wonderful claims made for the curative value of Radium as applied to Cancer, and also of different persons undergoing its treatment, but have you read any authentic reports of permanent cures to substantiate these claims?

Not only have we had correspondence with a large number of Cancer patients who have used Radium with disappointing results, but we have also personally examined and treated many cases where Radium had failed. Some we have cured; in others we have found the Cancer so widely scattered and the development so accelerated that a cure was impossible. The large volume of evidence we have gathered is so overwhelmingly against its success that we cannot but condemn its use for Cancer removal.

Why We Do Not Use Nor Advise Surgery, X-Ray, or Radium for Cancer Removal

As has already been stated, our Cancer study, research, investigations, and experience extend over a period of twenty-five years. Our conclusions are based on the findings in the thousands of cases that have come under our personal observation, clinical study and pathological and physical examinations.

It has always been our policy to be open-minded to the extent that we do not condemn or antagonize any method of treatment, without first having what we consider just reasons for doing so. When anything new concerning Cancer is discovered, when a more effective method of treating it than that which we use is devised, we are anxious to know it, that the many hundreds applying to us for relief and cure may have the best and most effective treatment that is to be had anywhere. We do not condemn a theory or practice because it is new. Neither do we hold to one because it is old. Wonderful progress has been made in the science of medicine and the successful treatment of disease during the past twenty years. There is still room for an almost unlimited more. When we cease to progress, we retrograde.

During the past few years there had been a great deal of publicity or what we might call propaganda, urging surgery as the best and most effective method of Cancer removal. Also, X-ray and radium are being advised in certain classes of cases. You have already read our views, but we want you to know what another eminent authority has to say on the subject.

In the August 1922 edition of "Clinic Medicine" is quite a lengthy article on Cancer by L. Duncan Bulkley, M.D., senior physician to the New York Skin and Cancer Hospital, also member of the American Cancer Research Association. Not only does Dr. Bulkley concur with our opinion that Cancer is a constitutional disease, but he also condemns surgery for the extirpation or removal of Cancer in no uncertain terms. He says: "Under the dominance of surgery during the last twenty years, Cancer as a racial disease has shown such steady, tragic, and lamentable strides in its death rate, that all are inquiring what can be done to check it." Further: "The American Society for the Control of Cancer has certainly not accomplished anything at all, or even suggested anything, other than early and REPEATED operation."

Our readers will understand that our facilities and opportunities for observing and knowing the results being obtained from the various methods of Cancer removal are very great. We do not honestly believe that any fair-minded person could remain in our institution very long and have the opportunities to see the frightful conditions of so many who apply to us for treatment, following surgical, X-ray, or radium removal of Cancer, and still conscientiously indorse any of these methods. A large percentage of the cases we have to pronounce hopelessly incurable are the ones where one or more of these methods have failed.

Another thing we wish you to consider: If our experience taught us that any one of all of these methods are superior to the treatment we employ, is there any reason why we wouldn't be willing to change? There is nothing to prevent us from employing surgery, X-ray, or radium, but we consider our combination of local and constitutional treatment far superior, as proven by the many cures we have accomplished, where one or more of these treatments had not only failed, but had greatly aggravated the conditions and lessened the patient's chances for recovery.

We are perfectly willing to be convinced of the merits and efficiency of any treatment for Cancer, but, before giving up that which has proven effective in so many hundreds of cases, we must have the unquestioned proof that something better is to take its place. We are unwilling to jeopardize our patients' chances for a cure from such a disease as Cancer, nor are we going to be untrue to our own personal convictions, by using methods in which we do not have confidence, just to be in accord with the majority. Far rather do we prefer to continue to fight the battle, even though the odds in numbers are against us, as long as the real evidence—patients cured—is overwhelmingly in our favor. To one who has Cancer—whose life is hanging in the balance—the one prime consideration is to secure the services and treatment that offers the greatest possibility of a lasting cure.

Fundamentals on Which Our Treatment Is Based

From what has already been said concerning the results of our twenty-five years of Cancer study and research, and our clinical experience with so many hundreds of cases, our views concerning Cancer will be pretty thoroughly understood by the reader. It is our contention, based on this extensive and prolonged study and experience, that two things are fundamental in the successful treatment of Cancer. First—a complete destruction of the abnormal Cancer cells. If any of the cells are not destroyed, they continue to grow and multiply. Second—a complete eradication from the system, and a correction of the conditions responsible for the formation of the local Cancerous growth or lesion.

Where we can secure the case in time that these two fundamentals are possible of accomplishment under our treatment, a cure is the result. Where the case is so far advanced that one or both are impossible, it has then passed over the invisible line that places it among the incurables.

For the destruction of the Cancer cells, we use what is called Escharotics—a treatment that literally destroys every vestige of the Cancerous growth, with which it comes in contact, by cauterization. The form of escharotic used depends on several conditions—location of the Cancer to be removed, size, consistency of the cellular construction, patient's age, conditions of the general health, etc. But always the one thing of prime, of vital, importance is the complete removal of every vestige of the Cancer—the utter destruction of every live Cancer cell.

The constitutional treatment required is determined after we have gone fully into the history of the case, secured a full list of all the abnormal symptoms experienced by the patient, have made a thorough investigation of the patient's mode of living, and have thoroughly examined the blood microscopically, have determined the blood pressure, and have made a complete analysis of the urine, both as to quantity and quality. Then the constitutional treatment is prescribed to meet the conditions of the individual case.

A great measure of our splendid success is due to the thoroughness of our examinations preceding treatment. But even with the right treatment a great deal depends on the knowledge and skill of the physician in using it. Right treatment, ignorantly employed, might in many cases do a great deal of harm, instead of giving the results desired.

Elimination

The principal channels or organs through which the waste or poisonous materials are eliminated from the body are the kidneys, the bowels, and the skin. When one or more of these excretory organs fail to function properly, it causes the retention in the system of poisonous material that is inimical to health. Also, it results in an over-working of the other excretory organs to make up for the deficiency of the one not functioning normally. This, if continued is bound to cause a break-down of the entire system of elimination.

That the retention of wastes and poisons in the system, due to defective elimination, has a decisive influence both on the formation and the development of Cancer, there is in our minds not the slightest doubt. Almost invariably we find chronic constipation co-existent with cancer. In many cases the constipation has been present for years before the Cancer originated. Usually, we also find that the kidneys are defective in elimination. Normally, the kidneys are expected to take care of about 48 per cent of body elimination. In many cases we find the skin dry and harsh. In every case, without exception, we find faulty elimination of more or less degree, varying in the individual.

Even if faulty elimination had no bearing on the causation of Cancer, the fact that it exists with it, and that it is detrimental to the health and well-being of the patient, is sufficient reason for constitutional treatment. But it does influence both its development and cure. After the Cancer lesion or growth has formed, the restoration of normal elimination alone will not cure it. Neither will the complete removal of the Cancer. The two combined form the logical, effective combination treatment.

In correcting defective elimination, the aim is not just temporary relief by the over-stimulation of the organ or organs at fault. The result sought is a restoration to normalcy, so that after treatment is discontinued, the work of elimination goes on just as nature intended it should. In other words, we strive to cure, instead of just giving temporary relief.

A Fallacy to Avoid

It is not an uncommon occurrence that a person annoyed with a refractory sore or growth will seek advice in the early stage of the trouble and is told to "let it alone; don't bother it till it bothers you." The number of lives needlessly sacrificed because the individual followed the foolish advice to "let it alone," we do not presume to say, because reliable statistics are not obtainable. Judging by the many letters we receive from Cancer patients who tell us they have decided not to be treated, or at least to defer treatment, and the letters which later come from those who are in the last throes of the disease because they "let it alone," the number of deaths must be very great.

The patient himself, not being aware of the grave danger ahead, is not always to be blamed for putting off treatment, yet a great many times he may mistrust that "to let it alone" is not just the right thing to do, but still neglects to seek competent advice.

Many patients come to us suffering with Cancer in a fearfully advanced stage who say they sought medical counsel when their trouble first appeared, but were told the little sore or lump did not amount to anything and to let it alone, not to bother it until it bothered them. Others say they were given a little salve or lotion and told to return in a week or a month. Much valuable time is fooled away in that manner until, finally, the Cancer has reached such serious proportions the patient is rushed off to the hospital for a surgical operation. If the operation is successful and the patient recovers from the Cancer he can consider himself most fortunate indeed, as the usual sequence at this stage is a return of the Cancer. If it does return, the patient awakens to the full realization that his life is in danger, and, even though the Cancer has now advanced to a hopelessly incurable stage, he may call upon a Cancer specialist and expect the doctor to perform a miracle—in other words, to cure him of an incurable condition, a disease that, no doubt, could have been easily cured had he received sensible advice and efficient treatment at the proper time.

Not all post-operative recurrent cases of Cancer are incurable, but they usually yield more stubbornly, and each succeeding recurrence lessens the patient's chance of recovery by medical measures.

Any woman who has a small growth in the breast, or any man who has a sore on the lip, nose, face or other exposed surface that refuses to heal within a reasonable length of time under the simple remedies ordinarily used, should employ expert medical advice, for more often than otherwise such conditions are the beginning of a serious and dangerous case of Cancer, and "to let it alone" means almost certain death.

Bear this in mind: Any growth or lump in the breast, an induration or fissure in the lip or sore on the face or hand should be treated promptly and not let alone to develop into a frightful, wolfish, life-destroying Cancer. Timely treatment of the right kind will not only save you much suffering, but will save your life.

Many a poor mortal has followed the foolish advice to let his Cancer alone, to not bother it until it has bothered him, until the disease has so fastened itself upon the victim that nothing can be done to save his life.

The once common belief that Cancer is incurable, that it will be made to grow faster if treated and should be let alone as long as the pain can be endured, are fallacies that are being rapidly dispelled. You should not entertain such false thoughts or fears. Efficacious treatment will cure you; so by all means procure it at once and get rid of your Cancer before it gets rid of you.

The Danger of Delay

All physicians who have given any study to Cancer are now agreed that early treatment is imperative, but, unfortunately, as we have already shown, they do not all agree on the method or mode of treatment. This is due to the fact that there is no known infallible cure for Cancer in all its stages of development. Because of the very nature of the disease, the various changes it undergoes as it progresses, and widely different physical complications resulting in different individuals, there can be no one standard or fixed treatment. Therefore, a combination medical treatment such as ours that can be varied to suit each individual case is the most logical.

It is admitted that there are some cases of Cancer that inevitably prove fatal despite the most heroic efforts to cure, even when treated early. Such cases are few, however, as compared with the great number of persons who suffer with this malady. It is a lamentable fact that thousands of Cancer patients succumb to the disease because of no other reason than self-neglect. They are indifferent to their affliction in its early stage, even against the most reliable medical advice, and persist in deferring proper treatment until past all hope of cure.

The percentage of rejected cases, that is, cases applying to us too late, in our judgment, for successful treatment, is approximately one out of every eight. This high percentage of Cancer cases reaching an incurable condition is avoidable and wholly unnecessary. To us there is but one explanation—delay and waste of time with ineffective treatment.

It is a very sad duty to tell a Cancer patient he has come to us too late—that we can do nothing for him. To such patients we must, of course, refuse treatment, the only exception being where the afflicted one insists that we take his case and try to at least alleviate his suffering and make his few remaining days tolerable to the greatest possible degree. Every unfortunate Cancer sufferer is entitled to, and must have, medical attention, and it would be inhuman on our part should we deny him our services when there are no facilities at home for such care and attention as he may require.

We venture to say that by far the majority of cases we have rejected as incurable could have been cured had they not delayed or could have had proper treatment at the right time. Right today there are hundreds, yes thousands, of patients in the incipient or early stage of Cancer who will, no doubt, regardless of all timely warning, neglect their trouble or fool away so much valuable time with ineffective treatment that their disease will reach an incurable condition. If you have Cancer in its early stage don't wait to see how bad it will get or until the pain becomes so intense that you are compelled to seek relief. Unfortunately, there are no means by which it can be determined how soon the turning point from curable to incurable will arrive. Have your Cancer attended to at once, and, if treated right in the first place, you will not only save yourself much suffering and unnecessary expense, but your chances for recovery will be many fold greater than later on.

There are also hundreds of afflicted men and women who think they are already beyond the possibility of relief. They have arrived at this opinion themselves, or some friend may have passed his opinion to that effect. One should not be satisfied with nor accept as final the opinion of his friends or a doctor with limited Cancer experience who says recovery is impossible. He is honest in his opinion, but another doctor who is a specialist of wide experience and treats scores of cases annually might take an entirely different view of the case. Certainly his judgment should be more reliable. And, also is he not more capable of treating Cancer to a successful issue than the one of less experience with cases of this character?

We separate into three classes all cases of Cancer applying to us. In the first class is numbered those cases which we believe are curable beyond a doubt; in the second class, doubtful cases, and in the third class are listed those cases which are considered hopelessly incurable. When you apply to us for treatment you will be advised immediately following examination whether your case is classed as curable, doubtful or hopeless.

The length of time your Cancer has been developing has nothing whatever to do with the classification; it all depends upon the stage of advancement, extent of constitutional invasion, condition of general health, etc. Cases listed in the first class are those in which we are most certain of successful results. In the second class are listed those cases which we believe to be curable, but yet a measure of doubt exists; that is, we are not positive a cure can be effected. The third class comprises all cases that we know we cannot cure, and it is this class of patients that we do not accept for treatment except as before mentioned.

Do not delay coming to us until your Cancer is so far advanced that it must be listed in the third class. We realize, of course, that some of our afflicted readers will learn of our treatment too late, but there are thousands of others with advanced cases that can be saved if they will come under treatment promptly. If you fear that your Cancer has already passed the curable stage, write us a description of present conditions, and we will gladly give you our opinion and tell you whether we believe it will be worth while for you to visit us. The most satisfactory way, however, will be for you to visit us personally, and, after examination, we can tell you exactly what your prospects are for recovery.

We hope you will see the danger of delay and that the truths and scientific facts about Cancer as presented in every page of this book will be conclusive proof that there is help for you. There is no evidence lacking; the only question of recovery by medical treatment (non-surgical) in any accessible and curable case of Cancer is merely a matter of the patient coming under treatment in time.

Your Clothing Requisites

Sometimes patients who are arranging to come for treatment will write to ask if any special outfit of clothing should be brought. To those in doubt, we wish to say that it is not necessary to bring a large amount of clothing, nor any special kind. As a general thing, patients are not required to be away from home longer than three to six weeks, and this can be a guide as to the amount of clothing you should bring.

The wearing apparel should be that which affords the most comfort, the same as you would wear in your own home. We encourage daily walks for exercise, when the weather permits, and in order to get the full beneficial effect of pure, fresh air, deep breathing and sunshine, the clothing must be comfortable.

All dressings, bandages, individual towels, etc., are furnished by us free of charge

CANCER TRUTHS

The above is a photographic view of the Cadillac Hotel, located on the Northeast Corner of 15th and Forest. For the convenience of those who visit our Institution for consultation and treatment, we have made arrangements with the management of this hotel to furnish temporary accommodations. It is only natural that anyone coming here, who is not familiar with the city, wishes some safe, responsible place to go, without having to pay an unreasonable price for accommodations. So, if you arrive in Kansas City, between the hours of 5:00 P. M. and 7:00 A. M., you can go to this hotel with the assurance that you will be given proper care and attention. The next morning you can have an attendant at the hotel call us, and, if you wish, we will send someone after you who will bring you direct to our offices. By this arrangement you will know just where you are going when you reach Kansas City, and you will know that you need have no fears for your safety or welfare.

EVIDENCE

PART II

REPORTS OF CASES TREATED AS TOLD BY THE PATIENTS THEMSELVES

In submitting a list of cured patients, we make no attempt to give the names and addresses of a very large number of those whom we have successfully treated. It is our aim to give sufficient evidence to convince any fair-minded person of our unquestioned success, and to show the class of cases and the conditions under which we are able to cure.

With each issue of our book, the list is revised. Changes are made in address where the patient has moved, so that letters written will not go astray. It is inevitable, too, that quite a few of those who were treated years ago, many of whom had reached a ripe old age at the time of being treated, are passing away on account of senility and from other causes. During the past year there has been a number of deaths among our old cured patients. These names are taken off the list. To my knowledge only one of these deaths has resulted from Cancer.

We would suggest that you write several parties in investigating our treatment, always inclosing a stamped envelope for a reply. Should you fail to receive a reply promptly to any one of your letters, it's possible that the party written might be away from home. By writing several, should one or more fail to answer promptly, you will still hear from a sufficient number to satisfy you.

While it is our desire to give unquestioned evidence of our experience, skill, and success, we do not wish to burden you with a lot of unnecessary reading.

The following statements from those who have used our treatment and know from actual personal experience that Cancer is a curable disease are for your reading and investigation.

It's Just Like One Coming Back From the Grave

Dakotah, Iowa,
Jan. 10, 1923.

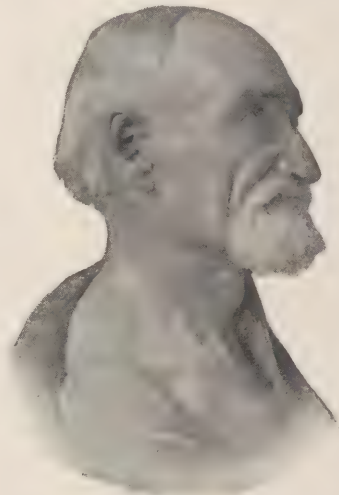

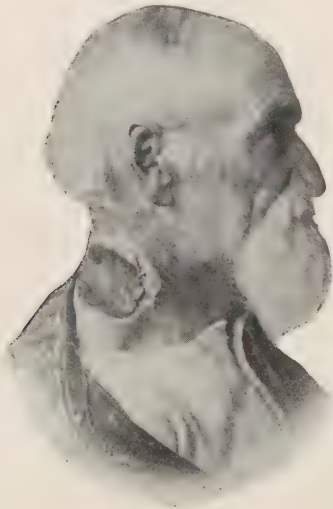

Dr. O. A. Johnson,
Kansas City, Mo.

My Dear Doctor:

I thought maybe I had better write you another testimonial, as it has been so long ago since I was cured some might think I was dead or left the city, but I am still here, stout and hearty, though I am 88 years old. I can pick up more potatoes in a day than any man or boy in the state of Iowa or any other state in America, and not complain of the backache. If my back began to ache I would just

No tongue can tell nor pen portray the joy you have brought to the homes of loved ones you have cured and sent home rejoicing. It's just like one send for a box of your backache pills, which would fix me up all right soon.

Had it not been for your cancer cure I would have been in my grave long ago. It has now been nearly fifteen years ago since I heard of your wonderful cure of that awful disease—cancer—and went to you and was coming back from the grave. May the good Lord bless you and all your kind nurses and doctors, who are ever ready to help you and see to the patient's every want and comfort.

Should you print this little article and anyone wishes to write me, I will be only too glad to answer all questions they may choose to ask me.

May the good Lord bless you for your honesty and brotherly kindness to all who go to you to be healed of that awful disease, cancer, is my sincere prayer.

Yours forevermore,
F. A. SHEELEY.

Skin Cancer in Right Temple

Route 3, Marengo, Ill.,
Jan. 11, 1923.

Dr. O. A. Johnson,
Kansas City, Mo.
Dear Doctor:

It is with pleasure that I take this opportunity to notify you that I am cured.

I had a sore on my right temple which I failed to heal. For 13 years I had tried many different remedies without avail. I was advised to go to Dr. Johnson of Kansas City, Mo.

I went June 23, 1916, and came home August 2d entirely cured, it being over six years, and shows no sign of breaking out. I have improved in health and strength. I feel that I cannot say too much in praise for Dr. Johnson and his kind nurses.

Would be pleased to answer any letters of inquiry in regard to the treatment.

Yours truly,
MRS. HELEN KEENEY.

Cured Me Sound and Well

Lock Box 136, Byers, Colo.,
Dec. 28, 1923.

To Whom This May Concern:

I do hereby say that I believe Dr. O. A. Johnson can and will cure cancer, for he cured me sound and well of one on my lip in June, 1909. I have not seen any signs of anything since. There is almost no scar at all, and my health has been fine ever since.

SILAS N. GOREHAM.

Treated 22 Years Ago

Bendena, Kans., Jan. 8, 1923.
Dr. O. A. Johnson,
Kansas City, Mo.

My Dear Doctor:

I gladly testify to the good your treatment has done me. I had a cancer on the right side of my nose, at which I became greatly alarmed. A friend told me of the wonderful cure she had received from you.

My cancer had been developing for eighteen months when I commenced your treatment on June 5, 1900. On July 1st I was entirely cured. There is scarcely any scar left, and I have no fears that it will ever give me any further trouble.

I am very thankful for what you did for me. I will always speak in your favor, and will gladly answer all letters regarding your treatment. I am never too busy to answer a sufferer and advise them to try Dr. Johnson's treatment, for I feel confident they will not regret it. I am willing to certify that I believe Dr. Johnson's cures are permanent and I know three others he has cured, besides myself, who will certify to the same.

Yours as ever,
MRS. M. P. BURKE.

Presbyterian Minister Pays Tribute to Dr. Johnson

Tye, Tex., Jan. 24, 1923.
Dr. O. A. Johnson,
Kansas City, Mo.

Dear Doctor:

I am very thankful that I went to your institution for treatment. I conscientiously believe that it is the best there is. I cannot say too much about your institution, your staff and your help.

When I came home from your hospital, many of my friends asked me about your treatment, and when I told them of your success they said they were glad that there was such an institution that suffering people could go to.

My advice to people suffering with cancer or with piles is to go to Dr. Johnson at once, and if there is anything that can be done, he and his staff can take care of you.

May the Lord spare your life and give you health so that you can continue the good work.

Give my best wishes to all.

Yours fraternally,

REV. E. S. TUCKER,
Presbyterian Minister of the U. S. A.
Church.

Believes Dr. Johnson Saved His Life

Box 261, Silverton, Colo.,
Jan. 12, 1923.

Dr. O. A. Johnson,
Kansas City, Mo.

Dear Doctor:

I am well and sound as regards my cancer, and I have no sign of it coming back. I think I owe you, Doctor, the saving of my life, as the cancer soon would have eaten my face off.

You can publish this in your paper and book, as it might help others, as I am well known in this part of the country. I will be glad to answer anyone writing me about it.

Cancer on Arm and Face

Route 1, Box 34, McQueen, Okla.
Jan. 30, 1923.

Dr. O. A. Johnson,
Kansas City, Mo.

Dear Doctor:

I went to Kansas City, Mo., September 8, 1917, to be treated for cancer by Dr. O. A. Johnson.

I had a cancer on my left arm between my elbow and wrist about the size of a dollar. I also had a cancer under my right eye about the size of a dime. Both were getting larger all the time. Dr. O. A. Johnson commenced to doctor me September 9th, and in four weeks and two days I started for home cured, and had gained seven pounds in weight, and in sixty days I gained 20 pounds.

I will answer all letters sent to me in regard to the treatment I received while at Kansas City.

BERT SMITH.

My Awful Cancer Is Gone

Box 15, Rolla, Kans.

Jan. 1, 1923.

Dr. O. A. Johnson,
Kansas City, Mo.

Dear Doctor:

I feel it my duty, as well as a pleasure to inform you that my awful cancer is gone, and not even a bad scar is left. My left hand is as stout as the right one, although the cancer was on the back of it for five years before I went to you to have it cured, which was the 9th of January, 1918. I was only at Dr. Johnson's three weeks when the cancer came out.

I can most heartily recommend Dr. Johnson, and his kind doctors and nurses, too. Anyone who is afflicted with cancer should lose no time in getting their case in Dr. Johnson's care, as he can sure cure cancers.

Will gladly answer any letters that may come to me about my cure and Dr. Johnson's treatment.

It gives me great pleasure to testify to the perfect health I have after using your wonderful cure for cancer.

Successfully Treated for Cancer of the Breast Following Two Surgical Operations

204 W. Reed St., Red Oak, Iowa.

Jan. 21, 1923.

Dr. O. A. Johnson,
Kansas City, Mo.

Dear Doctor:

I am glad to add my testimonial to the many you have received regarding the efficiency of your treatment for cancer.

It has now been fourteen years since you dismissed me as cured of cancer of the right breast. The cure has been a permanent one, as I consider sufficient time has elapsed since you dismissed me for it to return if it was going to, so I feel that I am perfectly safe in giving my testimonial. There has never been a sign of the disease returning since you said I was cured.

After having seen our home doctor he told me I would have to have an operation, but did not wish to frighten me by saying that I had cancer of the breast. I went to Omaha to consult a specialist, who said I must have an operation at once. I was operated on July 30, 1908, and again September 1, 1908, but was not cured.

Having heard of Dr. Johnson and his wonderful success in the treatment of cancer, I concluded to try his treatment, which proved very successful in my case. I went under Dr. Johnson's treatment December 29, 1908. I am now enjoying good health, for which I am very thankful.

I can recommend Dr. Johnson's treatment to other sufferers from cancer.

Yours truly,
MISS ANNA GOOD.

Will Merit Your Confidence

Route 1, Oakley, Kans.,

Jan. 5, 1923.

Dr. O. A. Johnson,
Kansas City, Mo.

Dear Doctor:

If my endorsement of your excellent treatment for cancer will add anything to the mass of evidence you already have of your ability to cure the disease, I am only too glad to give it. And it is given with the same eagerness and spirit that others of your patients have expressed, namely, that of bringing hope to some discouraged cancer sufferer.

For the benefit of those afflicted I will say that I had a cancer just below my right eye against the side of my nose. It had been on me a little less than a year, and as it was of rather slow growth it was not much larger than a silver dime when I had it treated. I went under treatment February 13, 1917, and was discharged as cured just two weeks later.

I have never observed the slightest indication of further trouble, therefore I am convinced my cure is permanent. The scar where the cancer was removed is so very slight that it cannot be noticed, or at any rate one would have to look very close to find it.

Aside from my treatment with Dr. Johnson, I have had other business dealings with him, and have always found him a man of his word. All of his patients, I believe, will agree with me that anyone can depend on what Dr. Johnson tells him, professionally or in a business way.

In view of the foregoing my unqualified recommendation is given. I feel sure that Dr. Johnson will never, in word or act, abuse the confidence I have placed in him.

Yours very truly,
A. L. MILLER.

I Feel Satsified Now That I Am Perfectly Cured

Onaga, Kans., Jan. 18, 1923.

Dr. O. A. Johnson,
Kansas City, Mo.

Dear Sir:

It is now nearly fourteen years since I took treatment from you for a tumor, or cancer, under my chin. I feel satisfied now that I am perfectly cured.

The doctor here wanted me to go to Kansas City and have it cut out, which I would not do. I heard of you and went to you, and in about four weeks came home cured.

With a feeling of true gratitude toward you, and a sincere desire to bring hope and encouragement to those unfortunates afflicted with that terrible disease, I am taking this opportunity of publicly endorsing your medical treatment for cancer.

I will cheerfully answer all correspondence directed to me concerning the details of the treatment of my case.

Thanking you for your courteous treatment and permanent cure, and wishing you continued success, I am,

Very gratefully yours,
A. McCLELLAN.

Dudley, Mo., Dec. 31, 1922.

Dr. O. A. Johnson,
Kansas City, Mo.

Dear Doctor:

I am very happy to say that my cancer is cured, and am feeling well. Dr. Johnson cured me of cancer of the left breast, and I know he cured others that were afflicted as I was.

I am pleased to give this testimonial letter and wish to see all the people that take treatment as well pleased as I am.

I cannot thank Dr. Johnson enough for what he has done for me, and may you go to him in time and be as greatly benefited, is my sincere wish.

Yours truly,
MRS. ALMA WALTER.

Suffered Intensely For 25 Years

Frankfort, Kans., Jan. 4, 1923.

Dr. O. A. Johnson,
Kansas City, Mo.

Dear Friend and Doctor:

After fifteen years of being entirely free from suffering from a tumor, which Dr. Johnson removed, I am heartily glad to recommend Dr. Johnson and his treatment to any afflicted either with tumor or cancer.

I had suffered intensely for 25 years with a tumor on my limb and in June, 1907, Dr. Johnson began his treatment, and each day, until the 1st of July, I was at his office. After returning home I continued treatment until in August. At that time the wound was entirely healed, and I have never had the slightest soreness in the limb, and it is entirely healed and perfectly normal.

I saw many cases of cancer while taking my treatment that were cured, and I can only give Dr. Johnson my highest praise and commendation, and consider him one of the eminent men of the day. I found Dr. Johnson a very frank, kind-hearted, and ever courteous man, and certainly a physician of marked ability.

Wishing him the best of success and ever ready to give my heartiest support and praise for his work, I am,

Sincerely,

MRS. J. S. DODSON.

R. 1, Genoa, Ark., Jan. 17, 1923.

Dr. O. A. Johnson,
Kansas City, Mo.

Dear Doctor

I am sending you this testimonial, which you may use at any time you think it will benefit someone suffering from cancer.

When I first noticed my cancer it was about the size of a small nutmeg. It did not pain me until about one year after I noticed it, but grew steadily all the while. I went to see my home doctor and he advised me to have it cut out, but we decided not to have that done.

Finally I had trouble with my stomach and bowels. I went to a Chiropractic doctor, who relieved my stomach, but did not stop the lump in my breast from growing. About this time, or a little later, I heard of Dr. O. A. Johnson, and decided to try his treatment, which I commenced October 18, 1916.

I am sound and well; no pains anywhere and no appearance of the cancer returning

Yours truly,

MRS. M. L. KEMP.

I Had Confidence in You Because of Your Plain Statement of Facts

Tipperary, Iowa, Jan. 5, 1923.
Dr. O. A. Johnson,
Kansas City, Mo.

Dear Doctor:

It was the latter part of September, 1914, that I came to you for treatment of a cancer on the right side of my nose, which had been troubling me for a year and a half.

Previous to coming to you my cancer had been cut twice within three months, but neither time did I get any lasting benefit. I was made happy when you said you could cure me, and you did just what you said you would.

I had confidence in you, Doctor, because of your plain statement of facts, and also because you had treated and cured my mother-in-law, Mrs. Mary Tucker, of Grinnell, Iowa, several years ago.

Thus far my experience with you has been satisfactory, and I am glad to recommend you and advise cancer sufferers to go to you for treatment. I am sure you will treat them right and cure them if they will give you a fair chance.

If anyone writes to me, please have them send a self-addressed and stamped envelope, and I will gladly verify this statement.

Yours respectfully,
MRS. M. J. TUCKER.

I Came Home Cured

La Harpe, Kans., Dec. 31, 1922.

Dear Doctor:

After one month's treatment for cancer on my face, I came home cured and am perfectly well.

I am thankful for such a man as Dr. Johnson.

Mr. Duncan Was Treated 13 Years Ago and Now Feels That He Is Permanently Cured

Sheldon, Mo., Jan. 13, 1923.
Dr. O. A. Johnson,
Kansas City, Mo.

Dear Sir:

It has now been thirteen years since you cured me of cancer on the back of the neck. I have never had any symptoms of return whatever and am enjoying perfect health. I feel now like I am permanently cured.

I cannot speak too highly of your method of curing cancer, and anyone afflicted with one I would advise to consult you before treating them, for if they can be cured at all you certainly can do the work.

Wishing you all success, I am,

Yours truly,
W. H. DUNCAN.

Relieved After 15 Years' Affliction

Tryon, Nebr., Jan. 8, 1923.
Dear Dr. Johnson:

I am writing to thank you for the great good you have done for me in removing several cancers for me. The one on my forehead was of about fifteen years' standing. It had been removed several times, but it had always returned until there were five different scabs on my forehead.

February, 1920, a lump came on my shoulder, which our family doctor pronounced cancer. So in May I went to Kansas City and to your office, where you started to treat them for me. I stayed about five weeks and before I left, the places on my forehead were all healed, with hardly a scar to show where they had been, and the shoulder is entirely well, and my general health is fine.

I shall be glad to recommend you to anyone who cares to write me about your treatment. Give my love to your little nurse, Mrs. Rice, and my regards to all the force.

Yours very truly,
MRS. L. E. PYZER.

After 13 Years I Feel Positive Dr. Johnson Has Permanently Cured Me

Percy, Iowa, Jan. 22, 1923.

Dr. O. A. Johnson,
Kansas City, Mo.

Dear Doctor:

As the years go by with no signs of a recurrence of that most malignant disease, cancer, with which I was afflicted, words fail me in the expression of my gratitude to you for a cure, which, without question, is permanent.

For two years there was on my lower lip a small growth that annoyed me considerably and which, upon examination, proved to be an epithelioma cancer. I was treated by a local physician for more than a year, during which time he pronounced it cured; but in a short time it returned and rapidly increased in size.

I consulted others, some of whom advised the X-ray, while another, one of the leading physicians of Des Moines, thought an operation necessary. I had always had a horror of operations, but finally consented and made arrangements for it; but when on my way to the hospital, I met J. B. Stewart, of Runnells, Iowa, who had been successfully treated by you, and upon his recommendation I went to Kansas City instead of the hospital.

During my stay there I was treated with the utmost courtesy, and, after thirteen years, I feel positive that Dr. Johnson's medical treatment has permanently cured me, and heartily recommend it to any who are afflicted with cancer.

I would be glad to answer any correspondence from anyone suffering from cancer who is desirous of knowing the details of my cure.

Thanking you again for your kindness and the good health I enjoy, and sincerely wishing all cancer patients may come to you, I am,

Very gratefully yours,
JOHN HOLY.

You Cured Me of a Very Bad Case

Burkett, Nebr., Jan. 20, 1923.

Dr. O. A. Johnson,
Kansas City, Mo.

Dear Doctor:

I am in receipt of your letter inquiring concerning the cancers you cured for me, for there was a crop of them.

I am now all right. I took your treatment about thirteen or fourteen years ago and am all right today. You cured me of a very bad case. I do thank the great God of Heaven and earth that He has sent such a good doctor.

You may use my name in your book in any way you wish, as your medicine is all right.

Yours very truly,
MRS. J. McGREW.

Dr. O. A. Johnson,
Kansas City, Mo.

Dear Doctor:

I thought I would write you a few lines to let you know that I am getting along fine. It is with pleasure I write that it is nearly fourteen years since you cured me of cancer on the lower lip. The scar is so small that the people who don't know me will not notice it.

Dear Doctor, you will probably remember that I said, when I came to you, that many doctors had tried to cure my lip, but failed to do so. If I could only speak to all cancer sufferers and tell them of your method of curing cancers; but, as I cannot do that, I will gladly answer any letters that come to me in regard to your method of curing cancers. Your Treatment for Cancer, if Taken in Time, Is a Sure Cure

911 Laramie St., Manhattan, Kans.

Jan. 16, 1923.

Dr. O. A. Johnson,
Kansas City, Mo.

Dear Sir and Friend:

In regard to giving you an endorsement for the treatment you gave me for cancer of the face, I can say that your treatment for cancer, if taken in time, is a sure cure.

I would advise anyone afflicted with cancer to go to you at once. It is now over eight years and seven months since you treated me and I must say that the cancer has never troubled me since. I will further say that the two cancers on the left side of my face near the left temple are cured for all time and there is no trace of them to be seen. I am feeling better today than ever before.

Doctor, if you see fit to publish the above facts, I am perfectly willing you should do so.

Hoping you will have good success in your business, I am,

Yours with respect,

My Eye Is Perfectly Cured

Route 3, Monroe, Iowa.

Jan. 19, 1923.

Dr. O. A. Johnson,
Kansas City, Mo.

Dear Doctor:

I received a letter from you a few days ago asking for a report of the final results in my case.

I firmly and conscientiously believe that my eye is perfectly cured by the treatment I received from you in November, 1917.

I cannot say too much in praise of your institution, your treatment and your staff of help.

The cancer you cured for me was on the left eye, extending from the bridge of the nose to the lid of my eye. There is nothing left but the scar, and that doesn't bother me. I feel now that I can safely recommend your treatment as a genuine and permanent cure for cancer.

I frequently tell others of your success and advise them to take your treatment. My advice to all afflicted with cancer is not to wait, but go to Dr. Johnson, and if there is anything that can be done, he and his able staff will take care of you.

May God spare your life and give you health that you may continue the good work.

I give you permission to refer anyone suffering from cancer to me, and I will gladly tell them what I know of you and your treatment.

Give my best wishes to all, especially to Miss Patterson, who was my nurse.

Mr. Lust, myself and family send best wishes to all.

Respectfully yours,

No Faith in the Use of the Knife

Unionville, Mo., Jan. 31, 1923.
Dr. O. A. Johnson,
Kansas City, Mo.

Dear Doctor:

Wishing the afflicted to know of my permanent cure of cancer, I make the following statement, which may be of interest to you, and also to those who may be anxious to get cured of cancer.

In the winter of 1902 there appeared on my left cheek a little scale or scab that annoyed me some by an itching and burning sensation, and in other ways that were unpleasant. It gradually developed into an unhealing sore.

I consulted many physicians about my case. Some would tell me that it was epithelioma cancer, and would add that by the use of the knife sometimes they could rid the patient of cancer. To our knowledge, where the knife was used, they had invariably gotten rid of the patient.

Thus, having no faith in the use of the knife, and after spending more money for patent medicine that was recommended for the cure of cancer than your entire treatment cost me, in October, 1909, I began treatment at your office.

In ten days, by the use of your medical treatment, my cancer was killed and dropped out. In one month the sore had entirely healed, leaving only a very small scar.

I am now past 74 years old and in excellent health. Many thanks to you, Doctor, for same. I will ever praise your treatment, and will appreciate the opportunity to recommend same to anyone suffering with cancer.

I will answer any question in regard to my case that anyone wishes to ask.

Very truly yours,
J. N. HODSON.

Don't Prolong Your Suffering

Dr. O. A. Johnson,
Kansas City, Mo.

Dear Doctor:

Please excuse me for not writing you sooner. My intentions were good, but I neglected it for one reason or another.

I am glad to say that I think I have a perfect cure of the cancer on my face, as there is no sign of it returning. It healed up nicely and left but very little scar. I hope, and believe, it is a permanent cure.

I am 83 years old. The cancer on my face had been coming three years. I arrived at your place ready for treatment February 14, 1918, and returned home March 15, 1918. I consider I was very fortunate in getting cured so nicely and in such short time. I have no regrets, except that I did not hear of you before I did. I might just as well have been cured long before I was and saved myself worry and anxiety.

I gladly testify to the value of your cancer treatment. My earnest advice to anyone with cancer is to go to you early. They who hesitate are prolonging their suffering and making it more difficult and more expensive to be cured.

I will recommend your treatment whenever I can, and will try to answer any letters written to me to verify this statement of my cure.

With best wishes to you, Doctor, and the good nurses that took care of me, I am,

Very truly yours,
B. W. HARDIN.

I Met Many Cancer Patients at Your Place and I Did Not See a Man or Woman but What Was Satisfied With Your Treatment

Unionville, Mo. Jan. 28. 1923

Dr. O. A. Johnson,
Kansas City, Mo.

Dear Doctor:

I am so well pleased with your services, and having such intimate knowledge of your great work, I want to offer my support to your institution for the good it may do others.

For two or three years I was troubled with something on the right side of my nose. It did not seem to amount to anything at first and I kept thinking it would disappear. Instead of getting better, the place seemed to gradually get worse until finally the growth broke out into a sore. The place was discharging and gave me considerable annoyance by a clawing, crawling and burning sensation. This condition went on for a year and a half, when I came to realize I had something more serious than a simple sore or ulcer.

I began to have serious thoughts of having it treated, and on the advice of my friend, Mr. J. N. Hodson, who now lives here, and whom you cured of cancer some years ago, I went to Kansas City to see you. Mr. Hodson thought my trouble was cancer, and so did I, and our fears were confirmed by your diagnosis. You told me you could cure me, and that was just what I wanted to hear. I remained under personal treatment three weeks and two days, from March 22, 1915.

I met many cancer patients at your place, and as strange as it may seem, I did not see a man or woman but what was satisfied with your treatment. One man came in about a week after I did, who had a cancer just like mine and in the same place. I have since learned that he was cured, as well as others whom I met while there.

You have cured many persons in this part of Missouri, Doctor, and we all think well of you. I don't know of anyone now having cancer, but if I hear of anyone becoming afflicted with the disease you may be sure that I and the rest of your friends here will see that the unfortunate one gets to you at once, where he can be safely and permanently cured.

I thank you for the courtesies extended me by yourself, associate physicians and nurses.

With best wishes for your success and assuring you I will call on you whenever I come to the city, I am,

Yours very truly,

J. D. HALLEY.

Dear Doctor:

It is with pleasure that I write you this letter to inform you that you have cured me of a very bad case of cancer on the left eye. It was with me 20 years before I ever noticed your advertisement.

My cancer started as a little pimple or wart. It was the 21st of November, 1913, that I came to your place, and inside of four weeks I was entirely cured.

I recommend you as one of the best doctors to cure cancer, and I am very thankful for your work. I have told a great many people of you, and will always continue to.

I Am Indeed Very Thankful

Logan, Iowa, Feb. 1, 1923.

Dr. O. A. Johnson,
Kansas City, Mo.

Dear Sir:

I am indeed very thankful to be able to state to the people that Dr. O. A. Johnson can cure cancer. My advice is: Go to Dr. Johnson as soon as you know you have a cancer started. It takes less time to get them cured. I had a cancer started on my lower lip and went and stayed with the Doctor three weeks in February, 1911, came home and have worked every day since. I think my lip is cured. Anyone wishing to hear from me can write to me and I will be sure to praise Dr. Johnson's cancer remedy as high as I can.

I hope this testimonial will be the means of sending all cancer sufferers to Dr. Johnson's, where they can be cured.

Two of My Neighbors Were Cured by Dr. Johnson

To Whom It May Concern:

Will say I had cancer on the lower lip for four years. I consulted several doctors and all said to cut it out. Two of my neighbors had had a cancer similar to mine; one cured fourteen years ago and the other one nine years ago by Dr. Johnson. They told me to go to Dr. Johnson, and I did. I went there May 29, 1912, and in six weeks I was home, cured.

I cannot say too much for Dr. Johnson, and he has a fine lot of nurses and helpers, who showed me every kindness.

Could Look for No Cure by Means of Operations

706 So. Division St.,
Ann Arbor, Mich.,
Jan. 18, 1923.

Dr. O. A. Johnson,
Kansas City, Mo.

Dear Doctor Johnson:

As I am still enjoying such good health after being cured of cancer by you, I thought I would write to you again in regard to the circumstances of my case.

You will probably remember that when I first wrote you, seventeen years ago last fall, I had the right breast removed at the hospital here on account of cancer; a lump on the breast, which I first noticed some months before. The operation seemed successful, but six months after the operation I found a lump on my neck, which the doctors said was cancer, and I had it removed. Two weeks later another one appeared on the neck, and I began to realize that I could look for no cure by means of operations, although I had had the best doctors in the hospital here. It was then that I wrote to you, although my doctors told me that my only hope was in further operations.

I started your treatment and found that the left breast was by this time also infected, so you treated the breast and the lump on my neck. In six months the disease was removed from both places and entirely healed up, but I was in such a run-down condition that I took your tonic for some time afterwards. I continued to build up, gain in weight, got a clear complexion and felt like a new person.

There has not been the least sign of the disease returning, and there is no doubt but what I would not have lived a year after my second operation had I not treated with you.

I wish you every success in your work and it certainly pleases me to see how your business has grown in the last fifteen years. I am, at any time, ready to heartily recommend your treatment to anyone suffering with this disease.

Very truly yours,
MRS. L. M. GRAUPNER.

Clarinda, Iowa, Jan. 12, 1923.

Dr. O. A. Johnson,
Kansas City, Mo.

Dear Doctor:

It has been over five years since I took treatment at your office for the cancer under my right eye. I am very proud to say that I feel confident the treatment I received is very successful, as up to the present time there are no symptoms whatever of anything but a permanent cure. There is no soreness in my face at any time that would cause me to think anything but that it was a successful treatment and a permanent cure; therefore, I feel that a statement from me is justly due you, and hope that I may be of some service in advising others who may be afflicted with cancer to consult with you before taking other treatment.

Thanking you again, I am,

The Retrospection of Those Years Brings to Me Only One Regret That I Did Not Take Your Treatment One Year Earlier

47 N. Church St., Tucson, Ariz.
Feb. 1, 1923.

O. A. Johnson, M.D.,
Kansas City, Mo.

Dear Doctor:

Being aware of your desire to keep in touch with your former patients, and as I have not written to you for over one year, I thought it high time you were hearing from me.

It is a little over thirteen years since you cured me of epithelioma Genitalis by your medical treatment. It is highly gratifying to me to be able to inform you that since the date of my cure, July 7, 1909, not the slightest symptom of recurrence of the cancer has appeared; and my health being excellent since that date, I have every reason to believe that the cure is of permanent character.

The retrospection of those years brings to me only one regret, i. e., that I did not take your treatment one year earlier, thereby avoiding months of intense, almost unbearable, physical and mental suffering I endured previous to calling at your office.

Most heartily do I commend your medical treatment for the cure of cancer, and I would earnestly advise all persons afflicted with cancer to call on you without a minute's unnecessary delay, and take your treatment until cured.

You may refer to me anyone afflicted with cancer as I was, and I will cheerfully give him a detailed description of my case and its cure by your treatment. You also have my permission to publish this letter if you see fit to do so.

Again thanking you for the cure you

I Doctored Here for 3 Years, But it Did Not Help Me

Charter Oak, Iowa, Jan. 27, 1923.
Dr. O. A. Johnson,
Kansas City, Mo.
My Dear Friend:

It is nearly nine years since you cured me of my cancer on the neck. I couldn't tell that I ever had cancer, only when I wash my neck I can feel the scar. Then I think of Dr. O. A. Johnson, who cured me.

I doctored here for three years, but it did not help me. I came to Dr. O. A. Johnson, and he made a quick process of it. In three weeks my cancer was out and I could go home. I am rid of it and I know it will never come back.

My dear Doctor, I think I will come and visit you this fall.

With best regards, I am,

Your dear friend,
LOUIS MESENBRINK.

Went to Right Place—Dr. Johnson's Institution.

1539 South 22d St., Lincoln, Nebr.,
Feb. 11, 1923.

Dr. O. A. Johnson,
Kansas City, Mo.
Dear Doctor:

I came to you for treatment the 21st day of October and was under your treatment till December the 24th, 1921.

I was troubled with cancer on my right temple, also a growth on the left side of face near the ear. I had cancer on the back of my left hand. The cancers had been hurting me for about seven months, my general health was very poor at the time I commenced treatment from Dr. Johnson.

But I gained in health soon after I took treatment. I stayed nine weeks and came home all right, so far as I can see at the present.

I think when I went to Dr. Johnson's institution that I went to the right place, for I have been growing stronger ever since I went. I received the kindest and best treatment I ever had.

I appreciate the kind nurses and all who are engaged in work in Dr. O. A. Johnson's institution for the relief of the suffering and I will advise all that I meet who are suffering from cancer, to go right away to Dr. O. A. Johnson.

I took the treatment, and I am thankful that I did. I will answer any letters of inquiry in regard to treatment.

Yours respectfully,
MRS. MARY SAPPENFIELD.

Texas Legislator Writes Powerful Message Endorsing Dr. Johnson

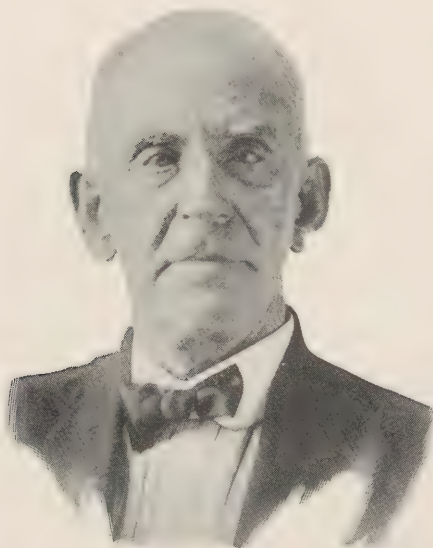

Waelder, Tex., Jan. 13, 1923.

Dear Dr. Johnson:

I can scarcely realize that nearly three years have passed away since I received my discharge from you. How true the declaration of the poet:

"Time flies with incurrent speed,
And takes away our breath."

I have remained silent several months for the reason that I wanted to be sure I had received a permanent cure. I now state without the slightest hesitancy that in my opinion not only have both of my cancers been permanently cured by you, but that your very efficient constitutional treatment has eliminated all the poisonous matter from my system, hence my general health has been built up; in fact, it is better than it has been for ten years. I desire from the very depths of my heart to thank not only you, but every member of your staff, including your nurse and secretary, for the very efficient kind and courteous treatment I received while I remained in your institution. The kind words and courteous treatment are golden links in the chain of my memory on which I shall ever delight to dwell.

As the record of a case on appeal in the higher courts has no standing without a statement of facts, so a letter from a former patient that omits to state the facts concerning his case is not very convincing; hence I am going to submit a brief statement relative to my case.

About three years before going to you a small sore appeared on the left side of my face, nearly an inch from the opening of my ear. For the first eight months I tried out the various salves to be found in the drug stores, but the little sore gradually grew worse. I then resorted to the doctors; the first one treated me with an electric needle, but I received no benefit therefrom. I doctored a while at home, after which I spent three weeks in San Antonio, eight weeks in Houston and eleven in Galveston. While being treated in Galveston, another cancer appeared—it was on my left ear. About that time I concluded to "strain a point" and go to Dr. Johnson and receive not only local, but constitutional treatment. I did, and in less than eight weeks both cancers were cured.

Had I gone to Dr. Johnson nine months earlier (when I first received his book, "Cancer Truths"), I would have saved two out of the four doctor bills and doubtless would have received a cure inside of three weeks, thus saving me expense, pain and time.

To every person suffering with a cancer, I would urge you to lose no time in going to Dr. Johnson. Great specialist as he undoubtedly is, he is not performing miracles. You can put off going too long, thereby needlessly sacrificing your life. If I can give any person who is suffering with a cancer additional information touching my experience, etc., I will gladly do so by answering his letter.

Very truly yours,
C. K. WALTER.

Dr. O. A. Johnson,
Kansas City, Mo.

Dear Doctor:

You will remember that it is ten years ago this winter that I went to you to be treated for varicose ulcers on my ankles, which had been running sores for over a year, and my home doctors failed to give me any relief.

I was under Dr. Johnson's care five weeks from January 21, 1913, and my sores were all healed up and I came home happy and rejoicing. One of the nurses told me they had over forty cancer patients under treatment at that time, and I talked with many of them and they all praised Dr. Johnson, and said they would have been in their graves had it not been for Dr. Johnson. It did my heart good to see how happy the cured ones were when they would start for home. There were cured patients going home and others coming for treatment all the while.

Now, I would advise all who have cancer, a lump or a growth of any kind, to go straight to Dr. Johnson. If there is anything that can be done, he will surely do it. I beg of you not to wait till the cancer has almost eaten you up, for then it is too late. Don't dread the knife, for Dr. Johnson doesn't use the knife.

If anybody wants to write to me concerning Dr. Johnson's treatment, they are at liberty to do so, and I will gladly answer.

Your grateful patient,
MRS. ALMA JACKSON.

Cancer of the Right Breast Treated 12 Years Ago

Auburn, Wash., Jan. 1, 1923.

Dr. O. A. Johnson,
Kansas City, Mo.

Dear Doctor:

I can truly say I am glad to recommend Dr. Johnson's treatment for cancer to all who are afflicted with that dreaded disease.

I suffered with cancer of the right breast for about a year, which was of a very rapid growth, and at the time I went to Dr. Johnson for treatment it had reached the stage of blood poison.

It is now over thirteen years ago and the cancer has shown no indications of returning, and my general health is better than it ever was before; so I feel that I am permanently cured.

While there taking treatment, I saw many different kinds of cancer that were cured, so I heartily recommend anyone who is suffering from cancer to go to Dr. Johnson, but don't put it off until it is too late.

I shall be glad to answer any inquiries from anyone in regard to Dr. Johnson's treatment.

Very respectfully yours,
MRS. MARY C. HENDRICKS.

Col. J. R. Ratekin, of Omaha, Nebr. Writes an Interesting Letter Nearly 15 Years After Treatment

2424 Pinkney St., Omaha, Nebr.,
Jan'y 17, 1923.

Dr. O. A. Johnson,
Kansas City, Mo.

Dear Doctor:

It has been a long time since I last wrote you or heard anything from you, and was sure pleased to receive your letter of recent date making inquiry as to my health and other things. I wish to assure you, nevertheless, I have never forgotten since taking treatment from you for cancer on my left breast sixteen years ago this January.

Prior to the time I went to see and consult you, I had been troubled constantly for four or five years, and at times quite severely, from nervousness, itching, burning and drawing sensations that were not only annoying, but very painful. Notwithstanding this, I was reluctant about making a visit to consult you, as my mother had died from cancer troubles; also my own dear wife, who had been operated on under the knife on two different occasions, and treated by a specialist with a plaster treatment, after many months of painful suffering, died. Therefore, I had but little confidence in cancer specialists, but finally felt driven to do, or try to do, something and decided to visit you.

After consulting you, you told me plainly that it was cancer, although I did not need to be told this, as I knew that much about it; but when you told me that you could cure me it was quite a relief to me. I think it was about the most satisfactory and pleasing thing that could have been told to anyone.

You gave me one treatment and asked me to remain with you one week, after which I could go home, and that if I would treat myself intelligently, strictly according to directions, I would, in one, two or three months, be relieved and well. I observed the treatment closely and asked if you expected to continue the same treatment while I remained with you. You replied the treatment would be the same. Being at a very busy season, doing clerical and office work at the time, I asked you to let me return home—that I could administer the treatment myself—which you consented to, and I returned the same day I met you at your office. I reported my condition carefully and accurately each week.

Up to the present time, which is sixteen years ago, I have not had an hour's uneasiness or trouble. I don't mean to say I felt myself cured in two weeks, but did feel a wonderful relief from the nervousness, itching and burning pain I had undergone for five previous years. I reported to you regularly and kept up your treatment, perhaps even longer than necessary, for five or six months—long after all symptoms had disappeared.

Since that time I have never had any signs or symptoms of recurrence. If I had, I surely would have been back to see you again. This, however, does not imply that I have not seen you since, for I have visited your city many times and have always called on you to pay my compliments and extend to you my best wishes in return for what you have done for me.

It has also been my good pleasure to recommend quite a number of my afflicted friends to you, and so far as I know all who have gone to you have been successfully treated and came back with thankful hearts, praising the manner in which you treated them.

With personal kind regards and best wishes, I beg to remain,

Sincerely yours,

COL. J. R. RATEKIN.

Gives Doctor and Nurses All the Praise

115 E. 17th St., Warrensburg, Mo.,

Jan. 6, 1923.

Dr. O. A. Johnson,
Kansas City, Mo.

Dear Doctor:

It was six years the 6th of last December that I came to you for examination for a trouble on my limb which had been pronounced cancer by some, and a tumor by others. When you examined it you told me you could cure me. I commenced treatment at once and I was under your care six weeks. When I came home the tumor or cancer was removed and the place almost healed, which was over three inches in every way. It healed nicely and has never given me any trouble. There are no symptoms of any return, and I feel so thankful and give Dr. Johnson and the nurses all the praise. I think anyone having any trouble like cancer or tumor should not wait, but should go to Dr. Johnson at once. I sure feel thankful that I went to him. I cannot praise him enough.

Now, Doctor, you are at liberty to use this statement if you like.

Yours truly,

MRS. ANNA HARDING.

I Was Given Treatment by a Cancer Doctor, but Was Not Benefited

Columbus, Miss., Jan. 30, 1923.
Dr. O. A. Johnson,
Kansas City, Mo.

Dear Doctor:

I am glad to give my experience with a cancer, hoping it will give some poor sufferer with the same disease encouragement.

I had a growth to appear on my left temple that resembled a mole. After remaining the same size for about two years, it became inflamed and gave me much pain. I also suffered mental anxiety, for I did not believe cancer could be cured. I was given treatment by a cancer doctor, and was not benefited. I also took a month's treatment from Dr. Johnson. As I had no confidence in myself, and did not know what to expect, became discouraged and went to Dr. Johnson to be under his personal care. I remained three weeks, and he pronounced me cured. That has been nearly fifteen years ago. I have had no return of the disease.

I hope all who are suffering with cancer will give Dr. Johnson a trial, and you will never regret it. I think Dr. Johnson is an honest doctor. If he can do you no good, will tell you.

Respectfully,

MRS. I. V. DOTHEROW.

Go to Him Before You Try Others and You Will Not Be Disappointed

Bigelow, Mo., Jan. 18, 1923.
Dr. O. A. Johnson,
Kansas City, Mo.

Dear Doctor:

I was a sufferer from a cancer on my lower lip. I tried several remedies, but none did any good. I heard of Dr. Johnson's success, so went to him and he cured me. That has been more than seventeen years ago. I give him great praise for what he has done for me and what he has done for me he can do for others. I sent my cousin, Mrs. Emily Chunning, of Bigelow, Mo., to Dr. Johnson, and he cured her of a cancer behind the right ear.

I cannot recommend Dr. Johnson too highly for his great work. Go to him before you try others and you will not be disappointed.

I will gladly answer any questions that may be asked me in regard to my case.

Yours truly,

Mother and Daughter Treated

102 Lincoln Ave., Ft. Scott, Kans.,
Jan. 26, 1923.

Dr. O. A. Johnson,
Kansas City, Mo.

Dear Doctor:

Received your kind letter. Will just say that I am pleased to be able to tell you that the mole on my nose had been there for years and you removed it in a few minutes. It is perfectly well and only left a very small white line. It is seven years last June since you treated me.

I also want to tell you, and all that have cancer, that my mother, Mrs. M. E. Johnson, had a cancer removed five years ago, and it is well and never gives her any trouble. She is 84 years old.

I would advise anyone that has cancer, or anything in that line, to go to Dr. Johnson, for I am quite sure that my mother would have been in her grave before this if she had not had the cancer removed from her nose.

I am, very sincerely yours,
MRS. M. E. BAKER.

Free From That Constant Dread of Cancer

Pleasant Hill, Ill., Jan. 22, 1923.
Dr. O. A. Johnson,
Kansas City, Mo.

Dear Doctor:

I received your letter in due time. I am glad to say that the cancer on my lip was cured before I left your institution, and is still cured, with no indications of its returning, and I am free from that constant dread of knowing I had a cancer. My health is good, and I will always feel grateful for the kind attention I received while under your treatment and will always feel grateful to the kind nurses. It was October 3, 1916, that I came to you for treatment.

You have my consent to publish my letter, and I will gladly answer anyone that wants to inquire of me in regard to your treatment and my cure.

With best wishes to all in your institution, I am,

Yours truly,
SAMUEL KELLY.

Take Counsel as I Did

Edwards, Mo., Dec. 30, 1922
Dr. O. A. Johnson,
Kansas City, Mo.

Dear Doctor:

I am very happy to give you my endorsement of your cancer treatment.

I had a cancer of considerable size on my forehead, which had been slowly increasing for two years, and on August 28, 1917, I applied to you for treatment. After six weeks' treatment you dismissed me as cured. I am satisfied now that I have received a permanent cure, and, consequently, I can recommend your treatment to others. My earnest advice to anyone afflicted is to go to you at once. They will be extended every hospitality and receive what is undoubtedly the best cancer treatment known. From my observation while I was at your institution it was plainly evident that the cure of cancer is merely a matter of the patient going under your treatment in time. If all patients could realize this, and, of course, know of your treatment, there would not be nearly so much suffering from this frightful disease.

I did not know of your treatment until one of your former patients told me. Through his good and timely advice I was cured, and I sincerely hope all who read this will take counsel as I did.

If anyone wishes to verify this statement, it will gladly be verified personally by myself and neighbors who know of my former affliction and cure. Or, if you can't call to see me personally, I will be glad to answer any letters if an addressed and stamped envelope is sent.

With best wishes for your success, Doctor, and also wishing your patients the blessings of relief from pain and complete cure, I am,

Yours very truly,
MRS. V. I. PURSLEY.

What Would You Have Done?

Route 2, Belgrade, Mont.,

Dec. 27, 1922.

Dr. O. A. Johnson,

Kansas City, Mo.

Dear Doctor:

To whom this may be of interest, I will say that it was seven years last April since I had a cancer removed from my left cheek by Dr. O. A. Johnson, which left a hole large enough to bury a fifty-cent piece, but has healed over so it left just a small scar.

I first had my cancer treated by a doctor in Belgrade, who wanted to cut it out. I would not submit to this, so he said he could kill it by burning it with the X-ray. He burnt it five times, which seemed to enlarge it. He then examined it and pronounced it entirely killed, but I still had the itching sensation and I would keep rubbing it. When this doctor heard I was going to Dr. Johnson, of Kansas City, he drove out to my place in his auto and tried to stop me from going. He said: "You'll be faked—this man is a fake." I said: "I'm going on the morning train."

When I came back, the doctor again drove out to see me. I showed him the photo of my face that Dr. Johnson had taken of the cancer, and he said: "It's not all cancer that he takes out, and in a year from now we'll see what your face will look like." I said, "It so happens, doctor, that you yourself pronounced it a cancer in my face, and treated it as such, and if another one like it comes on the other side of my face, I'll take the train tomorrow back to this same fake." He then said he was busy and had to get back to town.

I have and shall continue to direct all cancer patients to Dr. O. A. Johnson for a safe and sure cure and kind treatment. I would not know I ever had a cancer, except for the little scar.

I receive your paper, Doctor, and enjoy reading it, because I know that others also have been cured. I thank you for remembering me, and wish you much success in still helping others; also I will answer anyone who wishes word from me direct.

Yours truly,

WM. P. SCHRINK.

Don't Figure the Cost

Shallow Water, Kans., Jan. 3, 1923.

Dr. O. A. Johnson,

Kansas City, Mo.

Dear Doctor:

Five years ago last July 3d I went to Dr. Johnson with four cancers on my face and was there about five weeks. I came home well and there isn't even a scar, and I have no fear they will ever return.

After being there two days, getting acquainted with so many friendly faces and the kind nurses and doctors, it seemed just like home to go to the office. Everybody is jolly, and "How are you?"

I see no reason why anybody should die of cancer, if they go to Dr. Johnson in time. Your delays are dangerous. Just as soon as you are suspicious of cancer, go to Dr. Johnson and he will surprise you. Don't wait till one foot is in the grave and then blame the Doctor if he tells you he can't cure you. And don't experiment; go where they do not fail. That is what I did. I knew what Dr. Johnson had done for two of my friends, and I went believing he could do as much for me, and he did, and I thank heaven for a doctor who can snatch people from such a terrible death as cancer causes.

I feel so fortunate that I heard of Dr. Johnson and his kind help. I will always have a warm place in my heart for them after doing so much for me.

Don't figure the cost of a cure of your cancer. Your life is worth more to you and your family than all the money you could pay for being cured, so don't wait, but go at once and be cured.

If anyone wants to know any more about my cure and experience with Dr. Johnson, write me and I will be more than glad to answer.

Yours respectfully,

MRS. R. A. ROARK.

Had No Hope of Ever Getting Well Again

De Lamere, N. Dak., Dec. 30, 1922.
Dr. O. A. Johnson,
Kansas City, Mo.

Dear Doctor:

Your letter received and with the greatest of pleasure I am writing you this testimonial of what you have done for me through your treatment, and if it will be the means of directing anyone afflicted as I was in coming to you, I am certainly glad to give it.

I was suffering from ulcers of the stomach. Had been afflicted about four years. The symptoms of this disease were fullness after eating. My stomach was sore and tender to the touch. Everything I ate distressed me. nor did I have any appetite to eat anything. At times I would not eat for days; was weak and became tired very easily. My general health was much impaired before I went to you. I had tried 'most everything and I did not have any hope of getting well again, as I had then, in the last four years, consulted several doctors about my case, tried their different methods of treatment, but received no benefit from them, did not even improve me any, but steadily grew worse.

When I first heard of your institution I did not wait long, but went for treatment, and I am now so thankful that I did, for I received wonderful results. You did not only improve me, but I think I can faithfully say that I have been completely cured, for all symptoms of disease have disappeared. I am so glad I stayed with you for treatment, as I am now well and very glad after being sick so long. I am feeling fine and enjoy good health and feel stronger than I have for many years; have a splendid appetite, and sleep well. I am now able to eat most anything without distress, which was impossible before. Have gained my usual weight and still keep gaining right along. Everyone speaks of how well I look and wants to know about your doctoring, and I can give all of the credit and praise to your treatment.

You may print this in whatever way it seems best to you, and can use my name in any way or at any time. I will gladly answer all letters sent me. I'm always ready and anxious to tell anyone afflicted of your treatment and my recovery. I feel so well I want others to know of you, that they may also be restored to health. I would say to all who suffer from this trouble, Go to Dr. Johnson and you will receive the best of treatment, and be cured as I was. I know from my own experience that his is the best and the only place to go to get well.

I wish to thank you most sincerely, Dr. Johnson, for what you did for me during my stay and the interest you took in my case, and feel that you saved my life. You were at all times kind, which means much to a patient when taking treatment.

Again thanking you all very kindly for the treatment received and the good health I enjoy at the present time, and with the best wishes for your continued success, I am,

Your most sincere friend,
MISS MARY ERICKSON.

I would like to tell everybody afflicted as I was what you have done for me. Again thanking you for what you have done for me, I remain, as ever,

Dear Doctor:

It was eight years ago this February 8th, that Mrs. Adams and I came to you for treatment, she suffering from a skin cancer on the nose of two years' growth, and I suffering from a cancer on my neck behind the right ear. My cancer measured about 2x1 1-2 inches, and it first began to show about ten years before I went to you.

Now that eight years have past since you treated us, I think we are safe in recommending your treatment as a permanent cure for cancer, which we cheerfully do. We do this in appreciation of the good work you did for us, and also for the benefit and encouragement it will bring to others afflicted. Naturally, we must believe in your treatment as a cure for cancer, and if at any time we can say or do anything to help a cancer sufferer to go to you for a cure, we will consider it our duty to encourage him all we can.
We know you do not claim to cure any and all cases, but our experience and observation is that you can cure a large percentage of cases. The main thing is for the patient to go to you promptly and not waste time trying first one thing and then another.

We will be glad to answer any letters from those wanting to know what we think of your cancer institution and your ability to cure the disease, and those who may live near enough we should be glad to have them call on us.

We wish you the very best of success, Doctor, with all your patients, and rest assured that we will co-operate with you in every way we can in the interest of those who want to be cured.

Others Can Be as Fortunate If They Don't Wait Too Long

Berryville, Ark., Jan. 2, 1923.

Dr. O. A. Johnson,

Kansas City, Mo.

Dear Doctor:

I willingly give my endorsement of your treatment for cancer, and, in so doing, I hope it will be of encouragement to others to go to you in time to get cured.

My cancer was on the left side of my lower lip and was about the size of a 25-cent piece. It had not been growing many months, so was not very hard to cure. I started treatment the forenoon of April 8, 1915, and was dismissed as cured the 1st of May.

Since I was treated, I have been in Dr. Johnson's office four different times, and each time my lip was pronounced in excellent condition. I invariably found the doctors and nurses busy with many patients, and it was evident they were doing much good for those who were fortunate enough to go for treatment in time.

I was 60 years old at the time of my treatment. I went through the treatment nicely and experienced no serious discomfort. Others can be just as fortunate as I was if they don't wait too long before going to see Dr. Johnson.

I will be glad to verify this statement in a personal letter to anyone if he will send an addressed and stamped envelope.

If you have cancer, I hope you will go to Dr. Johnson just as soon as you can.

Yours truly,

I Was Never Treated Nicer or Ever Given Better Care Than I Was by Dr. Johnson and His Nurses

R. F. D. 1, South Greenfield, Mo.

Feb. 23, 1923.

To Whom It May Concern:

I was treated for cancer on my nose by Dr. Johnson in November, 1912. It began to itch and form a scab or scales two or three years before I went to him.

I saw Dr. Johnson's name in a paper where he treated cancer, so I wrote him and described my case as best I could. Then I went to Kansas City and had him examine it. He said it was cancer and began to treat it and also my general health. I stayed two weeks and the cancer came out. I then returned home and treated it myself with his medicine.

I can say I am cured of the cancer and it left but little scar. My general health is better than it has been for a long time. That has been over ten years ago and no sign of it returning.

I thank God that I went to Dr. Johnson for treatment. I was never treated nicer or ever given better care than I was by Dr. Johnson and his lady nurses.

I have been telling all my friends about him and trust that all who have cancer will go to him for treatment. He can cure you if you don't wait too long.

God bless Dr. Johnson and his treatment.

Yours sincerely,

MRS. S. E. POE.

With Your Cancer

Box 782, Long Beach, Calif.
Jan. 29, 1923.

Dr. O. A. Johnson,
Kansas City, Mo.

Dear Doctor:

It affords me much pleasure in being able, from personal experience, to fully endorse your method of treating that dread disease, cancer.

For about six years I had a cancerous trouble on the side of my nose, and, after experimenting with home doctors without benefit, I went to Kansas City to see what you were doing, and became satisfied to give you a trial. This was December 1, 1912. After three weeks with you I returned home, and I consider myself cured. All I have to show is a scar on the side of my nose, and not a bad scar, either. No sign of further trouble.

My advice is not to let anyone, only a specialist, meddle with those serious troubles. I advise all of those afflicted to go and see Dr. Johnson for themselves.

Yours truly,
E. L. SAWYER.

Safest and Surest Cure for Cancer

Humansville, Mo., Jan. 3, 1923.

Dr. O. A. Johnson,
Kansas City, Mo.

Dear Doctor:

I can personally recommend Dr. O. A. Johnson for the permanent cure of my cancer. I had four different physicians examine me, but was treated by none of them. The cancer was on my face five years. It has been thirteen years since I was cured, and I can safely recommend Dr. Johnson's treatment to persons suffering from cancer as the safest and surest cure for cancer, for I am permanently cured.

On October 22, last year, I was 87 years old. My cancer has never bothered me a bit; it is permanently cured and gives me no trouble at all.

Yours truly,
JOHN N. PRICE.

Warns Everybody to Go in Time

Limon, Colo., Jan. 28, 1923.

Dr. O. A. Johnson,
Kansas City, Mo.

My Dear Sir:

I can say I sincerely thank you and your kind assistants for what you have done for me. I can truthfully say you have cured two cancers for me. I went to Kansas City in November, 1909, and stayed three weeks and had a cancer cured on my left cheek. In 1911 I had to go back and have one cured on my right cheek. I will warn everybody to go in time and not wait too long. If I should have a dozen or more to cure, I would go right straight to Dr. Johnson. May God bless him and may he ever prosper.

If anybody questions this, just write to

The Evidence Was Enough to Satisfy

Greensburg, Kans., Feb. 1, 1923.
Dr. O. A. Johnson,
Kansas City, Mo.

Dear Doctor:

It has been five years last April since I took treatment from you for cancer of the lower lip. I believe I have a permanent cure.

When I went to you I was surprised to find the multitude coming in for treatment and the cured ones leaving most every day. This was evidence enough for me that your treatment was most sure to send the patient home cured.

I cannot thank you enough when I think what the result might have been had I gone elsewhere. One man in our town has had a cancer cut out of his cheek twice in the last year, and now has a hole in his cheek as large as a silver dollar, waiting for it to heal, so they can graft it over.

You are at liberty to use this as a testimonial if you wish. I will certainly answer all inquiries willingly.

Wishing you and all your staff the best of health and prosperity, I remain,
Yours truly,

L. J. NORTHERN.

Your Treatment the Most Certain for the Cure of Cancer

Pawnee City, Nebr., Route 1,

Dear Doctor:

It will soon be sixteen years since you cured the cancer on my nose, and I will have to thank you. I tried three doctors, but they did me no good.

I think your treatment to be the the most certain for the cure of cancer. My experience with you proved you to be a capable specialist and a man of business. I will never forget you for curing the cancer on my nose sixteen years ago. There is no sign of it coming back again.

I am ready to help anyone who has cancer. Will answer any letters and would say to them, Go to Dr. Johnson as soon as you find out you have cancer; the sooner the better.

Treatment All You Claim—Speaks From Experience

2526 Anna Baxter St., Joplin, Mo.,
Jan. 6, 1923.

Dr. O. A. Johnson,
Kansas City, Mo.

Dear Dr. Johnson:

Your treatment for cancer is certainly all you claim for it. In making this statement I am speaking from actual experience.

In August, 1920, I went to you for treatment of a cancer located on the right side of my face near the corner of my eye. The disease had been bothering me for a period of about two years, and it was giving me a great deal of worry and annoyance.

Fortunately, I learned of your treatment, and after writing you for full particulars decided to give you the chance to cure me. I was only at your institution for a little over four weeks, at which time I was able to go home with the disease all removed and the sore almost entirely healed. The healing continued without interruption.

I am today entirely well and working hard and feeling good. I want to say that I thank you for what you have done for me, and hope you will live long to do good for afflicted humanity.

Give my regards to all and accept my very best wishes for yourself.

Gratefully yours,
J. N. CONNELLY.

I Have Been Instrumental in Getting Others to Take His Treatment, Whom He Has Cured Also 534 So. Oak St., Ottawa, Kans.

Jan. 16, 1923.

Dr. O. A. Johnson,
Kansas City, Mo.

Dear Sir:

That I may be helpful to other cancer sufferers, I wish publicly to recommend the treatment I received from Dr. O. A. Johnson.

A cancer developed on the side of my nose and troubled me about four years before I heard of Dr. Johnson.

After trying local physicians during that time with no success, I was finally persuaded to go to him. In December, 1913, I went to see him, and in January, 1914, I commenced his treatment. In ten days the cancer was entirely removed, root and branches, so that it has given me no trouble since.

I have been instrumental in getting others to take his treatment, whom he has also cured. They, too, say they have found him to be a conscientious, honest physician, who will tell you plainly just what can be done for you. I urge all cancer sufferers who read this not to delay treatment, for therein lies the danger.

If anyone desires any further information in regard to my experience and treatment received, I will be glad to write you privately and answer all inquiries.

Respectfully,

MRS. M. E. CARRIER.

Your Treatment Cured Me After Several Doctors Failed to Give Me the Least Bit of Benefit

Route No. 2, Lakeville, Ohio.
Jan. 28, 1923.

Dr. O. A. Johnson,
Kansas City, Mo.

My Dear Doctor:

I wish to write you a letter, which you may use as a testimonial as to your treatment and cure of cancer. I know your treatment cured me after several doctors failed to give me the least bit of relief.

A cancer developed on my lip in October, 1905. I doctored several weeks with our family physician, and then he told me that he could do me no good. I then changed doctors. In January, 1906, I began using a plaster, which I used for six months. I kept growing worse under this doctor's treatment, and was advised to have my cancer cut out. To this I would not consent. I then tried another remedy, which also proved a failure. I next heard of Dr. Johnson and went to his office in Kansas City, Mo., on August 5, 1907, and came home cured September 20, 1907.

Now, after fifteen years, with no return of a cancer, I feel I can say that I am cured to stay cured, and wish I could persuade every cancer sufferer to go to Dr. Johnson at once, for I feel and know he can cure them, if there is any cure to be had, even though others have failed.

With best wishes for your success,
I am,

Yours truly,

JOHN PETERS.

In Three Weeks I Was Cured

Route 7, Olathe, Kans.,

Dec. 29, 1922

Dr. O. A. Johnson,
Kansas City, Mo.

Dear Sir:

It is seventeen years last summer since I had cancer in the corner of my right eye. It had been almost a year since I had first noticed it. I took treatment from a local doctor about three months, but received no benefit. I saw your ad and went to the city to consult you. I took treatment from you and in three weeks I was cured. That was sixteen years ago this month, and there is no appearance of its return and is only a very little scar.

I can heartily recommend your treatment to anyone who is suffering from cancer.

Yours truly,

J. H. MARVIN.

Cancer of the Left Breast. Suffered Five Years

Wilson, Kans., Jan. 25, 1923.

To Whom It May Concern:

I will write to benefit the afflicted like I was. I knew not where to go for help until my daughter wrote to Dr. O. A. Johnson of Kansas City, Mo. It certainly does my heart good to know that our Father in Heaven made preparation for His afflicted people in this world to be relieved of such an affliction as I had. For more than five years I suffered with cancer of the left breast. Not one of my friends ever thought I would go of my own accord, but go I did to regain my health.

I would advise anyone that suffers as I did, just to go to Dr. Johnson at once, for the longer you wait the harder it will be for him to cure you, and you may never be cured if you wait too long. You can't imagine what satisfaction it was to me for Dr. Johnson to tell me that he could cure me. After I was there only four weeks I could tell I was cured. I went there the 10th of May, 1915, and returned home on the 17th of June a well woman, and never have any sign of cancer any more.

My step-son came home and could hardly believe that I was cured, as his poor mother had to die with the same disease after going to Philadelphia to the doctors, and could find no one that could cure her. The poor man sure felt bad, for they tried everything anyone could, but to no avail. She couldn't lie down for a long time; just sat up and moved back and forth in her chair for a whole summer, till, in fact, the whole family suffered with her till it could be seen on their features. They sure would have gone to Kansas City, if Dr. Johnson had been found. I sincerely hope if there is another poor sufferer in the world like that someone will be found to carry Dr. Johnson's name to them.

Well, I will do anything in my power to spread the grand, good news today. I am now 78 years old and am in real good health.

Adieu. From one that loves you all.

With best wishes to Dr. Johnson and his staff of assistants for all time.

MRS. SUSAN HOOPES.

Growth on Eyeball Removed by Our Treatment After Other Methods Failed

Albany, Nebr., Jan. 30, 1923

Dr. O. A. Johnson,

Kansas City, Mo.

My Dear Sir:

Almost twelve years ago now I noticed a fleshy growth on my eyeball just a little outside the iris. In a few weeks it was as large as a pea and partially on the iris. After about two months' treatment by others, some of whom were specialists, who made five different attempts to remove the abnormal growth with the knife and electric flame, I placed myself under your mild, yet effective treatment. In about five weeks' time the whole thing had disappeared, leaving a small hole in the eyeball, which soon closed up and left the eye apparently as sound as ever to this day, convincing me that your method is milder, safer and surer than any other treatment of which I have any knowledge.

You and your attendants are to be highly complimented and recommended for your careful and skillful work, as well as for the effectual remedies you have compounded for the cure of cancer and other ailments of humanity that you are treating.

With kindest regards and a grateful heart to all concerned, I am,

Yours very truly,

ADELBERT CHILD.

Jan. 23, 1923.

Dr. O. A. Johnson,
Kansas City, Mo.

Dear Doctor:

I just received your letter and will hasten to let you know about the cancer you cured for me about nine years ago.

I had a small place come on my lower lip. It would form a scale on it and the scale would come off and another would come. The second year there would come a thick scab, so I went to two doctors here. One said he could do nothing for it; the other said he could cure it. He gave me medicine to put on, but all the salve and liniment would not do any good. I was treated for a year and the cancer got so I thought I would have to try someone else. I saw Dr. Johnson's ad, who had 20 years of success in the curing of cancer, so I went to Kansas City. Dr. Johnson made an examination and said it was cancer and he could cure me. I took his treatment and was cured of my cancer.

I would advise anyone that has a sore that will not be healed to go to Dr. O. A. Johnson. He will cure any case that will go in time.

Yours truly,
WM. McKINLEY.

Dr. O. A. Johnson,
Kansas City, Mo.

Dear Doctor:

It has been over thirteen years since I took your treatment for cancer, which was on my face under my eye, near the nose, and there is no sign whatever of its return. I am thankful that I heard of your treatment.

I consulted three doctors here before going to take your treatment. Two of them advised me to have it cut out, and that immediately. The other said the only sure cure was to go to Chicago and have the X-ray used.

I knew one of our neighbors was a patient of yours. He recommended your treatment to me, and I saw what it had done for him.

I will be only too glad to answer any letters to give the afflicted information of your institution. I have answered several letters giving the inquirer encouragement.

I don't think one need fear cancer as they once did, for I know if there is a cure Dr. Johnson can do it. I hope all afflicted persons will go to him at once and be cured before it is too late

Did Not Believe Cancer Could Be Cured. Has Been Well Fourteen Years.

166 Chester Ave., Oakland,

Topeka, Kans., Jan. 19, 1923.

Dr. O. A. Johnson,
Kansas City, Mo.

Dear Doctor:

Twenty-five years ago I discovered a growth inside of my right cheek, and for some time paid but little attention to it. It would be very sore and painful whenever I would eat my meals, and it would interfere with my rest at night. I intended many times to tell our family physician about the growth, but I was afraid he would tell me it was a cancer. Then I decided to tell my husband about it. At that time I did not think that a cancer could be cured.

After consulting Mr. Bates of Topeka, and others who were cured of cancer, I then decided to go to Kansas City to see you in regard to your treatment. The result of your medical treatment was very satisfactory, as there has never been any sign of a return of the cancer.

It is now over fourteen years since I was treated by you. I think you have a remarkable cure for chronic and malignant diseases. I want to thank you for what you have done for me.

I would advise anyone afflicted to go at once to Dr. Johnson and be treated, for Dr. Johnson can and will cure cancer, as he has cured me.

If anyone wishes to write me about your treatment, I shall be glad to answer promptly.

Yours truly,

MRS. J. C. MUIR.

Would Not Submit to Second

Nineteen Years Ago and

Western, Saline Co., Nebr.,

Jan. 18, 1923.

My Dear Good Friend, Dr. Johnson:

I wish to state my case for the good of cancer sufferers: I had a small lump appear on the back of my neck, and after a time it began to grow and gave me lots of worry. It grew to the size of a hen's egg, so I had it taken out with the surgeon's knife. In six months it grew back as large as it was before. The doctor wanted to cut it out again, but I said no.

I went to Dr. Johnson and took his treatment and he cured me without any pain. That was about nineteen years ago, as near as I can remember, and I have stayed cured ever since. This is the honest truth, so I advise all cancer sufferers to report to Dr. Johnson without delay and get cured. I wish all cancer sufferers could see for themselves as I did when I was under your care, and then they would believe in a cure.

Yours truly,

ANDREW M. SMITH.

Wonderful Success in Curing Cancer.

Harrodsburg, Ky., Jan. 28, 1923.

Dr. O. A. Johnson,

Kansas City, Mo.

My Dear Doctor:

It is with pleasure I again take the opportunity to notify you, and more especially the public, that the cure of my cancer has been permanent. I give you the privilege to publish this letter of testimony anywhere or in any booklet you wish. I want the public to know of the permanent cure I received from your treatment.

I suffered from a cancerous growth under my left eye, and had been treating under several doctors for some time with no satisfactory improvement and the place growing larger all the time. I was advised by a former patient, who had been cured by Dr. Johnson, of his wonderful success in curing cancer.

I began treatment with Dr. Johnson in December, 1911, and in six weeks the growth was killed, taken out and the wound healed nicely. I left his place entirely cured, and it has been more than eleven years ago. There is practically no scar on my face and no appearance of the growth returning.

I would like to say a word of gratitude for Dr. Johnson and his efficient force of assistants while under their care and treatment. I do heartily recommend Dr. Johnson's method of treatment to anyone with any form of cancer, and will gladly give an answer to all inquiring sufferers who write me

Yours gratefully,

W. E. ST. JOHN.

EVIDENCE

Advised Me to Leave it Alone.

210 W. South St., Yates Center, Kans.,
Jan. 27, 1923.

Dr. O. A. Johnson,
Kansas City, Mo.

Dear Doctor:

Several years ago I was troubled by what seemed to be a little growth on the side of my nose. I consulted two or three doctors in regard to it, but they advised me to leave it alone until further development. It finally began growing so rapidly I became alarmed about it and went to doctor for treatment. He said he could cure it, and treated me regularly for twelve months with no success.

I then heard of Dr. Johnson and his great cancer cure. I went to him for treatment, and have never regretted it, for in less than two months I was cured. I am convinced that others can be permanently cured by the same method of treatment that proved so successful in my case.

It is now fifteen years since I was dismissed from his institution cured, and, in consideration of this length of time, with no recurrence of the old trouble, I am sincere in saying his treatment permanently cured me, and I fully and freely recommend Dr. Johnson's treatment as the safest and most certain for the permanent cure of cancer.

Very truly,
MRS. M. E. JOHNSON.

Dr. O. A. Johnson,
Kansas City, Mo.

Dear Doctor:

I received your letter and I am glad to tell you I am getting along very nicely.

I certainly esteem it a privilege to endorse your cancer cure, since both myself and Mr. Haworth were cured. I can say that I had a cancer on my nose for five years, but it did not give me any serious trouble until the last year. My husband's cancer was in his left temple. It came from a birthmark. You also cured him of a bad rectal trouble.

Several of my friends advised me to go to one of our town doctors, who had an X-ray, and let him take it out, but I said no, I am going to Dr. Johnson and have it taken out right. I am proud to say that after three weeks' treatment I was well, and both myself and husband returned home May 23, 1915, cured of cancer.

I would advise anyone suffering from cancer not to delay, but go to you promptly and get cured.

Respectfully,

As a Last Straw I Went to Consult Dr. Johnson.

Windsor, Ill., Jan. 1, 1923.
Dr. O. A. Johnson.
Kansas City, Mo.
Dear Doctor:

In reply to your letter of late date asking me to send a statement of my case for your new book, I am glad to offer my testimonial of your institution, and give suffering humanity a short history of my case.

About 1904 there appeared a small place on the left side of my nose, about one-half inch from the end. It was very tender, especially if I happened to hurt it. I used vaseline and other simple remedies, but it gradually got larger. About three years after it commenced I saw an advertisement of red clover, or extract of red clover blossoms. I invested $7.50 in that treatment, but received no benefit. I then tried a proprietary medicine called Liquid Air, which was said to be prepared from purified gases. I took about one and a half gallons of it, but it failed to do any good. Both of these medicines were recommended as a cancer cure, and several testimonials were furnished.

In July, 1909, I was getting so much worse it looked to me that I did not have much to lose if I tried something else and failed. I had decided not to let any doctor cut it out. I went to Lovington, Illinois, to consult a doctor. He thought he could effect a cure with X-ray. He made me promise to stay with him if he thought I was benefited, as he had a reputation to lose if he failed to cure. I thought I was being benefited, and the doctor seemed to think so also, but I finally concluded I was mistaken. I asked the doctor what he thought about cutting the place out, and he said there was not a doctor living that could cut that out of my nose; they could cut my whole nose off and then not be sure of it, as they would leave a small piece somewhere, and they had just as well leave all. I then asked him if it could be burnt out, and he said they would never heal it up. He had previously diagnosed the place on my nose as epithelioma, or skin cancer. He also said it was one of the slowest cancers getting a start, but when it did it would go after a fellow like a hungry bear.

I had a friend, Thomas Dobbins, who, in the spring of 1909, was cured by Dr. Johnson of a skin cancer on his face. As a last straw I went to Kansas City to consult Dr. Johnson September 22, 1909. On November 12th I came home. When I went to Dr. Johnson the place on my nose was larger than a silver dollar, and it had entirely shut off breathing on the left side. It extended over the top to the right side. I stayed with Dr. Johnson seven weeks and then came home, and it is sound and well now.

I would advise those who are afflicted with cancer to never have a knife used, or the X-ray, if they want to live. Do not wait for the last straw to grab at, but go at once and consult Dr. Johnson.

I will say, in conclusion, that I am not financially interested in Dr. Johnson, but I can truly say that I never had dealings with a more honorable man, and a man who has made every promise good to me.

A good old Deacon of our town told me (I suppose so I would not be disappointed) that my cancer would come back in eight years, or less; that I was not cured. It has been thirteen years since I was cured and it still holds good, but he went to his reward nearly five years ago.

Now I have stated my case as well and truly as I can, and to the afflicted I would advise you to consult Dr. Johnson at once, as that is where I found a cure, and I hope you may be as fortunate.

Respectfully yours,

JOHN D. FORTNER.

A Most Convincing Letter.

King, Nebr., Jan. 15, 1923.
 Dr. O. A. Johnson,
 Kansas City, Mo.
 Dear Doctor:

I am writing you at this late date to report that I am still getting along fine; also sending you a photograph, so you can see my nose is all right yet, and I feel sure it is cured to stay cured.

I have always recommended you and your treatment, for mine was a stubborn case, and I was with you long enough to see several patients come and go. It was what I saw and heard among them that gives me so much confidence in your system of treatment.

I remember one man from Kentucky 83 years old with a cancer on his lip. He told me he had been doctoring it for a long time, had paid $1,000.00 for one operation, $600.00 for X-ray treatment, and had been treated by several other quacks (as he called them), and was afraid he had come to Kansas City too late. I asked him if he thought he could have been cured if he had come to you sooner, and he said: "There is no doubt about it. When I came here and saw what they were doing for others I am sure I could be a well man."

And there was another man that had brought his wife from Georgia that had been doctoring a long time without any relief. I incidentally asked him the same question that I had asked the other man, and was surprised with an answer in the same words: "When we came here and saw what they are doing for other people I know my wife could be a well woman if we had come sooner."

Such evidence coming from people that have been the rounds of all the best high-priced places for treatment makes me feel sure anyone I can influence to go to you will receive the best treatment there is. I know of several who are now in their graves that I am sure I could have saved their lives by directing them to you had I only known of you sooner. I am writing this letter hoping that you may be able to use it to convince somebody afflicted that there is a cure for cancer, as I have talked with people that think there is no cure, and will say, "Let it alone; if you doctor it, it will get worse," when in reality the impression I got from my own treatment and what I saw among other patients is that cancer is not a serious thing, if rightly treated in time. I think anybody that comes to you and your able and pains-taking force of assistants will soon get the same idea. That is one thing that I often noticed at your institution—how soon newcomers seem to change, how they take on new hope, new life and confidence.

I wish I could help all cancer sufferers to know of you and your great treatment.

Sincerely and truly yours,
 WILLIAM O'TOOLE.

Dear Doctor:

With great pleasure I send my testimonial to you.

In 1900 a small sore came on my cheek. A doctor who was boarding with us said it was a cancer. He prescribed and healed it, but in two months it broke out again. I then tried two more local doctors, but each time it broke out again and soon became a running sore. My general health was much impaired. When we learned of Dr. Johnson, my friends urged me to see him at once. I was under his treatment three weeks, and returned home cured. It has been over 22 years, and no sign of the cancer returning. Dr. Johnson looked after my general health also.

To anyone afflicted I say, go to Dr. Johnson at once. Do not delay one day.

I will answer each and every letter from anyone who is afflicted.

Yours respectfully,
MRS. FRED CAMPBELL.

I Went Immediately to His Office

906 W. McCarthy St.,
Jefferson City, Mo.,
Jan. 31, 1923.

To Whom It May Concern:

I had a growth on my left cheek about the size of a ten-cent piece for several years. I went to several doctors here and had them examine it. They pronounced it a skin cancer. I doctored with one doctor here in the city for several weeks, but I received no benefit from him. I then heard of Dr. O. A. Johnson, of Kansas City, Mo. I went immediately to his office, and stayed in the city for five weeks and received his treatment. In that time he took it out and healed it up. The cancer, when taken out, was the size of a fifty-cent piece.

It has been over eight years since the cancer was taken out, and there is no sign of it ever returning.

I advise anyone who has a suspicious growth to go to Dr. Johnson and he will cure you, as he has cured me and many others.

Anyone wishing information, write this address.

Deep Seated Cancer on Lower Lip Treated Eighteen Years Ago.

109 W. Ashley St., Jefferson City, Mo.,
Jan. 30, 1923.

Dr. O. A. Johnson,
Kansas City, Mo.

Dear Dr. Johnson:

I am glad to make this statement about the cure of my cancer, and you can publish it for the good it will do others.

I had a very bad case of deep-seated cancer on my lower lip, which had troubled me for three years. I was fearful that I could not be cured, but the testimonials of the good people you cured of such bad cases gave me encouragement, because I believed what they said, so I decided to try you.

I went to you for treatment eighteen years ago. I am sound and well and never a trace of the cancer coming back.

I have often recommended you and sent a man to you not long ago. There are two others of your cured patients living in this city, and I can advise anyone with cancer, no matter how bad off, to go to you at once.

Yours truly,

JOHN PETRY.

Waiting Is Why So Many Have Lost Their Lives.

High Hill, Mo., Feb. 1, 1923.

Dr. O. A. Johnson,
Kansas City, Mo.

Dear Doctor:

Seventeen years ago I was afflicted with cancer on my left ear. The physicians pronounced it cancer. I went to Kansas City, and was treated by you for eight days. The ninth day the cancer came out. It was as large as a black walnut. I am now 79 years of age. The cancer has never given me any trouble since I was treated seventeen years ago, and I don't think it ever will.

It will give me pleasure to answer all who will write to me, so I can tell them what Dr. O. A. Johnson has done for me and others that I am personally acquainted with, and what he can do for you.

My last advice to those who have cancer is not to wait too long. Putting off and waiting is why so many have lost their lives.

I feel that I can truly say my cancer is cured. I went to you with cancer on my cheek in May, 1908. I will be 87 years old my next birthday. My general state of health is good for one of my age. Would Not Have His Cancer Cut.

P. O. Box 113, Hawkeye, Iowa.

Dr. O. A. Johnson,
Kansas City, Mo.

Dear Friend:

I was suffering from cancer on the under lip. I had it about eight months, although my lip had been sore at intervals for a number of years. Our home doctor pronounced it cancer and wanted to cut it out, but I would not have that.

One of my friends told me about Dr. Johnson, so I went to Kansas City and started to take treatment January 27, 1916, and left March 1, 1916, a well man. My lip has never given me any more trouble. My health was built up, as well as having that awful, dreaded disease, cancer, cured.

I found Dr. Johnson's treatment just what he represented it to be. I have had a good many inquiries about his treatment, and I always advise them to go to Dr. Johnson. I earnestly wish I could get the suffering people to know as much about Dr. Johnson's success as I do.

If anyone wishes to write me for further information about Dr. Johnson's treatment, they are at liberty to do so, and I will answer any and all inquiries the best I can.

Yours truly,
SHERMAN A. CRANDALL.

It Has Now Been Seventeen Years Since You Dismissed Me as Cured of Cancer of the Rectum.

Vernon, Colo., Jan. 21, 1923.

Dr. O. A. Johnson,
Kansas City, Mo.

Dear Dr. Johnson:

It has now been seventeen years since you dismissed me as cured of cancer of the rectum. I had been suffering from that trouble for about eighteen months before going to you for treatment. The cure has been a permanent one, as I consider sufficient time has elapsed since you dismissed me for it to return if it was going to, and I feel that I am perfectly safe in giving my testimonial. There has never been a sign of the disease returning since you dismissed me.

I have sent several patients to you for treatment for cancer in various locations, and I know of some of them who have been cured.

I will take pleasure in writing to anyone who may wish to communicate with me in regard to your treatment. I am perfectly satisfied with the results of the treatment, and I feel that no one can make a mistake to put their case in your hands, for I believe that if their case is at all curable your treatment will be a success.

Wishing you a long life and that you will be able to continue relieving suffering humanity, as you have during the past that I have known you, I beg to remain,

Very truly yours,
A. J. RAY.

of My Home Doctors Said,

Jan. 4, 1923.

Dr. O. A. Johnson,
Kansas City, Mo.

Dear Dr. Johnson:

I write this for the benefit of those who are afflicted with cancer as I was. and would say, Don't give up, but go to Dr. O. A. Johnson, and the sooner you go after you find out you have a cancer, the easier he can cure you.

I had a cancer on my nose. Three of my home doctors said to let it go and not do much with it, and maybe it wouldn't hurt me for quite a while. I used some white salve one of them gave me for some time, but it did no good. Another one of them said to use camphor, and I did, but it did no good.

I went to Dr. Johnson in February, 1911, and stayed with him three weeks and came home cured. It has been twelve years since I was cured, and I have never been bothered since. I can't praise Dr. Johnson too much, for I think he has the best remedies on earth and he sure knows how to use them.

I hope this letter will be the means of sending some cancer sufferer to you where he will find relief.

Yours truly,

E. E. SHRIVER.

They Told Me I Could Not Be Cured.

Lucerne, Mo., Jan. 23, 1923.

To Whom It May Concern:

I had a bad stomach trouble for five years, and doctored with all of the best doctors in North Missouri. They told me I could not be cured.

I heard of Dr. Johnson and went to him about twelve years ago. I have not been bothered since. I can not recommend him too highly.

I know numbers of people he has cured of cancer. Dr. Johnson is all he professes, and more.

Dear Dr. Johnson, you can use my name to recommend your treatment when you please. When I meet anyone with cancer, I will try to get them to see you. I am sorry for anyone who will believe what these small doctors tell them.

Anything of any assistance that I can do, I am ready.

Tried Many Treatments and All Failed.

R. 8, Enid, Okla., Feb. 9, 1923.

Dr. O. A. Johnson,

Kansas City, Mo.

Dear Friend:

I was suffering from cancer called epithelioma, located on the lower lip. It had been developing for years before I went to you for treatment. All our doctors called it cancer.

I had one specialist treat it four months, but it did not get any better and I had almost given up in despair until I met you, and you said you could cure me. I am thankful that I had you treat me.

The cancer extended half way across the lip and was at least one inch deep. It was open and angry-looking, and caused me considerable pain. The lip was very much swollen and hard.

As I had tried so many treatments and all failed, was greatly discouraged. You cured Mr. Donnell, our former postmaster, so I decided to make one more effort.

I can truly say for the benefit of those suffering from cancer that you know your business. From what I saw of other patients being treated there, I am confident you can cure cancer and would advise all suffering from this disease to apply to you at once. My experience is that cancer can be cured. I can say that. I am cured. I have been well seventeen years and there is no sign of it returning any more.

Wishing you continued success, and assuring you of my hearty support, I am,

Yours truly,

J. M. RATHMELL.

Dear Doctor:

I am sending you my picture taken fifteen months after the cancer on my face was entirely healed up after being treated by you seven weeks. The cancer is entirely well and there has never been any symptoms of coming back since I was treated in December, 1913.

I suffered for five years before taking your treatment. One day my daughter wrote for your free cancer book and saw therein the testimony of Mr. C. G. Wright, Berryville, Ark., being cured by you, and as my daughter's husband, G. T. Wright, knew that Mr. C. G. Wright was cured, I had confidence to come to you for treatment. I am thankful I did so, for I feel that my cancer is entirely cured.

You may take liberty in using my testimonial. I hope it will give someone confidence to come to you.

Bade Farewell to Family and Friends

Berryville, Ark., Jan. 4, 1923.

Dr. O. A. Johnson,
Kansas City, Mo.

Dear Dr. Johnson:

It was in the year 1902 that my lower lip first began to bother me. It would get sore and heal up every month or so until 1906, when I had our home doctor to examine it. He said the trouble was cancer, but would be easily cured, so he went to work on it. The lip continued to get worse despite his treatment, so I wrote to St. Louis and got medicine from a specialist, who said he could cure me. Still I got worse and began to feel awfully bad. I wrote to Kansas City to Dr. Johnson and he answered and said to come up and try his treatment. I did so. On April 4, 1908, nearly fifteen years ago, I left home, bidding friends and family good-bye, as I didn't know whether I would ever see them again or not.

I landed at Kansas City, April 5, 1908, and went direct to Dr. Johnson's office. I asked him about my case, and he said I was in bad shape, but he thought he could cure me, so I said, "Go to work." My cancer was on the lower lip, covering something like two-thirds of the lip, and large kernels under each jaw. I stayed in Kansas City under Dr. Johnson's treatment two weeks, came home cancer and kernels gone. My lip healed up, leaving but slight scar; so I think I have a right to praise Dr. Johnson and his treatment, don't you?

So now, kind friends, I do hope and pray that all who suffer from cancer will do as I did, go to Dr. Johnson and get a cure before it is too late. I pray God's blessings be showered on Dr. Johnson and his establishment.

As ever, your friend,

C. G. WRIGHT.

Dr. O. A. Johnson,
Kansas City, Mo.
Dear Friend:

About six years ago I noticed a small spot on my cheek just below my left eye. A scab would form on it and come off, and another one would form, and the spot continued to get larger and larger until the 23d of April, 1920, when I went to Dr. Johnson to have it examined, and he told me it was a cancer. I had that cancer taken off by Dr. Johnson, which was very successfully done, and I have no fear of it returning.

I am now having good health. I know that anyone suffering from cancer can be cured if they have it treated during the early stage before it is uncontrollable, by Dr. Johnson and his assistants.

I advise anyone that has a sore of any kind that will not heal to go to him for treatment. Do not wait too long. I have seen others that have been cured by you and they were all satisfied with the treatment they received

Cancer on the Inside of Left Cheek Treated Seventeen Years Ago.

R. A, Box 188, Thomas, Okla.
Jan. 11, 1923.
Dr. O. A. Johnson,
Kansas City, Mo.
Dear Doctor:

I now take the pleasure in writing you again for publication, that you cured me of cancer on the inside of my left cheek in January, 1906, seventeen years ago, and there has been no return of the disease.

I sincerely hope that every sufferer from cancer will go to you and be cured, as I know from my own experience and observation that you can cure cancer never to return. I can sincerely say that you are a man of your word, and that you will tell a patient if there is no hope. There have been people cut upon in this town of Thomas, and the doctors will sew them up again, and the poor patient is doomed. Now, if these lines come in contact with any sufferer, I pray them not to be butchered. Instead I pray them to go to Dr. O. A. Johnson, of Kansas City, Mo., the same as I did, and be cured of the dreaded disease, and then be able to advise some sufferer.

Now, dear Doctor, I sincerely hope and trust that all afflicted will come and be cured. I will be glad to answer any letters that come to me; so, wishing you prosperity and success, I remain,

Sincerely yours,
E. T. STILWELL.

It Grew Faster Than Ever After I Had it Cut.

R. F. D. 2, Elliott, Iowa.

Jan. 6, 1923.

To Whom It May Concern:

About eighteen years ago a cold sore came on my lower lip and refused to heal. Two years later I became alarmed and consulted the family physician, but received no relief. I then consulted two other doctors with the same results.

In the fall of 1909 I tried the X-ray treatment, but it only made the sore grow larger.

My physician then advised an operation. In January, 1910, I went to Omaha and had an operation, but it never entirely healed. It grew faster than ever after I had it cut.

In August, 1911, one of Dr. Johnson's cured patients advised me to go there for treatment. This I did, with the result that Dr. Johnson cured my cancer, and it has stayed cured ever since. I am just as well as the day I left Kansas City.

I heartily recommend Dr. Johnson and his assistants to anybody afflicted with cancer, for I believe they can cure you.

I take great pleasure in giving my testimonial to be placed in your book if, by doing this, I may be of help to anyone suffering from the terrible disease, cancer.

Dr. Johnson cured me thirteen years ago of cancer of the right breast. There has at no time been the least indication of its return.

My advice is, if you have cancer, go to Dr. Johnson and go right away; do not put it off. I know everyone is advising you what to do and it is hard for you to decide just what is best, but I feel you will make no mistake in going to him, as you will find him a gentleman in every way.

Dear Doctor:

In reply to yours of the 24th, I am indeed glad for an opportunity to tell the public of your skill as a cancer doctor, for I am a living testimony of your ability to cope with that dreaded disease, called cancer. At this time I am apparently as sound and well as I ever was. It was early in February, 1916, that I came to your office afflicted with the cancer on my nose.

I would not only recommend your skill to suffering humanity, but your honesty and fair dealings with your patients, which means very much to a prospective patient.

These few words express my sentiment only in a very meager way, but you are welcome to make use of them if you think they will be of any encouragement to the afflicted public.

One Word in Regard to the Knife

Edgerton, Mo., Jan. 20, 1923.

To Whom It May Concern:

On the 10th day of August, 1908, I went to Kansas City to take treatment of Dr. O. A. Johnson for cancer on my lip, and was pronounced permanently cured by him.

I was treated by some of the best practitioners in Northwest Missouri, but, Oh, my God, what poor cancer doctors they were!

Now, dear friend, I do not want to cast any reflection on this class of physicians. They are great, good and grand men, but how do they expect to compete with a cancer specialist? One has two or three cases of cancer in a lifetime; the other has from twenty-five to fifty patients coming under his observation daily.

One word in regard to the knife: Oh, man, shun it as you would a viper! Once in a great while you see one who has been operated on and is well, but the facts are they never had cancer. Show me a well developed cancer that has been cured by the knife, and remained fully cured for two to eighteen years, and I will show you a white crow.

Sincerely yours,

Z. T. BIGGERSTAFF.

X-Ray Gave No Benefit

Honeoye Falls, N. Y., Jan. 4, 1923.

Dear Dr. Johnson:

In reply to yours, asking me for a testimonial, will say that I was treated and cured of a cancer on my nose.

The cancer had been on my nose for five or six years. I had it treated with X-ray, but received no benefit. The treatment you gave me, in January, 1916, cured the cancer and it was all healed in about four weeks with but little scar. I suffered but little pain from the treatment. No knife was used.

Would say to all who have cancer, Go at once—do not wait—to Dr. O. A. Johnson at Kansas City, and he will cure you if the cancer is not too far advanced.

Will be glad to answer anyone who wishes to write me in regard to the matter.

Respectfully yours,

My Old Doctor Said You Had Done Me a Nice Job.

1008 W. Chestnut St., Carthage, Mo.

Jan. 7, 1923.

Dr. O. A. Johnson,
Kansas City, Mo.:

My Dear Sir:

I will make this statement:

I had a large cancer on my lower lip which had been there seven years. My home doctor treated me for about six years, but did not cure me.

I went to Dr. O. A. Johnson on September 24, 1912, and returned home October 23, 1912, cured of my cancer. Up to this time my lip is well, and I thank God and Dr. Johnson.

After I returned home from Kansas City I went to my old doctor and showed him that my mouth was well. He was pleased and said that you had done me a nice job.

I advise all persons suffering from cancer to go to Dr. Johnson and get cured.

Yours truly,

Why Don't You Go to Dr. Johnson?

Holdredge, Nebr., Feb. 2, 1923.

Dr. O. A. Johnson,
Kansas City, Mo.

My Dear Doctor:

It is nine years last August since I was treated by Dr. Johnson and cured permanently of a cancer on my lower lip without a perceptible scar.

My experience with cancer seems to be almost the universal experience of all who are so afflicted. They come in contact with Dr. So-and-So, take treatment and find themselves worse than when they commenced. For several years I scanned cancer cure advertisements. I became suspicious and skeptical. I got one of Dr. Johnson's books and thought, here is something tangible; it shows results; it asks anyone afflicted with cancer to verify for themselves any statement therein.

Cancer on the lip is the worst place one can develop. A man without a good lip don't amount to much. If a person looked me in the face, I thought he was looking at the tormented thing. I tried to grow hair enough to hide it, but it got so big I couldn't. I knew no one wanted to drink after me, or liked to eat with me.

I was talking with a man, the other day, who told me he had paid out one thousand dollars for treatment and was no better than when he commenced. Why don't you go to Dr. Johnson? I asked. "Don't see how I can get away from home and leave business," was his answer.

I am asked questions like this: Does the treatment make one down sick? Is it painful? When I tell them that patients, while I was there, went to theatres, parks, stock yards, the new depot, that a patient was built up from the start, instead of being run down, they seemed surprised that such could be possible in treating and curing cancer. It looks to me like criminal negligence to continually risk health and life itself with that anarchist of the human system—cancer.

I am a firm believer in Dr. O. A. Johnson's medical treatment for cancer, and recommend it to anyone with that affliction. They will make no mistake when they take their case to him, but will make one if they don't.

If this will cause one person afflicted with cancer to go to Dr. Johnson and get cured, I will feel well paid.

Yours truly,

H. J. OLMSTEAD.

Cured Me Sound and Well in Five Weeks

Warm Springs, Ark., Feb. 2, 1923.

Dr. O. A. Johnson,
Kansas City, Mo.

My Dear Doctor:

I thought I would write you a few lines to let you know that the cancer you and your assistants cured for me in the summer of 1905 is still well, with no sign of its returning.

Now, dear Dr. Johnson, as you may want to publish a statement of my case in your book, I will give it for the benefit of all who may chance to see the same, who might be afflicted as I was with that awful disease, cancer.

My cancer first started to develop itself in the summer of 1903. It started from a sunburn on the edge and inside of my lower lip. I got bad in a very short time. I was doctored by three good home doctors, but continued to get worse until the fall of 1904. My two sons then took me three trips to a specialist at St. Louis, Mo., but I got very little benefit from him—in fact, the next spring I got very bad. My throat had got so sore I could hardly swallow, and I had sharp needle pains; in fact, I had about made up my mind that life was about all in for me. But my boys persuaded me to go to Kansas City, Mo., and so I landed there the 18th of July, 1905. Thanks to the good Lord, Dr. Johnson and his assistants cured me sound and well in five weeks. I am still well and pretty stout for an old man of over 80 years.

I must say that I believe Dr. O. A. Johnson is a perfect gentleman and a God-send to sufferers afflicted with that dread disease, cancer.

Now, doctor, you may use the foregoing as a testimonial, and I will affirm the same to all inquirers where stamp is enclosed.

Doctor, I want to state further that I see in your book the testimonial and photo of one Washington Reed, of Ottawa, Kans., whom I knew went home cured while I was there. I remember Mr. Reed well, also many more you cured, while I was there. I will tell you about one of my neighbors whom you cured while I was there of such a bad cancer on her nose. She is still well and the very picture of health.

Hoping you may live long and go on with the good work of curing suffering humanity, I am,

Your friend,

W. L. HOLT.

Treated for Cancer of the Lip
Nineteen Years Ago

Spickard, Mo. Jan. 19, 1923.

Dr. O. A. Johnson,

Kansas City, Mo.

Dear Sir:

I am sending you a testimonial regarding my cancer which you cured. You treated me in the year of 1904, and I am glad that I can tell the people that I am cured.

My cancer was on the lip, in the inside. It commenced coming on my lip in 1903. I went to my home doctor and he wanted to cut it out with the knife, but I would not give up for that. I went to another doctor and he wanted to do the same thing. I told him that if he could put some medicine on it that would take it off, I would let him try it. He said he could and I let him put the medicine on. He took it off, but in about two weeks it came back and was about twice as big as it had been before.

Then I saw Dr. Johnson's advertisement in the paper as a specialist on cancer, so I wrote to him about it. He advised me to come and let him see me. I went and he said he could cure me. I took his treatment, and in one month after I commenced with him I was cured and have not been bothered with the cancer since. That has been nineteen years ago, and I feel better than I ever did before.

I will be glad to answer any letter anyone may write me about Dr. Johnson and his treatment, for I think he can cure them if they will go to him in time and take his treatment.

Thanking him for what he has done for me, I remain,

Yours truly,

Dr. O. A. Johnson,
Kansas City, Mo.

Dear Sir:

I take pleasure in giving a statement of my case, which you cured.

About fourteen years ago a sore appeared on my lower lip and would not heal. Local doctors pronounced it epithelioma, but could do nothing for me.

After suffering for three years, I heard of Dr. Johnson's treatment of cancer and decided to give him a trial. I received treatment of him for three weeks, and was pronounced cured. In the past eleven years I have seen no indication of a return of the growth.

I can cheerfully recommend Dr. Johnson's treatment to anyone who might wish to hear from me.

You may, if you see fit, use this letter and my pictures in your book.

Wishing you continued success, I am,

Tried Many Remedies Without Success

Garfield, Ark., Jan. 13, 1923.

Dr. O. A. Johnson,
Kansas City, Mo.

Dear Doctor:

It is with pleasure that I take this opportunity to notify you that I believe that I am cured.

I had a sore on my left temple near my left eye which I failed to heal for five years. I had tried many different remedies without success. I accidentally heard of Dr. Johnson of Kansas City, Mo. I went to see him on June 15th, 1920, and came away July 15th, or about four weeks, with my cancer out and healed up completely.

It shows no signs of returning. I have gained ten pounds in weight. I feel that I cannot say too much in praise for Dr. Johnson and his kind attendants and nurses. Would be pleased to answer any letters of inquiry in regard to the treatment.

Twenty-one years ago this January you pronounced me cured of the large cancer on the back of my neck. I am glad to say that I remain cured and there is no sign of it returning, and there is but a small scar to mark the former seat of the disease. I am in good health and have never felt any bad effects from it since the day I left your office.

I feel that I am justified in giving you this testimonial, for I am sure that I am permanently cured. Your medical treatment is everything that you claim for it. You have cured me and you can cure others; in fact, I know of others you have cured. I will recommend anyone who is suffering from this disease to lose no time in putting their case in your hands, and if they will apply to you when the disease is in a curable stage they will receive a permanent cure.

May God spare your life and give you health that you may continue the good work. I will give you permission to refer anyone suffering from cancer to me, and I will gladly tell them what I know of you and your treatment.

Your Method True Cure for Cancer.

Dr. O. A. Johnson,
Kansas City, Mo.
Dear Dr. Johnson:

In reply to your letter of the 11th, will say that my father is enjoying good health for a man of his age and is entirely free from all signs of the cancer which you removed so quickly and with so little trouble. Because of the fact that his cancer was treated by so many doctors who used internal and external treatment, also X-ray over a period of four or five years, we were quite doubtful as to the outcome, and were still doubtful when you had removed the cancer. We thought that it would come back, but we are just as certain now that it will not.

We are certain that your method is one of the true cures for cancer and will always praise your method for the results that it produced for us.

Dear Doctor:

It is a pleasure for me to add a few words in testimony of the success of your medical treatment for cancer.

I had a cancer in the right breast for over three years before I heard of your treatment. At first it was not painful, only a hard lump. As time passed it became larger and very tender to the pressure of the hand or clothing. After a while a discharge began through the nipple and the breast was quite swollen and painful at times.

I decided I must have treatment soon, so at once went to your office and was examined by you. My case was pronounced scirrhus, or "hard cancer." I asked if I could be cured and you said yes.

I remained under your personal care and in nine weeks the cancer was all out and the wound healing nicely. In two weeks more I was ready to go home, a well and happy woman, and so grateful to Dr. Johnson and nurses for the kind attention given in my case.

It is nearly seventeen years ago and have never had any return of the trouble since. I feel confident what Dr. Johnson has done for me he can do for others if they will only go to him in time. While there I noted the many cases being treated and the great number of cures effected. I have induced several others to go to Dr. Johnson and he has cured them also.

I sincerely hope this may give some poor cancer sufferer encouragement and direct them where to go for relief. Dr. Johnson's ability and standing as a cancer specialist is nation-wide. No one need hesitate to place their case in his care. I can assure them of kind and careful attention.

Wishing you continued success and assuring you of my hearty support, I am,

Many Cancer Sufferers Neglect to Seek a Cure Until it Is Too Late.

Magnet, Nebr., Jan. 22, 1923

Dr. O. A. Johnson,
Kansas City, Mo.

Respected Doctor:

Of all painful and dreaded diseases of which the human body is heir, I believe cancer is the most terrible.

In former centuries nothing better was known in the way of treatment than operation by the knife, and that never was a cure. In recent years the most skillful doctors have found a cure and now that most dreaded disease can be cured in a short time.

Many cancer sufferers neglect to seek a specialist for a cure until it is too late. What a mind such people have!

I have much to be thankful for as I went to Dr. Johnson. I got his treatment early and have had good health since I got my cancer cured in the spring of 1907.

I had a lump on the right side of my neck. I thought it was a cancer, but did not know. I consulted Dr. Johnson and he told me it was a cancer, not to my surprise. I went to see Dr. Johnson, but part of the treatment was taken at home. The cancer was gone in two months, but it required some little time to heal the sore.

I am not afraid to die, but want to live as long as I can. When I die I want to die quick and not suffer of a long, terrible pain.

Many more people have cancer now than formerly, and I hope all cancer sufferers will seek to get the dread disease cured while there is hope for relief.

I Can See Now Why You Are So Successful.

Axtell, Kans., Jan. 30, 1923
Dr. O. A. Johnson,
Kansas City, Mo.
Dear Doctor:

Your treatment for the cancer on my right cheek seems to have been a success. It was February 22, 1915, that I went to your institution for treatment on the advice of my son-in-law, Dr. Stevens, who was at that time a senior in the Eclectic Medical University of your city, and who had done class-work in your Cancer Research Laboratory.

The cancer on my face developed in a mole that was repeatedly irritated by cutting while shaving. The cancer itself was present something like two years or more, and had grown to about the size of one and a half inches in diameter. Shortly before going under your treatment, the cancer had begun to grow so rapidly that my home doctor couldn't control it.

I was under your personal care just four weeks. During that time I saw different patients discharged as cured, and many others that were being treated with apparent success.

I do not know much about cancer treatment, but to me it seemed your methods were, and are, most thorough in every particular. I was not a little surprised, at the time of my examination, to note how exacting you were. I can see now why you were so successful, and this success also explains the very large practice you have.

You may print this letter as a public announcement, and if anyone wants to verify it they need only address me, sending an addressed and stamped envelope for reply.

Yours truly,

Dear Doctor and Friend:

I am writing you a few lines to again thank you for the treatment I received from you for cancer of the lower lip sixteen years ago.

About 1904 I had a sore come on my lower lip that would not heal. I had our home doctor treat it, but got no better. At last he concluded it was a cancer, so I next went to a sanitarium, where they pronounced it cancer and told me they thought they could cure it. I took treatment for a month, but continued to grow worse.

I finally saw your ad in a Kansas City paper, but, knowing there were so many fakes advertised, did not think very favorably of it. However I was getting worse all the time, and thought I must do something, so about July 6, 1905, I went to your office and talked with you and your patients. From what I saw and heard I was convinced that you could cure me, so I began treatment. In three weeks I was cured and you said you thought I would have no more trouble. That was more than seventeen years ago, and I have never had any symptoms of the trouble returning.

Since being treated I have recommended your treatment whenever I had the chance. I am always ready to answer any inquiry regarding your treatment, for I know if they get there in time you can cure them.

Thanking you again for your courteous treatment while I was with you and the cure of that terrible disease, cancer, I remain as ever,

Despite Discouragement of Family and Friends.

Rothiemay, Mont.,

Jan. 27, 1923.

Dr. O. A. Johnson,
Kansas City, Mo.

Dear Doctor:

With great pleasure I wish to say, after being cured over nine years of what the doctor called scirrhus, or hard cancer, of the right breast, I am satisfied it will never return.

My cancer was caused from bruises. I have had nine children. The four oldest ones I nursed on the right breast, but I never seemed to have very much milk in it. When the fifth child was born, it hurt me so to nurse him I gave it up and let him have the left breast and bottle. I did the same with the other four.

I had no further trouble with my right breast from the time my fifth child was born until I weaned my last one. Then I had what our home doctor called the broken breast. He also said there were two lumps in my breast of a cancerous form, and if it ever bothered me again he wouldn't touch it with the knife and for me not to let anyone else. My broken breast didn't heal up for nearly a year, but from that time twelve years went by and I had nearly forgotten about the lumps in my breast, when all at once one of the lumps became attached to the skin and would gather and break every month.

I then thought of what our home doctor told me, and began to think in what way I could find a cure. I found three ads in papers of different cancer doctors. I heard from all of them. Their prices were all about the same, but somehow I didn't think I wanted to go to any of them for treatment and was always looking for more ads.

Well, I found Dr. Johnson's ad, and how glad I have been since. When I received his letter and book I made up my mind that was where I was going. I wrote to some of the women he had cured and they wrote such nice letters to me, praising Dr. Johnson and advising me to go to him without delay.

It was nearly a year before I made up my mind to go, my breast breaking every month. Some of my family and neighbors said I would come back worse than when I went. They didn't want me to go and said he was only an advertising quack doctor, but I went just the same and thank God today I did. I might have been dead by this time. I wish every woman and man who has cancer or lumps of any kind that they don't know what they are would go to Dr. Johnson. I know they never would regret the time and money or the place they went. By all means don't have a surgical operation, but go to Dr. Johnson before it is too late for a cure.

I am glad the doctor has made such wonderful improvements since I was there. He is now able to cure more serious cases than before and in less time.

Now I ask you again, one and all that are afflicted in this way, to go to Dr. Johnson at once, for I know he can cure you if you don't wait until it is too late.

Thanking you again, Doctor, for your courteous treatment and permanent cure, I will close with kind regards for one and all of your faithful assistants.

I am, yours respectfully,

MRS. ANNA SHERBURN.

Dear Doctor:

In answer to your letter inquiring as to my health, will say that I am entirely cured of cancer. Thanks to you and your treatment.

I have waited a reasonable length of time before writing this. I first began treatment with Dr. Johnson in May, 1914. My case was cancer of the left breast. It began with a small lump just to the left of the nipple. I had almost constant pain between shoulders, and I was run-down in general. I am now feeling fine, without any symptoms of cancer.

Make Dr. Johnson's Treatment Your First Choice. This Man Did, and He Considers Himself Most Fortunate.

Eureka, Kans., Feb. 3, 1923.

Dr. O. A. Johnson,
Kansas City, Mo.

My Dear Doctor:

I want to help some unfortunate cancer sufferer find a cure for his cancer, so I give this public endorsement of your treatment.

Nine years ago the 12th of next April I arrived at your office, and at once went under treatment for a cancer on my right cheek just below the eye. The cancer had been on me a year, or perhaps a little longer. It had an itching, burning feeling, but did not bother me much until shortly before I went to see you. It began to grow more rapidly, and I saw it was time I was doing something for it.

When I sent and got your books I decided right away that I wanted you to treat me, and I am glad to say I made no mistake. I consider myself cured of the cancer, and I was fortunate enough to be cured on my first attempt. While at your place I observed that most of your patients had been treated one or more times before coming to you, paying out money and wasting valuable time. That's why I say I was fortunate in going to you in the first place. It is too bad others don't go to you before they fool away time and money trying first one thing and then another, but I suppose many of them don't hear of you in time to make your treatment their first choice.

I know a Mr. S. Schoffner of this city whom you cured of cancer sixteen or seventeen years ago. You also cured a Mr. Fail of Eureka twelve or fourteen years ago. He was killed in a street car accident three or four years after he was cured while on a visit at Colorado Springs.

I am willing to answer any inquiry addressed to me if an addressed and stamped envelope is sent, but to you who suffer from cancer I say, Don't lose any time in correspondence. You will find Dr. Johnson and his institution just as represented by him and that his former patients tell the truth in their recommendations. If you can't believe the Doctor because you may not know him, you can surely believe us who have been cured. There are hundreds of us living in all parts of the United States, and, so far as I know, each one is recommending privately or publicly the place where they themselves were cured. Like myself, I believe, they are doing this because of gratitude to Dr. Johnson and a sincere desire to help anyone afflicted with cancer. Dr. Johnson is a man of his word. I recommend him to you with the greatest of confidence.

Yours respectfully,

A. OSMUNDSON.

The Only Treatment That Cancer Will Yield To.

Buffalo, Kans.,

Jan. 30, 1923.

For the Benefit of Persons Suffering from Cancer:

In the spring of 1909 I went to see two of my home doctors and they said I had cancer in my left breast. One said for me to be operated on and the other said for me to try Dr. Johnson's remedy, as he did not have much faith in operation for cancer. I went to see Dr. Johnson and commenced treatment the first of June, 1909, and came home August 30th. I have had good health ever since and can do lots of work, and weigh more than I ever did in my life. No signs of a return of the disease, and if there were I would go to Dr. Johnson again, as I believe it is the only treatment that cancer will yield to.

Don't Delay, But Go Now.

To All Whom It May Concern:

This is to certify that I was cured of what Dr. O. A. Johnson called epithelioma (skin cancer).

I had a lump on my nose of three years' standing. I went to Dr. Johnson's office and was examined, and he fixed up the medicine and I took it home.

I commenced treatment the 15th of June, and the sixth day it dropped out. The first day of July it was healed up without any scar left, and I never suffered but very little pain. I would advise all cancer sufferers to go at once to Dr. Johnson and be cured. Don't delay, but go now.

It has been over eight years since I was cured and no sign of return.

Physician of 40 Years' Experience Highly Endorses Dr. Johnson's Methods

801 E. 16th St., Appleton City, Mo.,
Jan. 16, 1923.

Sometime during the year of 1917 I discovered a small lump on the posterior aspect of my left arm; at first I paid but little attention to it, supposing it was merely some form of benign growth that would spontaneously disappear, but it continued to grow, scaling off at times and bleeding some, but it was not painful.

During the latter part of 1918 and the spring of 1919 I became more suspicious of this growth. In course of a little time I invited several of my brother doctors to see it. They all seemed indisposed to express any positive opinion concerning it. Of course I surmised their thoughts.

Finally I asked Dr. R—— if he would cut it out. He replied, "Yes, but I will not insure it not to come back." Other surgeons kindly offered to remove the tumor for me, with the scalpel, at the same time giving a positive opinion of malignancy. But I declined their services.

However, I do not wish it understood that I am condemning surgery. Unquestionably good results have been obtained by the timely use of the knife. But, having been in the regular practice of medicine for forty years, during which time I had made observation of quite a few cancer cases, that had been treated by several of the various methods, my mind was confirmed in favor of the slower method of removal. And by this time my mind was thoroughly made up to have the tumor removed from my arm.

So, I soon presented myself to Dr. O. A. Johnson of Kansas City, Mo., of whom I had heard.

Dr. Johnson critically examined me, not merely my sore arm, but my entire person, including a microscopic examination of the blood, a careful urinalysis and made a diagnosis of cancer.

I at once placed myself under his care (first of April, 1919), and remained with him three weeks and came home, the tumor having been entirely removed and the healing process was well under way; the healing continued uninterruptedly until the wound was entirely closed, and has remained smooth and sound to this day.

Nothing remarkable about this, someone may say. Well, we never said there was, but all the same we are very proud of the result. My case was very mild indeed, compared to many others that I saw under treatment in Dr. Johnson's institute while I was there.

A large number were daily in attendance, under the care of the doctor, his assistants and nurses, practically all of whom were progressing very satisfactorily. Some were being discharged cured, or well on the way to recovery, others coming in from different parts of the country daily.

While mingling among these afflicted ones, I heard nothing but praise for Dr. Johnson and also his assistants and nurses. They were amiable, kind and considerate to all.

In conclusion I wish to say especially to those who may be afflicted with cancer, Don't delay. If you intend to take treatment at all, go soon as possible. I am no cancer specialist, neither have I "an ax to grind." I am just a plain old M.D., have been in the harness regularly for over forty years; in view of this fact I feel that I am not assuming too much to make this suggestion to you.

Furthermore, I suggest that you go to Dr. Johnson, because I know him to be a gentleman of high ideals, thoroughly competent, a well educated physician who has spent much time and money specializing on this fearful malady called cancer.

As it happened, I knew two cancer victims who had them cut out three times and the cancer came back every time worse than ever, so I told them I would not have it cut out. My father had a cancer on his lower lip, and in February, 1911, he went to Kansas City, and took treatment from Dr. Johnson, and in three weeks he came home cured, so I decided to go to Kansas City and take Dr. Johnson's treatment. A microscopical examination was made of the growth on the lip, which showed the disease to be a genuine case of epithelioma, or skin cancer. I took my first treatment November 13, 1911. I was treated five weeks. On the 16th day of December, 1911, I came home, and I can gladly say I am entirely cured.

I cannot recommend Dr. Johnson too highly. I advise anyone and everyone suffering from cancer, or a similar disease, to lose no time in placing themselves under his treatment. The longer the disease is neglected, the more difficult it will be to have it overcome.

Very respectfully yours,
JESSE F. HALL.

Dr. O. A. Johnson,
Kansas City, Mo.

Dear Doctor:

Your letter received, and I am glad to inform you that I am cured; feel fine and am able to do my work.

In January, 1916, I found a small lump in my right breast about as large as a hazel nut. In April, following, I heard of Dr. Johnson and left home the 7th day of May. It had grown by that time to the size of a walnut. I stayed till the 25th day of July, and came home cured.

I would advise anyone to go in time, as it is so much better for the patient and also for the doctor.

My age was 73 years, and I went without any of my family and stayed without seeing them until I returned home.

I surely cannot be too thankful to the Doctor and his kind nurses. They were all very kind to me during my stay with them.

Yours respectfully,
MRS. W. E. LANCE.

Nekoma, Kans., Jan. 9, 1923.
Dr. O. A. Johnson,
Kansas City, Mo.

Dear Doctor:

I am truly thankful the cancer I had in my left breast was removed by medical treatment and healed so nicely. It was removed in November, 1915, and no signs of recurrence. It would soon have caused a great deal of suffering.

The Doctor and nurses were very kind, and I received the best of treatment at all times while I was there.

I can recommend this treatment to anyone afflicted with that dreadful disease, and would urge them not to put it off too long, but give Dr. Johnson's treatment a trial, and I am sure they will never regret it.

May God bless and prosper the Doctor in his efforts to relieve suffering humanity.

Respectfully,
MRS. WM. MENDENHALL.

Came to the Conclusion That it Was Life or Death. Had Cancer of the Breast Ten Years

West Bend, Iowa, Feb. 4, 1923.

Dr. O. A. Johnson,

Kansas City, Mo.

Dear Doctor:

I am writing you a letter stating my condition and how I am feeling at the present time.

I went to your office for treatment six years ago last November. You made an examination of my case and pronounced it cancer of the right breast. Before going to you I had been to see two of our local physicians, and they said I had cancer, but also said there could not be anything done without an operation. They gave me no hope, but from the recommendation of my husband's mother, Mrs. R. Thornton, who had been there at your place and was cured of cancer of the womb, I left my home and little children and struck out for Kansas City.

I was under the care of Dr. Johnson for six weeks and came home and am perfectly cured of the cancer. There is not the least sign of anything like a cancer ever being there. Of course, it left a scar, but it could not be otherwise, as it was a large thing to remove.

If I was to say what I think of Dr. Johnson and his staff of doctors and nurses, it would fill a newspaper. No person could possibly have been better taken care of than I was. Never, while I was there taking treatment, was I in such a shape but that I could do my own cooking and walk to the office twice a day.

I want to state how long I suffered with my breast before I took Dr. Johnson's treatment. It hurt me for ten years. My two last children could not nurse that breast at all. Finally it commenced to swell up and formed three hard lumps. I came to the conclusion then that it was life or death with me, and I never was more glad of anything I ever did than I was when I made up my mind to go to Kansas City.

The day I went to Dr. Johnson I weighed 130 pounds and now I weigh 165 pounds, so you can see that I am in good health. I never felt better in my life, and can say to anyone wanting to make any inquiry about my case, or about Dr. Johnson, that I will answer any and all questions they may wish to ask me if they will send an addressed and stamped envelope, and be glad to do it.

Doctor, you are at liberty to publish this if you wish to do so.

Your friend and well-wisher,

MRS. FRANK THORNTON.

Did Not Know Cancer Could Be Treated Without Knife or Pain

Liebenthal, Kans., Feb. 4, 1923.
Dr. O. A. Johnson,
Kansas City, Mo.

Dear Sir:

Were it not that I had the most perfect confidence in you, this letter never would be written.

Since I first met you my mind has been occupied with thoughts of the fair and square treatment you accorded me during my stay in Kansas City.

As my mother's mouth is permanently cured, she cannot thank you enough for it. The cancer started in the lower lip of her mouth about a year before she took any treatment. After the affected part got worse all the time people began to talk about it, so, finally, I met Rev. R. Solenwek, and he advised mother to try the doctors of Hays City. She was afraid to trust them, so postponed treatment until June, 1916, when Dr. Colglazier, of Rush Center, Kansas, took her to Dr. O. A. Johnson, of Kansas City, Mo.,

who treated her and cured her in first-class condition.

The cancer didn't leave a scar worth mentioning. We never believed anything like that could be treated without a knife or without pain, but it is so. Dr. O. A. Johnson, of Kansas City, Mo., can do it; he certainly can, for he has proved it to us, and we thank him for curing that ugly sore, and will as long as we live.

I know that words are powerless to soothe physical pain, but I cannot refrain from expressing my sincere sympathy to all afflicted. If I can be of any service to anybody that is afflicted with cancer, do not hesitate to call upon me.

Thinks Dr. Johnson's Treatment a Fine One

Shreve, Ohio, Jan. 20, 1923.
Dr. O. A. Johnson,
Kansas City, Mo.

Dear Doctor:

In the year of 1914 I first noticed a small lump in my lower lip, which, in a short time, grew larger and began to bother me, and later on it broke open and became a running sore. Then I went to my family physician and he told me I had a cancer. I was then advised by a friend who had taken treatment from you to go to you, which I did. I left for Kansas City the 16th of January, 1916, and returned on the 5th of February, 1916, with my lip healed up fine, and has since shown no signs of returning.

I think Dr. Johnson's treatment a fine one, and praise him and his establishment very much.

Yours respectfully,

Rev. F. C. Richards, Baptist Minister, Writes an Interesting Letter of His Experience and Final Recovery

Syracuse, Mo., Feb. 3, 1923.

Dr. O. A. Johnson,
Kansas City, Mo.

Dear Sir:

I voluntarily give you this testimonial for the benefit of persons who may be suffering with cancer.

For three years I was afflicted with a place on my face, under my right eye, on the side of my nose. I am a minister, and began to see that it was getting so bad I could not stand in the pulpit much longer if my trouble continued. I began to consult many doctors, and they all pronounced it true epithelioma, but differed as to treatment. Some wanted me to let it alone, some wanted to cut it out at once, and one in whom I had most confidence said he believed he could take it out by freezing. To this treatment I submitted for about fifteen months and found myself growing worse.

I went to St. Louis in June, 1912, to a sanitarium, and the chief physician said he would advise me to let it alone. The disease was putting me out of business, and my people were depending on me, so the same day I went to another sanitarium, where the chief physician wanted me to get on the table and let him cut it out and then turn the X-ray on it. Still I was not satisfied, so went to a special skin and cancer hospital. They asked me what had been done to it, and I told them. They said then if it would not yield to freezing they would cauterize it. I knew that would take a long time and be very expensive, for I knew one patient under that treatment for about eight months and he was not cured. So I came home, and the place was getting so large that I saw I would have to do something for it.

By this time people began to speak to me about it, and I found, to my astonishment, that there were five persons I knew in our neighborhood that you had cured. I talked with some of them personally and talked to others over the phone, and with one common assent they said to waste no time in getting to you; that you were not only skilled in your line of business, but a perfect gentleman. I went to you the last of July, 1912, and was there for four and a half weeks, and came away perfectly sound and well, and have no fear of the disease ever returning.

I found you and your staff of physicians and nurses to be skilled in every way in your business and to be, as had been recommended to me, perfect gentlemen and ladies. There was a very large piece taken out of my face, yet there is no scar, the healing process was so successfully guarded by your physicians.

I told one of your doctors some time before leaving that my wife was afflicted with what I was sure was the beginning of the same trouble I had, and he gave me medicine when I left, and told me how to use it, and it has cured her. There is no sign of the trouble now.

I know of and can give postoffice addresses of fifteen different persons in this and adjoining counties whom you have cured of cancer; not only diagnosed as cancer by yourself, but physicians whom they had consulted had pronounced them cancer sufferers.

Doctor, I shall gladly answer any letters of inquiry that I may receive as to your treatment. You have proved yourselves to be perfect gentlemen and skilled in all you profess to be, and my wife and I shall, with our many friends, ever feel grateful to you for what you have done for us.

Yours respectfully,

REV. F. C. RICHARDS.

Manner in Which Patients Were Examined and Treated

4034 Prospect Ave., Kansas City, Mo.

Jan. 6, 1923.

Dr. O. A. Johnson,
Kansas City, Mo.

Dear Dr. Johnson:

I promised you I would give my public endorsement of your institution for the treatment of cancer, and feeling that I am permanently cured, I am now ready to do so.

It was early in February, 1912, that I called upon you for treatment of a cancer on the right side of my nose near the eye. The growth was the size of a marble, with ulcerated center and hard base, which I later learned was a common condition for cancer.

Mr. Donnell, who was our postmaster at the time I took your treatment (I then lived in Waverly, Kans.) advised me to go to you. I was also acquainted with at least three other persons in that city whom you had treated successfully, so with such evidence of your ability I had every confidence in you, even though I did not know you personally.

When I went to your office in Kansas City I was astonished to see the scientific manner in which patients were examined and treated, that you had so many patients, and that they were coming to you from such great distances. It is not so surprising now that I know how very successful you are and that every patient you cure sends one or more sufferers to you.

I am 82 years old and I am enjoying excellent health, which I attribute to the good treatment I received at your hands.

In view of my own cure and the cure of others which I know you have performed, I can most earnestly recommend you to all cancer sufferers. It is my advice that they go to see you as early in their affliction as possible.

If this letter is the means of directing cancer sufferers to you for a cure, I will be happy to know it has served the good purpose for which it is indicted.

With best wishes for your continued success, I am,

Respectfully yours,

JOHN A. McCALL.

To Whom It May Concern:

I had a lump on my face which had been there for about three years, but had not caused me any trouble. In the spring of 1911 it began to grow and bother me. My wife and family wanted me to have something done for my face.

I asked two doctors what the lump on my face was. They said it was cancer. One of them treated me for cancer for about two months, but did not cure me.

I saw Dr. O. A. Johnson's ad in a Kansas City paper and made up my mind to see him. On the 22d of March, 1911, I began taking treatment for cancer under Dr. Johnson's direction. In four weeks I was cured and back home again, and I now have no cancer.

Now we all feel grateful toward Dr. Johnson and his helpers for their treatment and kindness. I would gladly recommend Dr. O. A. Johnson to any cancer sufferer.

I Endorse Your Work in the Interest of Suffering Humanity

Healy, Kans., Jan. 3, 1923.

Dr. O. A. Johnson,

Kansas City, Mo.

My Dear Doctor:

I am so thoroughly pleased with the treatment you gave me for the cancer I had on my lower lip that I take this means of expressing my gratitude to you for the cure you made.

I am convinced that I am fully cured. This letter is not only to tell you of my gratitude to you, but it is given also for the benefit and encouragement it may bring to any man or woman afflicted with cancer. To them I want to say that they cannot, in my judgment, go to any doctor or institution where they will be so certain of having their cancer cured as they will at your place. I believe this most confidently; not only because you have cured me so nicely, but also because of what I saw you were doing for so many others.

In view of all this, I feel that it is my duty to endorse your work in the interest of suffering humanity. I advise anyone that has cancer to go immediately to you for treatment, and the sooner they go the happier they will be.

Don't listen to the person who tells you that cancer can't be cured. I know it can be cured, and I am only one of hundreds of Dr. Johnson's patients that knows this. The man or woman that has been cured by Dr. Johnson is the person from whom you should take advice. I, myself, heard of Dr. Johnson through the kindness of one of his cured patients, a Mr. Isaac Pruitt of Utica, Kansas. Now I am cured and I'm telling everyone I can where they should go to get their cancer cured. I hope you will take my advice.

I am 80 years old, a veteran of the Civil War, serving three years in F Company, Fiftieth Indiana Infantry, and re-enlisted in the Fifty-second. I have served two terms as Register of Deeds of Lane County, Kansas. If any afflicted comrade wishes to write me, he can depend upon me to give him the facts about Dr. Johnson's treatment for cancer, and my most sincere advice. You will not only receive the best cancer treatment at the hands of Dr. Johnson, but he and his staff of doctors and nurses will show you every courtesy and the kindest of attention. I was treated in May, 1916.

Again I say, Go to Dr. Johnson to have your cancer cured. He is the best cancer doctor in this country, undoubtedly, and he has been curing cancer for many years and knows his business.

Believe me, most sincerely yours,

Well of Cancer of the Breast at the Age of 75

Dr. O. A. Johnson,
Kansas City, Mo.
Dear Doctor:

I found your address in a paper, wrote to you and received your letter, also your books telling all about cancer, and lots of testimonials from patients that had been cured, some of them ten and twelve years ago, and no return of cancer.

I wrote to three different ones of your old patients, and all gave me encouragement to go to you at once, and

I did so. I do thank the Lord and you, Doctor, for the treatment I received and the kindness of all the doctors and nurses. If I can say anything that will be of any encouragement to anyone that is afflicted with that horrible disease, cancer, I will gladly do so.

I am, as I think, well of the cancer in my right breast. I commenced your treatment July 13, 1916, and when I came to your office I was a physical wreck. I had been treated by a doctor who said I had gall stones, and was given medicine that made my stomach and bowels raw, and Dr. Johnson had a time with me to get me healed up.

It took much longer to cure my stomach than the cancer. The Doctor cured my stomach and bowels when the doctors here said I never would be cured.

I wish I could persuade everyone afflicted with cancer to go to you for treatment, for I know it was you that cured me. I was 75 years old when I went to commence treatment, and now my health is better than for years.

Dr. Johnson gave me medicine internally, as well as externally, which cleared up my system. I eat well and sleep well, and am enjoying good health, with no signs of the cancer returning.

Now, I am not paid to make this statement; I do it for the good it may do some other poor suffering one, as I was. I saw many at Dr. Johnson's office that had been cured, and some had been cured for years. I am able to testify to this, and that Dr. Johnson is able to cure any cancer that can be cured; therefore I advise any person who is afflicted with that dread disease, cancer, not to put off going to Dr. Johnson for treatment, for I know there is danger in putting it off. I have seen them cured by Dr. Johnson after the knife had been used, so I do most earnestly advise everyone with cancer not to put off going to be cured.

Dr. Johnson, you may refer anyone to me that wishes to know more about my case, and I will be pleased to tell them what I know of your treatment and the kindness of all employees. I am ready to help anyone who has cancer and will answer all letters, advising them to go to you as soon as they find out they have cancer.

I shall be very glad if this letter is the means of directing some afflicted one to you.

Best wishes for your success.

Cancer of Left Breast. Can Cure You if You Go in Time

Sewal, Iowa, Jan. 29, 1923.

Dr. O. A. Johnson,
Kansas City, Mo.

Dear Doctor:

In 1910 my left breast began to bother me by having pains and would feel sore at times. I didn't think much about it at first, but it kept getting a little worse. I then thought it must be something serious. We consulted our home doctor. He said he couldn't doctor me, but said if there was any lump it should be cut out. We then went to our neighboring town and I was examined by a physician there. He said he didn't want to scare me, but there was a lump in my breast and it would have to be taken out. I asked him how, and he said "cut out."

I said I would never have that done; I had heard of too many being operated on and they never got well. I didn't know what to do, as we didn't know where there was a good doctor.

We came home and in a few days my husband saw an ad in some paper. He wrote and received the doctor's literature in a few days. Later we heard of two or three in our vicinity that had been doctored by Dr. Johnson. July 6, 1915, I went to see Dr. Johnson. He examined me and said I had scirrhus, or hard cancer, and said he could cure me. I remained under his care and treatment a few weeks, and I am glad to say I am cured. He had lots of patients, and most of them had cancer.

I can say to anyone that is afflicted with cancer or tumor to go to Dr. Johnson, for I know he can cure you if you go in time. I will do all I can to get sufferers to go to him, and will answer any letters in regard to his treatment.

With best wishes for your continued success, I remain,

Came Through Influence of Cured Patient—Now Adds His Endorsement

Axtell, Kans., Jan. 12, 1923.
Dear Dr. Johnson:

It is a pleasure to me to be able to endorse your treatment for cancer. I can endorse it not only through what it has accomplished for me, but also through personal knowledge of what it has done for others.

Through the influence of one of your cured patients, I went to you for treatment of cancer in the center of my forehead. At that time the cancer was not very large, but it was developing all the time and it had reached a stage where it was beginning to cause considerable trouble and uneasiness, so I thought best to get rid of it, if possible, before it became any worse.

Your treatment proved entirely satisfactory in my case. So I take pleasure in recommending it to others whenever I have the opportunity.

You have my permission to publish this letter and I hope it will be the means of influencing others afflicted as I was to come to you and get a cure, as I did.

I also wish to say that while I was at your institution I received the best of care and attention in every respect, and I know that anyone going to you will do so.

Should anyone reading this letter want to know more about my experience with your treatment, I shall be glad to answer any inquiries.

With kindest regards to you and your entire staff of physicians and nurses, I am,

Yours truly,

Had Given Up Hope

Paris, Tenn., Feb. 9, 1923.

Dr. O. A. Johnson,

Dear Doctor:

About the year 1911 there came a small, brown tumor on my lip. It rapidly assumed a cancerous growth. I consulted the best medical talent here and tried several local remedies, which did me no good. I then tried the X-ray treatment, but the cancer grew rapidly worse. I then had it treated with plasters, which seemed to do some good for awhile, but soon got as bad as before treatment. I then had it treated again with plasters, but it did very little good.

After the cancer had been on my lip about five years, it began to go deeper in my lip and had a very offensive odor. I realized something had to be quickly evening, but the head doctor, being a very conscientious man, advised me to go to Nashville and go through a very dangerous operation. I came home without hope of ever being cured.

My wife, seeing your advertisement, May 2, 1916, for free book on cancer, wrote for and promptly received done or I would die a fearful death, so I went to a celebrated sanitorium. The M.D. kept me all day without eating or drinking, expecting to operate that it, and, after reading it, tried to persuade me to read it, which she did in about two weeks. After reading it I became a convert to your theory of cancer, and, after giving it prayerful consideration, wife and I started to Kansas City to see you. On arrival we found every arrangement had been made for our convenience. You began treatment at once, and, notwithstanding the intense hot weather, your treatment was entirely successful. My lip seems to be as sound as ever, with no sign of cancer returning.

I will gladly answer any letters from anyone suffering with cancer and would advise them to go to you without delay.

Kansas City, Mo.

My Dear Sir:

I am writing to you again to let you know that next February it will be twelve years since I was completely cured of cancer of the breast; also a bad case of catarrh of the throat, which would have led to cancer of the stomach had it not been checked.

I first came to you in January, 1909, and in February, 1911, all my wounds were healed. Since that time I have been in perfect health and all my friends think it a miracle that I am a well woman, knowing the condition I was in when I first came to you.

You have already had one testimonial from me, yet I feel that perhaps another will help inform the public of your medical treatment. The good you are doing should be heralded from the house-tops. It is my one desire to see that those suffering with cancerous diseases be brought to your attention.

For myself I can say that I feel permanently cured of that dread disease, for which you have my heartfelt good wishes for the continuance of your meritorious work.

Gratefully yours,
MRS. MINA F. HAWKES.

Dec. 28, 1922.

Dr. O. A. Johnson,
Kansas City, Mo.

Dear Doctor:

I am pleased to testify to your ability to cure cancer. I had a cancer on my left cheek, just below the eye. I doctored for three years with various doctors, but it kept getting worse all the time. Finally, I heard of Dr. Johnson through one of his old patients whom he had cured. I immediately went to his office and after a thorough examination of my case, I decided to place myself in his hands for treatment. In less than three weeks I was back home, cured of my cancer and feeling fine.

I have not been able to get my photograph taken yet, as we work ten hours per day, and they are not open on Sundays in Ashland. This is a holy town—more holy than righteous. I will try and get one for you before long.

If everyone afflicted with cancer would only go to you in time, there would be a whole lot less suffering from this dreaded disease.

Very truly yours,
GEO. M. KRAUSE.

Dear Doctor:

Thirteen years ago this winter I went to your hospital in Kansas City for treatment of a cancerous growth of about one year's standing on my face just below my right eye. I am pleased to say that your treatment was not only mild, but entirely successful. I had feared that it might possibly leave even as much as a scar on my face, but am very glad to say that no trace of one can be seen.

I take pleasure in recommending your treatment to any and all who may be afflicted with cancer of any kind, for in my case it has effected a perfect and a permanent cure.

Yours very truly,

Has No Fear of Cancer Now.
Cured of Four Cancers

Tucson, Ariz., Jan. 2, 1923.

O. A. Johnson, M.D.,
1324 Main St.,
Kansas City, Mo.

Dear Doctor:

Wishing you and your very able assistants, male and female, a Happy New Year, with continued health to carry on the noble work in which you are all engaged, and happiness in the knowledge that you are engaged in the noble work of alleviating the sufferings of your fellow beings.

For several years prior to my coming to your institution, on the 15th of September, 1919, I was afflicted with cancerous growths in both temples.

My first and only question was, "How long will it take to remove the growths?" My confidence in your ability to do so arose from the fact that over ten years ago you had effected a permanent cure in the removal of a complicated case of cancer from an old friend of mine in this city, Dr. F. A. Odermatt. It was on his recommendation that I came to you. My confidence was surely not misplaced, for within two weeks after commencing treatment all cancers, four in number, were removed. That a permanent cure has been accomplished there is not in my mind the slightest doubt.

Since being treated by you, I have met several parties who have informed me of their having cancers removed at your institution, and of the permanency of the cure.

A cancerous growth appearing on any accessible part of my body in the future would give me very little worry, as I know that you can remove it. I sincerely hope that all suffering from this dreadful disease may be so situated as to be enabled to receive your treatment, which, if taken in time (and the sooner the better), assures without a doubt a lasting cure.

If you think this letter will assist in "forwarding the good work," you have my permission to publish it.

Fraternally yours,

GEORGE J. ROSKRUGE.

Cousins Recommended Her to Come—Cured in Few Weeks

628 South Topeka St.,
El Dorado, Kans.,
Jan. 23, 1923.

O. A. Johnson, M.D.,
Kansas City, Mo.

Dear Doctor:

I want to write my testimonial as to what you have done for me. About twelve years ago I had a small sore appear on my face near my left eye, which would not heal, after using various remedies. It later developed into a cancer, with that peculiar creeping, crawling sensation, and I would often find myself trying to brush off something that seemed to be alive. It got to be very annoying, and, as I knew of no better way, I was persuaded to have it removed by the knife.

Then in a few years my nose got to bothering me quite a good deal, and, on going to a physician, I was told I had cancer on the vomer, and, after a few treatments, he said it would be best to have it removed, which was done.

Then in about one year I had a canker sore appear in my mouth, which did not yield to the usual treatment, and, possibly helped on by some irritation, it also developed into cancer, so my physician said. Because of that same peculiar sensation and pain, which sometimes extended down my neck, and even to the point of my shoulder, I was afraid he was right, so I again resorted to the knife.

This was January 4th, 1916, but this time the sore place did not heal. I would try different remedies, but it kept getting better, then breaking out and getting worse, until I became discouraged with the remedies I had tried.

I finally made up my mind to go to Kansas City and try Dr. O. A. Johnson's method, as he had so successfully treated my cousins, Mr. and Mrs. J. H. Haworth, of Carthage, Mo. I left home September 23d, 1918, and, after a few weeks, the growth in my mouth was fully healed, and does not bother me now at all.

While I was there I was also cured of a bad rectal trouble, from which I had suffered for some time, and for which cure I feel very grateful—perhaps more so, as my mother suffered so terribly and died from the same trouble.

I consider Dr. Johnson's treatment the best there is, and am pleased to recommend him to all.

Yours very truly,
CICILY HAWORTH

Book "Cancer Truths" Convinced Her—Result, Cancer of Breast Removed

De Ridder, La., Jan. 10, 1923.
Dr. O. A. Johnson,
Kansas City, Mo.
Dear Doctor:

It is a great pleasure to me to tell other cancer sufferers of the healing your treatment gave me. Last November three years ago a lump that had been in my breast for several years began to grow and become quite painful, and I realized that I should have treatment at once, so began to consider the home treatment (so-called), also wrote to you and received your book, "Cancer Truths," which convinced me your treatment was the one for me.

On February the 8th, 1919, I called at your office and began treatment at once. In ten weeks' time I was able to return to my home, and have since enjoyed good health, with no sign of the return of the dread disease.

I most cheerfully and sincerely endorse your treatment.

Cancer of Breast Removed. Feels Better Than for Years

Barneveld, Wis., Feb. 4, 1923.
Dr. O. A. Johnson,
Kansas City, Mo.
My Dear Doctor:

I can truly say that I am pleased to recommend your treatment for cancer to all who are afflicted with the dreadful disease. I had cancer of the left breast, and suffered with it a great deal for over a year before I discovered or heard of your institution for the treatment of such diseases. When I heard of you, I wrote at once for you to send me information about your cancer treatment. I received your book in due time, also a letter from you, so decided that your institution was the place for me to go.

On January 11th, 1919, I arrived at your offices, and found everything just as you had represented. I was in a very critical condition, but I am glad to state that my cancer is cured, and that I am in better health than I have been for a good many years. Words cannot express my real gratitude for what your treatment has done for me. I am perfectly satisfied. While at your institution I obtained the best of care, and all was done to make my stay pleasant, both by you and by your nurses.

To all afflicted with cancer, I advise them to go to Dr. Johnson at once. If you can be cured, he will cure you. While I was there I saw many go home cured and happy.

Wishing you the best of success, and assuring you of my heartiest support and prayer for you in your great work, I am,

Yours sincerely,

A Truthful Story in Words and Pictures

Kansas City, Mo.,
2317 E. 17th Street,
Jan. 19, 1923.

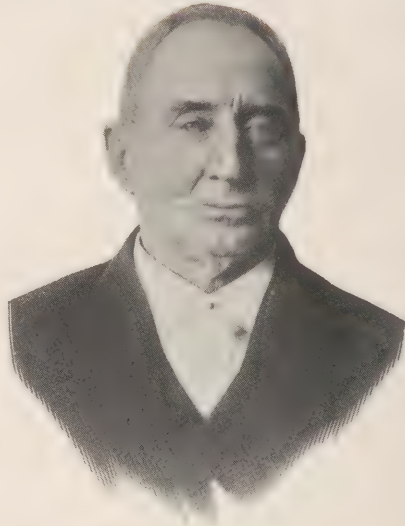

Dr. O. A. Johnson,
City.

Dear Doctor:

It has now been nearly four years since you treated and cured the cancer on my cheek, near the right corner of my mouth. As I have had no symptoms of the disease returning since the cure was completed, I feel that I owe it to you and to others who may be afflicted, to write you a letter for publication in your book or paper, as you desire.

At the time of coming to you for treatment, I was afflicted with cancer of about seven years' standing, near the right corner of my mouth on the cheek. The cancer was nearly as large as a silver dollar. It was raised about one-half inch above the surface of my cheek and had a very angry, red appearance. Also my case had been previously treated, without success, and I had been advised to have the cancer cut out.

I went under your treatment February 20th, and within five days' time you had the cancer all killed. I then began the use of a poultice and in a short time the growth came out, leaving a healthy-looking sore. It readily healed, and, as I stated before, I am rid of this disease for all time to come, it seems.

In view of what you have done for me, I feel that I cannot say too much for you and am confident that had it not been for your treatment and your skill I would today be suffering the torture of cancer in an incurable stage, as my cancer was developing rapidly all the time before I began your treatment. I also want to say for the benefit of those who are afflicted, that all coming to you for treatment will be sure of getting the most courteous attention and everything will be done for their comfort, while under Dr. Johnson's care.

You may use this letter in any way that you see fit, Doctor, as I know what you have done for me, and I want to be the means of letting others know where to go to be cured. I shall always appreciate what you have done for me and the kindness that you have shown me, man to man, outside of your professional skill.

Very truly yours,
A. L. KENWORTHY.

Will Get a Square Deal

Richland, Kans., Jan. 1, 1923.

Dear Doctor:

I think I am entirely cured, and am well satisfied with your treatment.

I had an epithelioma cancer on the center of my lower lip for a year. It did not give me much trouble until about the time I went to you for treatment, when it commenced to grow more rapidly. My father had a cancer on his face, so I had some idea what to expect from my affliction if I was not cured, and I began to look around for a reliable treatment.

After investigating your method of treatment, I decided to call on you, which I did August 25, 1917. I remained under your daily care just four weeks.

My own success and my observation of other cases in your care warrants me endorsing your treatment for the good it may do others. I confidently believe, as you once told me, that the cure of cancer at your institution is only a matter of the patient coming to you in time. I urge any and all cancer patients to call on you at once. They will get a square deal; and if you can't cure them I am sure you will tell them so every time, just as I have known you to do in several instances where the sufferer came too late.

If, through the agency of these remarks, someone comes to you and is cured, I shall feel that this testimonial is worth while.

Yours very truly,
D. C. VAN NICE.

Afflicted Two Years—Cured in One Month

Kingsville, Mo., Jan. 10, 1923.

Dr. O. A. Johnson,
Kansas City, Mo.

Dear Doctor:

It is with gratitude that I offer my testimony as to the merits of your treatment for cancerous affliction.

Prior to commencing your treatment I had been afflicted for about two years with a cancerous growth on my nose just below the right eye. The growth was developing all the time and was in a location where it would soon have gotten into my eye, had its development continued.

After seeing your literature showing the results which were being accomplished by you in cases similar to my own, also after some personal correspondence, I went to your place for treatment under date of July 25, 1918.

Within a month's time you had the disease all removed and I was ready to return home. I consider that a complete cure has been accomplished in my case. It will give me pleasure to rec-commend your treatment whenever I have an opportunity to do so. In fact I feel that I cannot say too much for it.

Anyone applying to you for treatment can be sure of the very best attention and full benefit of your tried experience in treating all forms of malignant diseases.

Assuring you of my gratitude for what you have done for me and that I am willing to pass the good news along to others who are similarly afflicted whenever opportunity offers, I am,

Been to Four Doctors—Here Six Weeks—Cured

Schererville, Ind., Jan. 8, 1923.

O. A. Johnson, M.D.,
Kansas City, Mo.

Dear Doctor:

As you remember, I came to you on February 20th, 1918, for treatment of a cancer on the forehead. I had already been to four doctors before this time, and they wanted to operate on it, but my husband did not like the idea of an operation, so I went to a cancer doctor, and he demanded one hundred and fifty dollars ($150.00) right away. I stayed there three weeks and he told me the cancer was out, so I went home, but it never healed. I went back again and he told me it was a matter of slow healing. It kept on getting worse, so I wrote him about it, but he never answered.

Then I was lucky enough to see your advertisement in the paper, and surely wish I had heard of you before. It would have saved me much suffering and several hundred dollars in money, which I wish you had instead of the other fellow, who didn't earn it.

EVIDENCE

After staying with you for six weeks, I went home cured, and it has not come back yet. It left a little scar, but that does not matter. I am sixty-four years old, and won't have to wear it very many years more.

I surely am very grateful to you, and hope the Lord will spare you many years, so that you may continue in your noble work.

Sincerely yours,
MRS. CARRIE COPE.

Physician Urged Him to Come Here

Kansas City, Mo., Jan. 24, 1923.
Dr. O. A. Johnson,
Kansas City, Mo.
Dear Dr. Johnson:

In August, 1918, I consulted you about a cancer on the left side of my nose. It had been giving me much uneasiness for about four years. For about eighteen months prior to my visit to you it had become quite active, and at times quite painful. You can easily imagine the feeling of apprehension with which I contemplated the future, as I had always regarded cancer as being incurable.

A Kansas City physician urged me to see you about my case, assuring me that you could cure it. He gave me your address, and insisted that I call and see you without delay. On his advice I paid you a visit, with the result that I commenced treatment with you.

In about five weeks after commencing your treatment the cancer came out, and I carried it home in triumph and alcohol, and exhibited it to my wife, who was overjoyed at the outcome. I returned it to you and suppose that you have it yet. I assure you that I would much prefer that you have it preserved in alcohol than to have it myself in its former location on the end of my nose.

I feel confident that the cure is permanent. I write this partly to express my appreciation and gratitude to you; but mainly in the hope that it may influence others who suffer from that dread malady to lose no time in seeing you and taking your treatment. I cannot too strongly urge those afflicted with cancer to seek your advice, and, if you recommend that they take your treatment, that they lose no time in embracing this chance to get well. I know they will not be disappointed. The results will fulfill their most ardent hopes.

I will cheerfully and gladly answer all inquiries that may be addressed to me by cancer sufferers.

With lasting good will and appreciation, I am,

Yours most sincerely,

Hearing of Dr. Johnson One of the Most Fortunate Events of Her Life

Cross Timbers, Mo., Jan. 27, 1923.

Dr. O. A. Johnson,
Kansas City, Mo.

Dear Dr. Johnson:

It is with a great deal of satisfaction and gratitude that I write you this letter, stating that I am entirely cured of the cancer which I had on my forehead above the right eye.

For the benefit of those who are afflicted with cancer, I will just say that prior to taking your treatment I had had what was diagnosed as an Epithelioma, or Skin Cancer, developing on my forehead for over a year. While the cancer was not large, it was causing me a great deal of worry and uneasiness, as I could see that it was you can see that my nose is all right yet, and I feel sure it is cured to stay cured. I can always recommend you and your institution for treatment of cancer, for I am so glad and thankful that I ever learned of you as a Cancer Doctor.

I had a skin cancer on my nose that had been bothering me for six years. I had doctored it most of the time, but it did it no good. I went to Dr. Johnson in February, 1919, and was his patient for five weeks. I found Dr. Johnson to be perfectly honest, and his treatments a success.

I shall always thank him for my cure, and if there is anything I can do to get cancer sufferers under his treatments, I am going to do so. You may all the time developing and getting worse; also, further than this, I knew the awful results of cancer where allowed to reach an incurable stage, as my mother had to suffer the torture of a slow death from cancer on her nose.

I consider it was one of the most fortunate events of my life when I heard of your success in curing cancer, and, as a result, arranged to go to you for treatment. After you made a careful examination of the cancer, also a test of my blood and a urinalysis, you told me that you felt sure of being able to cure me. With this promise I placed myself under your treatment May 27, 1919. By June 7th I was ready to go home with the cancer all out and healed.

I certainly appreciate the kind, courteous treatment which I received while at your institution, not only from yourself, but from your nurses and assistants. I feel that I would not be doing my duty to other afflicted ones if I did not use my influence in every way possible to tell them where they can go to be cured. This is my one and only reason for having this letter published. It is my sincere desire that it may be the means of placing others afflicted as I was, on the road to complete relief.

Yours very truly,

MRS. MOLLIE BROWN.

Never Ceases to Be Thankful She Heard of Dr. Johnson in Time

303 W. McGregor St., Algona, Ia.,
Feb. 2, 1923

Dr. O. A. Johnson,
Kansas City, Mo.

Dear Mr. Johnson:

I am most happy and glad to have my testimonial published if it will help some sufferer from cancer to go to you and give your safe and easy treatment a trial, for I know from experience they can be cured if they will only come in time. I know from experience that your treatment is not the terrible torturing kind that three different doctors tried to make my husband believe it was. Saying that they would take me to the hospital and give me an anæsthetic and cut my breast off and I know nothing about the pain, and that I would be all right in a short time. But my husband and I knew too well what the comeback would be, having lost several dear friends after having their cancers cut out several times, each time coming back larger and suffering untold misery, and finally dying a horrible death.

I carried my cancer several years in secret, even keeping the knowledge of it from my dear husband, because I feared some of my anxious friends and the doctors would over-persuade him till he might give in and want me to try the knife method. I had firmly made up my mind that I never would allow that to be done. I knew one lady (a doctor's wife) that had but one breast, having had the other removed by the black plaster method. She said she had it done in New York City, about twenty-eight years ago. She was well and spry, walking to church and to ladies' aid meetings, until about five years ago she died of old age, being ninety-three years old. I also knew of another case nearly as wonderful in my eyes as the above, but I had no address where such an institution was to be found, until I happened to get it from a daily paper, and sent immediately to you for the book, which you sent me.

Still I put off telling my husband, as he was very poorly, having had two strokes of paralysis, and I feared the knowledge of my condition would bring a third stroke and perhaps cost his life. The time soon came when I knew I must do something about it or I could neither take care of my husband or myself. You know the results—we came.

I will never forget the night when Dr. Martinson (my adopted daughter) changed the poultice, and exclaimed, "Mamma, the cancer is all here on the poultice." Papa was so overjoyed he began to cry and I could not stop him. I thought that would never do, so I began to joke him, and told him I did not think he wanted me to carry it home the same way I brought it there, so we finally settled down quietly, but didn't sleep much that night.

We never cease to be thankful that we found Dr. O. A. Johnson's office and found it in time.

I will gladly answer any inquiries anyone writing me may wish to make. The only thing that hurts me about it is that about four-fifths of those who ought to go at once and take your treatment will believe their home doctor and let them cut and try until it is too late.

Yours very truly,
MRS. WM. CLEARY.

Minister Endorses Dr. Johnson Through His Home Paper

Please allow me space to say to your readers that during last fall I realized that my wife had developed a serious case of cancer of the breast, which had been coming on for about three years. I realized that something must be done or it would prove fatal. I knew that an operation to take it off would not cure a cancer after it is seeded in the system.

Previous to that time a friend had sent me a circular sent out by Dr. O. A. Johnson, 1324 Main Street, Kansas City, Mo., describing his treatment with medicine, which I believed to be and found to be just what I wanted. I at once, with my wife, went to Dr. O. A. Johnson, who after examination found it to be a serious case, almost past hope of recovery, but began at once the treatment, which in every stage resulted just exactly as intended, so that after twelve weeks Mrs. Meadows was able to return home, and now the breast is entirely healed, and seems to be a complete cure. Now I desire to say to your many readers and persons who may be afflicted with cancer, let me advise you, do not delay as we did to seek relief, for delay is dangerous, but write at once to Dr. O. A. Johnson, at the above address, and he will send you his literature, which will fully inform you what to do.

Now I want to say that Dr. Johnson is not only a specialist on cancer, and never fails to effect a cure when taken in time, as was demonstrated to us by the hundreds of patients there taking treatment and going home well and happy, but he is a gentleman of most kind and genial manners, with a kind word of encouragement at all times to his patients, as well as a man of courteous business capacity.

Any person wishing further information, write me, and I will take pleasure in doing anything I can to assist persons affected with the dreadful disease of cancer.

Dear Dr. Johnson:

One of the most unfortunate days of my life was when a cancer made its appearance on my forehead. It is hard for anyone who never had a cancer to realize the anxiety I suffered on account of this disease. The fear and mental torture that I would never be able to get it cured was much worse than the physical suffering.

One of the most fortunate days of my life was when I read in one of my papers of your success in curing cancer. As my picture shows, my case had made a great deal of development and was very serious. I immediately wrote you, and after receiving your letter, also your big book, "Cancer Truths," decided to go to you.

I was at your institution from February 12 to March 16, at which time I went home with my cancer all out and the sore partly healed. Since my return home, it has healed entirely, and I feel that I am today cured.

You did everything for me that you promised, and I am thoroughly satisfied. While at your institution I received the best of treatment and the kindest attention from you, your nurses, and assistant physicians. Also, Dr. Johnson, I know you are doing a great work for others, as I saw many others at your place being treated while I was there. Several went home cured during my stay with you.

It is my earnest hope that you may live to add a great many more names to your already big list of cured patients.

old patients as soon as you discharge them, as so many doctors do, but remain their friend forever, and never tire of doing good for their welfare and comfort. I doubt if you realize, Dr. Johnson, all that you have done for me, or how very grateful I am to you; not only just while I was taking your treatment, but since and all the time. Perhaps you do not realize it, but I do, and I would like to say to all that to know Dr. Johnson is to know a friend, tried and true, and one that can be trusted at all times and in every way.

What a great consolation it is to know that there is a doctor like Dr. Johnson, where one can go and be cured, and feel and know that they can put all trust and confidence in him, and feel at home among his force of kind nurses and doctors, as well as among the many patients from all over the United States that are gathered there at all times. Perhaps one can not believe it until they had a trial, but really and truly I found great pleasure in being at Dr. Johnson's, for there were so many kind faces to see, and so much to learn, and so much kindness shown me. Never in all my life did I ever see or know such kind friends as I found while there.

It is really hard to tell, Dr. Johnson, which one of your helpers is the best, as each one could not be outdone, and every one of them did so much for me. Even my boarding house lady was doubly kind to me, and never faltered in looking after my physical welfare. My own dear mother could not have done more for me and I will never forget her kindness as long as I live. Outside of a few hours of pain and anxious worry as to whether I would get cured or not, I really and truly had a pleasant time. I have visited Kansas City a number of times since I was cured, and I always look forward with pleasure for the opportunity to again meet the kind friends I made while there. Their kindness and friendship more than repays for all I suffered with my affliction, besides being cured of the most deadly foe of mankind. I am greeted so warmly by each and every one connected with Dr. Johnson's institution when I visit them—it is just like going home to relatives and friends after a long absence.

I always had had a horror of doctors and nurses, for I had always understood that nurses were cross and cranky, and, of course, I imagined all doctors were, too; but not so with the nurses and doctors at Dr. Johnson's. I did not realize at the time how much you all did for me, but since being cured I have realized it more every day. If everyone that has cancer could only know the merit and true worth of Dr. Johnson they would not fail to go and be cured at once.

No doubt you remember, Doctor, the lady from California that I brought to you, and who was persuaded to go to a knife doctor and be operated on and was promised a sure cure. Well, she was getting worse before she even started back to California and has since died a most horrible death. She suffered untold agonies and lingered for weeks, and prayed to die long before the end came. No one knows what she suffered and endured, and all just because she was persuaded by a friend not to take your treatment, but to go to a knife doctor and be operated on. I am sure you could have cured her, Doctor, for she was not bad like I was. She appeared to be perfectly well in every way except the cancer on her breast, and was not all run down like I was, so I just know you could have cured her. She regretted many times that she did not stay and take treatment from you, for she believed afterward that you could have cured her, but she saw her mistake too late, and she and her relatives were sorry ever after that she allowed herself to be influenced as she was. She was a dear friend of mine, and I always felt that the parties who turned her against you were largely responsible for her intense suffering and untimely death. All of her people were distracted because she was persuaded away from you and did not take your treatment and let you cure her. They were satisfied you could cure her, because they believed what I told them about my own case and the many other cases I saw cured just what little time I was with you.

I wish I could do something to repay you for all your kindness toward me, but I never can. There is one thing I can do, though, and that is to persuade everyone I can to go to you for a cure. You want to cure everybody you can and I hope I can help you by sending people to you, but, of course, I realize this is helping the cancer patient more than it is you, for they receive the greatest reward.

I am ready and willing at all times to testify in your behalf and answer all inquiring letters concerning your treatment and cures, and I hope all that suffer from cancer will come to you and be cured, and I know you can cure them if they will only believe in you and come in time.

Give my best regards to all the dear nurses and kind doctors, who so faithfully bestowed their services upon me while I was under your care and treatment. May you all live long to continue in your much needed services to cancer sufferers, is my sincere prayer.

Sincerely your friend,
MRS. C. W. BIBENS.

Had Skin Cancer on Face Eleven Years

Richmond, Kans., Jan. 28, 1923.
Dr. O. A. Johnson,
Kansas City, Mo.
Dear Doctor:

I am glad you were pleased with the photograph, especially so because it bears so little evidence of the sore that I carried when I went to you for treatment in May, 1918, and which you diagnosed as skin cancer.

I experience no pain or inconvenience where the sore was on my left cheek. It had been on my face eleven years, but was only about one inch across.

EVIDENCE

It was through the courtesy of one of your former patients that I heard of you, and I feel very grateful to the man for his kindness. I hope I may be able to do as much for someone else, now that I am cured.

I am much improved in general health, Doctor, and I attribute this in considerable measure to your good treatment. A skin affection that has troubled me in cold weather, almost ever since the cancer started, has been greatly reduced this winter. I think the blood tonic taken during the treatment, and since, has been of great value to me.

I was 85 years old the 5th day of last July.

Very gratefully yours,
T. B. KELSEY.

Clothing Merchant Tells Experience

La Crosse, Wis.,
Jan. 28, 1923.

Dr. O. A. Johnson,
Kansas City, Mo.

Dear Doctor:

When I went to you for treatment I was afflicted with a cancer on my face, near the left corner of my eye. I had been afflicted with the disease about eight years, and from the development it was making I realized that unless something was done for my relief, it would soon reach a stage where it would be too late for me to be cured. Fortunately I heard of your method of treatment through one of your cured patients, and I resolved to come to you for aid.

I am naturally glad to say that the results were all I anticipated, and that I am positively satisfied with the treatment at your hands. I am also anxious to show my appreciation by being instrumental in sending some afflicted one to you.

I will always remember the kindness and courtesy shown me by yourself, and also your assistant physicians and nurses while I was at your institution. With best wishes for your continued success, I am,

Very truly yours,
MATT NEWBURG.

Cancer of Entire Lower Lip

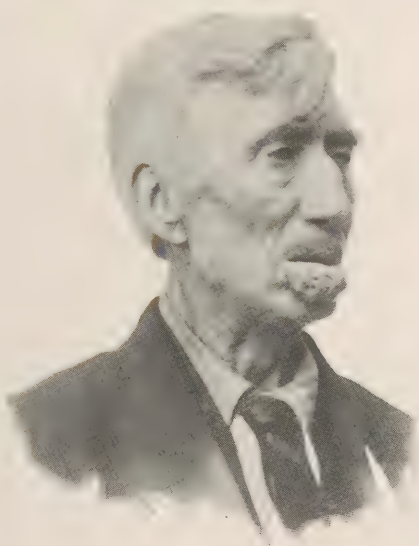

Chanute, Kans., Dec. 21, 1922.

Dr. O. A. Johnson,
Kansas City, Mo.

Dear Dr. Johnson:

As I came to you through the recommendation of one of your cured patients, I hope to help other afflicted ones by sending them to you for treatment.

It was surely most fortunate for me that I took advantage of your treatment. I was afflicted with a very bad case of cancer on my lower lip, as my photograph shows. While the disease hadn't been present for so very long, it was a very malignant case and developed rapidly.

Had it not been for your treatment, I feel sure that today I would be suffering untold torture from an incurable cancer. As it is, I feel that I am permanently rid of the disease.

I was under your care for about five weeks and after that time you were able to send me home with the cancer all removed and the wound on the lip entirely healed. Not only this, but my general health was greatly improved under the constitutional treatment.

I can truthfully say that I don't believe that anyone can treat cancer more successfully than you. Anyone who has never been afflicted with a disease of this kind can hardly realize just what it means to be relieved of it. The very thought of having cancer is a terrible feeling.

Besides this, my case had reached a stage where it was causing me a lot of suffering and trouble.

I simply cannot say too much for your treatment and what it has meant to me.

If anyone doubts my statement or wishes more information, I will be glad to answer any letters received, if a stamped envelope is enclosed for reply.

I want to thank you, Dr. Johnson, for what you have done for me, and I also want to express my appreciation of the kindness and attention I received from you and your staff of assistants.

I know that you are still relieving a great many of the afflicted and hope you will continue to do so for many years to come.

Very gratefully yours,

J. D. THURMAN.

Dr. O. A. Johnson,

Dear Doctor:

The treatment that I received from you in June, 1913, was successful. I haven't felt any effects of it since. It was a tumor removed from my back.

Anyone wishing particulars of my case, I will gladly answer any inquiry.

EVIDENCE

Believes We Can Cure Any Cancer That Can Be Cured

Maramec, Okla., Jan. 19, 1923.

Dr. O. A. Johnson,

Kansas City, Mo.

Dear Doctor:

About nine months before I came to you, a cancer made its appearance on my lower lip. It was a very small, insignificant-looking place when it first appeared.

Like all cancers do, it continued to get larger all the time as long as I let it run, although it didn't develop very rapidly. I knew something about cancer and knew that my life depended on being able to get the treatment that would cure it. So, naturally, I began investigating for the purpose of finding the most successful treatment that I could obtain.

One of your old patients, a Mr. Walker, told me about your treatment disappointed in the results of my treatment. You completely relieved me of the disease in a very short time, and, as I have had no further symptoms of

of his case and what he knew about your institution.

After thinking the matter over carefully, I decided to go to you, and I want to say that I was in no way cancer, I feel sure that the cure is complete.

What you have accomplished for me and what you have done for others leads me to believe that you can cure any case of cancer that can be overcome with any treatment. Anyone going to you can be sure of getting the very best of attention and of being treated kindly and honestly in every way.

I surely think that you have a great institution and that you are doing a splendid work for the afflicted.

Inasmuch as I had this disease, I am glad that I now have the privilege of recommending you to others and that I am able to say that through your treatment and skill I am entirely relieved of my cancer.

Yours very truly,

G. W. VARNER.

Cancer of the Breast

Chelsea, Okla., Box 442,
Feb. 10, 1923.

Dr. O. A. Johnson,
Kansas City, Mo.

Dear Dr. Johnson:

Your treatment for cancer has meant so much to me that I feel that I owe it to you, also to others who may have cancer, to send you a letter for publication.

I went to you on October the 24th, 1921, for treatment of cancer of the right breast. More than twenty-six years ago a small lump came, and gradually grew until it was quite large. Last summer the cancer began to develop quite rapidly and my whole system became poisoned and I was so weak during the summer that I could hardly keep out of bed.

After reading of your wonderful cure, I sent for one of your cancer books, and after reading about your cures I decided to start treatments at once. After seven weeks you had the cancer out, and the wound was partly healed. When I went home, I continued to use your healing preparations and can gladly say that I am entirely well and feel better than I have for several months.

I received the kindest attention in every way from Dr. Johnson, Dr. Richmond, and my good nurse, Miss Patterson. I will be glad to answer any letters that come to me wanting to know about your treatment for cancer. You may use my name in any way you wish to help other sufferers.

With kindest regards and best wishes to yourself, assistant doctors, and nurses, I am.

Your friend and patient,
MRS. MARY F. KING.

Doctor Gives Testimony. Radium and Experts Fail—Cured Here

Slick, Okla., Feb. 8, 1923.
Dr. O. A. Johnson,
Kansas City, Mo.

Dear Dr. Johnson:

Perhaps I am a little late in writing you, but I have intentionally put it off that I might tell you my condition with more certainty.

Just a little history of my case: I worked in the Philippine Islands for seven years, returning to U. S. in 1913. At that time a scar was forming on the right side of my head above and in front of my ear.

I entered the Medical School and began the study of medicine. The scar grew larger to the size of a dollar. Nodules formed.

Several instructors in the medical school expressed their opinion that it was Carcinoma (Cancer).

During the year 1916-17 I was treated repeatedly with the X-ray with very little benefit. Later in the fall of 1917, while I was practicing medicine, the scar broke down into an open, eating ulcer.

It would not heal under ordinary treatment, but continued to grow larger. I was treated several times with radium with some benefit; in fact, the broken-down area healed to some extent, until I was able to enter the army in 1918.

A year later, while I was with the Army of Occupation in Germany, the scar again broke down and I returned home in a rather bad condition. Radium was again used repeatedly, with little or no benefit.

In March, 1921, I was feeling pretty blue. The pain was continuous and I had about decided to submit to surgery, which was my last hope of life, when I learned through a medical friend of mine, of Dr. Johnson of Kansas City, and without writing I went at once.

You made an examination of my case and said, "I think I can cure you." That was all that I wanted you to say; I knew that if you thought you could, you could.

I was with you three weeks. The cancerous area was entirely removed and I returned to my home to await complete recovery. Today I feel that I am entirely cured.

I have a slight scar for certain, but there are no lumps, no nodules, no itching, no sensations of pain, and now I go for weeks without even a thought of ever having had a cancer of the scalp.

I thank you, Dr. Johnson, for all that you have done for me and I appreciate the kind and cheerful services of the nurse who so faithfully assisted you.

I gladly recommend you to anyone afflicted with cancer.

Sincerely,

DR. FRANK THOMASON.

couraged, with a cancer on my lip, but when I talked to Dr. Johnson he said that he could cure me.

"What You Have Done for Me You Can Do for Others"

2746 California St., Lincoln, Nebr.
Feb. 18, 1923.

Dr O. A. Johnson,
Kansas City, Mo.

Dear Dr. Johnson:

I hardly know how to express my gratitude for the splendid results of your treatment and skill. I feel that in learning of you and going to you for treatment I have been saved from a most horrible death from cancer. I appreciate it more than I can tell you or even more than you can know.

At the time of going to you for treatment I had a large cancerous growth about four inches in diameter in my breast. It had been there for some time and was all the time getting larger. I fully believe that if I hadn't learned of your treatment it would only have been a very short time until my case would have been so far gone that there would have been no cure for it.

It sure did me a lot of good after you had made a careful examination of my case to hear you say that I had come to you in time and that you felt sure that you could cure me, and you have certainly made good your promise. Now, I want to say that not only is the growth in the breast entirely removed, but I am enjoying a great deal better health than I had for some time before you treated me. You have relieved me of a great burden of suffering, worrying and fear. Your treatment has been of priceless value to me.

I can and do most heartily recommend you to anyone who is afflicted with cancer. Anyone going to you with a case that can be cured with any treatment will, in my opinion, have every assurance of being sent home sound and well.

I want to say, too, Dr. Johnson, that I am not only very thankful that you have cured me, but I also appreciate the way you all treated me while I was there with you. Everyone connected with your offices was very kind and courteous to me. Especially do I want to thank my good nurse for her faithful care and attention.

One of my greatest pleasures in the future will be to use my influence to send other patients to you. Not only will I tell others about your treatment, but if anyone who reads this letter wants to write me and ask for more information I will gladly answer any questions that I possibly can.

You can surely count on me as a missionary for your splendid institution and treatment. I know that what you have done for me you can do for others. In fact, I saw many others being cured while I was there with you and the same day that I left your institution another lady whom you had treated for cancer of the breast went home just as happy and well pleased as I was.

With all good wishes for your continued success, I am

Your sincere friend,
MRS. VIOLA RICHARDSON.

Lip Has Never Given Any More Trouble

Davenport, Okla., Jan. 17, 1923.
Dr. O. A. Johnson,

Kansas City, Mo.

My Dear Dr. Johnson:

It has now been some three or four years since I left your hospital, where I took your treatment for what seemed to be cancer of the lip. Many times since leaving the city I have thought of sending you a letter, telling you of the present state of my health, but I neglected to do so until just now, when I feel that I MUST do so without further delay. I am happy to tell you that my lip has never given me the least bit of trouble since you dismissed me from your care, and my health in general is most excellent; and while I have been resting from mental drudgery, giving my nerves a chance to recover from the terrible shock which they underwent, I have at last returned to the work I most love, and a work at which I have spent more than thirty years of my life—the ministry.

I feel that your treatment, along with your Christian love and kindness, saved me from an awful death, and now I live to praise you and your assistants, and especially your splendid nurses, who were untiring in their services to your many patients.

Long may you be permitted to live and be such a blessing that shall continue to bring joy to the most unfortunate of our race.

Yours very gratefully,
REV. JAMES CAGE

Mother, Then Aunt, Cured; so
She Went to Same Place for Cancer of Breast

188 Congress St., Charleston, S. C.,

April 13, 1922.

Dr. O. A. Johnson,

Kansas City, Mo.

Dear Dr. Johnson:

When I went to you for treatment of cancer of the breast I had every confidence that I would be cured. I am in no way disappointed. The reason I had such implicit confidence in your ability was that you had, a number of years ago, cured my mother of cancer and also, a few years later, had cured my aunt.

On this account, it was the most natural thing that when I found out I had a cancer of the breast I should look to you for a cure. I didn't wait until my case got extremely bad, as I knew I had to be treated, and the sooner I went to you, the more sure I could be of getting cured and the easier it would be for you to cure me.

I want to say that you not only cured me of cancer, but you relieved me of other conditions that had been causing me considerable trouble.

While I was at your institution being treated, I met many others who were there for the same purpose that I was, getting well. Now, I want to say that nearly all of your patients I talked with were well satisfied with your treatment.

Just as my aunt had you treat her case after you cured my mother and as I went to you because you had cured both my mother and aunt, I hope that I may have sufficient influence to send some other sufferer to you to be cured.

You are surely doing a great work in relieving so much suffering and in saving so many lives from cancer. If my influence will help you to save some afflicted one, I will certainly feel that I have done something very much worth-while. It seems to me that there is no greater or nobler work than that of relieving suffering and restoring the afflicted to health.

You have made me happy and have relieved me of a mighty big lot of trouble, and I want to in turn be able to help others. You can use this letter in any way that you see fit. If anyone reading it wants to write me for additional information, I will answer any letters promptly.

With all good wishes for you and everyone connected with your institution, I am,

Yours very gratefully,

MRS. E. W. DOBSON.

Case Was Bad One—You Cured Me

Pueblo, Colo., Feb. 28, 1923.

Dr. O. A. Johnson,
Kansas City, Mo.

Dear Sir:

Words are not enough to express my appreciation to you for what your treatment did for me, and of the kindness and attention I received while at your institution.

I was suffering with cancer on my right breast for eight or ten years, but soon my case became worse and more painful and I could not rest day or night. Six years ago my husband and sons took me to be examined by a doctor in our city and he said that I had cancer or tumor and that I needed an operation and he was not sure to get me well after all. So we started to go from one doctor to another and all wanted to operate on me. After having received treatment from twelve different doctors without any benefit, I went to another doctor that promised to cure cancer without using a knife. I received his treatments for eighteen months, and in that time he used a knife on my breast twelve times, but I became worse and worse. The doctor himself said it was worse every day.

On the 6th of May, 1920, my son and I went to your institution, and in three months you removed my cancer. On August 7th, 1920, you told me that I was well enough to come home, for there was no more cancer in me, so you gave me medicines to treat myself at home for some time.

On the 7th of August, 1920, I left your office, and when I arrived home my family was happy to see the great difference in me compared to when I left home. And today I will let the world know that I am well and I have no more signs of cancer. My case was a bad one, and you cured me so I think you can cure everyone that is suffering as I was. If I had wings like a bird, I would fly the world around to let the poor cancer sufferers know what you can do for them.

I will recommend your treatment to anyone that is afflicted with cancer, and I am sure that if their case is curable at all you can cure them. I will answer any letter of inquiry wishing to know more about my case.

Now, dear Doctor, I will thank you for your kind attention and treatment while I was at your institution. I also thank my dear nurse, Miss Patterson, who treated me like my mother would. And I thank Dr. Richmond and all your assistants, and I will never fail in recommending the name of Dr. O. A. Johnson of Kansas City, Missouri.

I give you my permission to publish this letter where you please. I am sending you my picture, so you can stamp it on your book.

With kindest regards to yourself, nurses and assistant doctors.

Respectfully yours,

JULIA FATA,

R. F. D. 1, Box 40.

WE cannot publish in this book all testimonials we have received from our former patients. It is our aim, however, to furnish ample evidence from reliable persons in different sections of the country; men and women whom we have treated for cancer in various locations and stages of development, and who, because of their Christian spirit, are anxious to help everyone afflicted find a cure.

If the evidence which we have herein set forth is not sufficient to enable you to reach a satisfactory verdict, does not convince you that the cure of cancer at this institution is merely a matter of the patient coming under treatment in time, we will gladly send you further proof for the asking.

When possible, we prefer that those investigating our treatment go personally to interview some of our former patients. If you cannot conveniently do this, then we urge that you select a number of names of persons whose condition seems to have been similar to yours, and write them a personal letter. Send them a self-addressed and stamped envelope and they will answer promptly and fully.

This will place you in possession of the most reliable facts from trustworthy persons, and if you have any faith in mankind you will be fully convinced of the sterling merits of our treatment.

You have our most sincere wishes for health, happiness and prosperity. It is impossible to wish you greater good fortune than that you may soon be cured of your cancer. But if this good fortune is to be realized you must make up your mind to come for treatment at once. This is an occasion which permits of no delay.
